OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, SUNDAY, APRIL 4, 1920

MY DEAR, the things of the world begin to pall. Today I am most horribly lachrymose. Oh, no; not because the things of the world are beginning to pall, but because Gaius Van Tilden and Drew Hallowell insisted on spoiling service for me this morning.

Really, I don't see how two people of their breed can be so spiritually lacking or so inexpressible to higher things. In the first place, Gaius wasn't dressed for church; she was costumed for promenade. Which, quite naturally, resulted in luring dear Drew's mind far from where it really should have been. And Drew, you know, was really supposed to be under my charge. It was I who played the missionary and brought him there.

However, it was Gaius who brought him home; while I, spiritually apart from the two all during service, was quite obviously left to my own spiritual devices after service was over. Oh, it's beastly, beastly to think that a girl would choose a perfect Easter morning to practice thievery of that sort! Don't you agree?

Oh, just had a ring from Drew! He says that he is in a perfectly corking mood, and that he'd like to go again next Sunday. Now, that is encouraging, isn't it?

which lasted far too long. I asked her how," now I ask for vengeance!" she gave me a look that was terrible, and whose only god was Self—and got nothing back for my faith and truth. So I have a long score to settle with her. I have a long score for all the years she has wasted on me—how my spent joys returned to me—how heavy interest!"

"But how?" inquired Sophia, perplexed.

"By my spent joys, out of the 'Mr. Trim,' and, do you?"

Diana smiled. "No!"

"No?" she repeated, as if a charitable guess had never been, "you say you'll go as companion or governess to a housekeeper, to comelebe out in the garden, where you can't find any joy in such a life as that?"

"Yes," Diana looked at her, still smiling.

"My dear, I don't expect anything! Who was it that said: 'Disappointed are they that expect nothing'—but I shall be disappointed!" The chief point I have shops are filled with such trifles and trinkets to appeal to tourists, but have little to do with the production that cannot be purchased more satisfactorily elsewhere, and which is the gathering in the chief jeweler's window on Quai des Bergues are nothing better than one sees in the similar windows of Bondy or Vincennes. There is nothing indeed remarkable about Geneva itself beyond its historical associations and memories of fact. The diamond district of Rousseau—its chief glory is gained from its natural surroundings of blue lake and encircling chains of mountains, and the Mont Blanc towering up in the distance.

"spinner," and I returned to my advertisement, "alone in the world, without claims on your time or your affections." Is that so?"

Quickly she answered: "That is so."

"Now you will remember I asked for a courageous and determined woman of mature years. You do not look like mature years."

"I am past forty," said Diana.

"A frank, but unnecessary admission," he answered, "believe me, I would not admit to more years than your appearance gives you. However, I am glad you told me, as it better enables me to judge of your own self 'courageous and determined.'"

She looked at him straightly.

"I think," he said, "believe me, I have had many disillusiones and have lost all I once hoped to win; so that I can honestly say even death that I can honestly say I have nothing to live for, but my business. I have made up my mind that you will suit me,—and you also will be glad to hear that I shall suit you. Very true. Your salary with me will be a sand a year."

Liana uttered a little cry.

"A thousand—a thousand a year! ejaculated. "Oh, you mean a sand franc?"

"No, I mean a thousand good British pounds sterling, risks you will run in working for me are quite worth that. I can give you a room, and read your own special hours of leisure, private reading and study, and your meals will be supplied, and you will be obliged to share with us at our table, if you have objection. And when you are not working, or otherwise engaged, I shall be glad to be obliged if you would be kind and companionable to my mother."

"I am glad," said Diana, "that you are so much at home in England and the English. I entirely disapprove of their 'horseplay' on women; No doubt you know what I mean?"

"I think I do," replied Diana, smiling. "It is that when a woman is neither a man's bound slave nor his purchased toy, she is turned into a jest."

"Precisely! You have expressed it perfectly," and his keen eyes flashed over her countenance. "But we must be serious. Your are a spinster, and I presume you are, in the terms of my advertisement, 'alone in the world, without claims on your time or your affections.' Is that so?"

Quietly she answered: "That is so."

"Now you will remember I asked for a courageous and determined woman of mature years." You do not look very mature!"

"I am past forty," said Diana.

"A frank, but unnecessary admission," he murmured, smiling. "You should never admit to more years than your appearance gives you. However, I am glad you told me, as it better suits my purpose. As you consider yourself 'courageous and determined,'—"

She looked at him straightly.

"I think I am—I hope I am," she said. "I have had many dissolutions and have lost all I once hoped to win; so that if I ever marry again, I could not matter."

"Ah, I have nothing to live for,

"I think so."

"You must be sure of that! laboratory is not a place for heartiness, quills, or terrors," he said, laughing. "Amazing mistakes occur there sometimes."

"I have said I am not afraid," interrupted Diana, with a touch of pride. "If you doubt my word, let me go,—but if you are disposed to engage me, please accept me as a warm salutation."

He laughed, and his face lighted up with kindness and humor.

"I like that," he said. "I see you have some spirit! Good! Now let us make up our minds that you will suit me,—and you also apparently made up your mind that I shall suit you. Very well! Your salary with me will be a sand a year—"

Diana uttered a little cry.

"A thousand a thousand a year!" ejaculated. "Oh, you mean a sand francs?"

"No, I don't. I mean a thousand British pounds sterling, risks you will run by working for me are quite worth that. You have your own suite of rooms, your own special hours of leisure, private reading and study, and your meals will be supplied, though we should like you to share with us, and our own services are objection. And when you are not work, or otherwise engaged, should be personally very obliged if you would be kind and companionable to my mother."

Good Looking Mrs. Rinehart Tells Secrets

It's Hard Work to Write Stories, Says Woman Now Engaged in Pictures.

By SUE McNAMARA

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—"Please excuse me for being late—and also for having you shown up to such a disorderly room!"

Mary Roberts Rinehart, breezing into the sunny little suite in the Beverly Hills Hotel near Los Angeles, attired in a becoming sports costume, apologized in one breath for her few minutes' tardiness—and the fact that a man's slipper was flung beside the couch and his necktie upon it.

It didn't look disorderly. In fact, it was just the homey, human sort of atmosphere you would expect surrounding a writer who writes so humorously of family life and men who are all just big grown-up boys. Mrs. Rinehart's husband is one of the latter.

Mary Roberts Rinehart is a very hard person to interview. The reason? She's so good looking that you can't concentrate your mind on the questions you want to ask.

"Tish," the first thing she pointed to a small desk in the corner piled high with letters.

"Sixty per cent of the writers of those letters ask why I don't write some more 'Tish' stories," she said.

"No, there isn't any real Tish. I have an aunt named Letitia though, hence the name 'Tish.' Of course I'm not so fond of Tish and Aunt Letitia as I am of some of my other characters, but there's so much sorrow and trouble in the world, if I can provoke a few smiles, why not do it?"

Mrs. Rinehart is immensely pleased with the screen production of her novel, "Dangerous Days," which is now running as a "sex best seller" all over the United States. She is one of the Eminent Authors whose works are being produced by the Goldwyn Pictures Corporation of New York. She says the director and actors have marvelously caught her ideas.

"Mental adventure is the greatest sport in the world," she continued. "Most of my characters are pure feeling or impression which I have at some time experienced. Take the 'sub-deb' stories. 'Bab' is a composite of all the sub-debs I know, and yet I reach back into my own girlhood impressions for her, too. A writer is a sort of mirror, I think. She must reflect life as she sees it."

NOT EASY TO WRITE. As to success in literature Mrs. Rinehart says "It's 50 per cent hard work, and 50 per cent luck. My friends sometimes say to me, 'Oh, it's easy for you to get a new story any time you want one. All you have to do is sit down and write another story.' Not so easy as it sounds, however. Sometimes the very thing that comes into my mind seems absolutely empty. But I sit down at my desk and concentrate, maybe for several hours and by and by the spring of inspiration fills up. I've been writing now for fifteen years and believe me, it is not easy to get new plots all the time."

There was lots more I wanted to know, but here some one called Mrs. Rinehart to go with a party into the mountains for a "canyon supper," so that's all I learned. But I carried away a pleasant impression of a writer who is just as charming and interesting as her stories.

"A Story On Every Tide," says Kyne.

Every tide that flows into the Golden Gate at San Francisco bears a story—if one would but look for it—according to Peter B. Kyne, short story writer, whose "Kindred of the Dust," now running in a national magazine, is to be produced by C. D. Shurtleff, Inc.

Kyne, creator of the famous "Carry On" stories, and a genuine, a superlative spinner of sea yarns, has given the exclusive rights for his unfiled works on Shurtleff and it is announced that production on "The Kindred of the Dust" will begin in June.

Peter B. Kyne is a native son of California, and he admits that the sun, the Golden Gate, and the bay are for him just forty years ago. Into those forty years Kyne has crowded considerable activity, as he has been a soldier, a grocery clerk, a lumber salesman, a merchant and a shipping man.

Kyne admits to that peculiar "parental feeling" which apparently is the most successful factor in the "hoover agent" while their brain children are being transferred from the pages of magazines and books to the screen of motion pictures.

"But how do you discover so many very convincing sea yarns," was asked.

"That's easy. Why, every tide that flows into the Golden Gate, or out of it for that matter, bears a story if one would but look for it—and I do; it's my business."

Most of my yarns are taken from real life. However, there are a few exceptions—"Kindred of the Dust" is one."

AN OLD REMOR REFUTED. The report that Theda Bara was recently married in Pittsburgh serves the excellent purpose of putting a quietus on the long and widely circulated story of the death of the noted vamp. Even in some quarters of the film industry itself the story of Miss Bara's death has been credited.

The husband's name is James Bodkin. He is married to a musical comedy in which Miss Bara is financially interested.

OKLAHOMA'S BAN BANDITS. Oklahoma City now has an anti-bandit motion picture ordinance. The ordinance rules out all pictures which show and feature eye-outlaws as such. Films showing crime or outlawry featuring professional actors who take such parts are not prohibited. This action is due entirely to the film activities of Al Jennings and Emmett Dalton.

Down at the movie camps in Southern California they participated in pre-Easter celebrations yesterday. PRISCILLA DEAN, "wild girl" of the films, has been coaching her pet bunnies for some time in order to make sure of a supply of colored eggs today. At the right is SHIRLEY MASON, Fox star, with two of the eggs she captured in a contest at the studios. Below is the Universal star, JOSEPHINE HILL, just "hatched" from the huge toy egg on the studio lot, which was the center of jubilation among players.

Loyalty To Be Taught In Film Trailers.

Select Pictures Corporation, of which Lewis J. Selznick is president, has announced that Americanization trailers are being distributed to the exchanges, to be added to the latest Selznick releases. These trailers were prepared by the Department of the Interior, Committee of Americanization, of which Selznick is chairman of distribution. The messages are described as being short, pithy and patriotic.

In connection with the campaign of Americanism throughout this country, Selznick announced that "The Land of Opportunity," in which Ralph Ince has the role of Abraham Lincoln, is being shown to millions in the motion picture theaters of America.

Clothes Big Item In Picture Making.

What becomes of the cast-off clothes of the moving picture stars? Imagine buying five thousand dollars worth of clothing and only being allowed to wear each garment ONCE!

That's what happens in the motion picture business. Audiences demand brand new clothes on their stars, and it would never do to flash the same $500 dinner gown in two succeeding pictures. Feminine fans have keen eyes and some one would say at once:

"What's that? The very same dress she had on in 'Lilies of the Field.' No, it would never, never do."

GRIFTH MAY RETURN. D. W. Griffith would like to come back to Hollywood, it reports from the East are to be credited. And if he does there will be a chorus of "I told you so" that will sound like a brass band contest. The chief difficulty in turning out good pictures that has been encountered by D. W. has been the inability to heat his new studio at Mammoth.

EDWARD JOSE, who directed Anita Stewart in "The Fighting Shepherdess," is also a finished dramatic actor. During his theatrical career he served as stage director for Sarah Bernhardt for two years, and was stage director for a long period at the Theatre Antoine in Paris and is accredited with being the first man to take a gaiety company from England to Portuguese East Africa, and other distant points of the world. After his dramatic triumphs in many lands history records that he took London by storm in Francois Coppée's gem, "The Strike," founded on the author's famous poem, "La Greve des Forgerons."

"As the old blacksmith charged with murder, Mr. Jose held the audience spellbound for more than twenty minutes as he unfolded his version of the crime," says a present-day biographer. "The scene was so vivid, so real, so forceful that one forgot that he was in a theater. His acting was so superb that all the London critics hailed him as one of the world's greatest actors."

WYNDHAM STANDING, at one time possessed an excellent baritone voice and sang in London comic opera. He then became affiliated with Sir Henry Irving and with him played in "Dante," and for four seasons in "Becket." He was juvenile leading man with the Lyceum theater, London, and also toured England with Mr. and Mrs. Kendall. He appeared in many of Oscar Wilde's plays. He started in pictures in 1908 with a British company, playing the role of a heavy. When he came to America he joined Winthrop Ames in comedy dramas. In American films he has been much sought after. His father is Herbert Standing, a prominent character for the screen.

Wyndham Standing is more than six feet in height and well proportioned, with dark brown hair and dandy gray eyes. He devoted to athletics. Among the recent Goldwyn pictures in which he has played is "Earth Bound," from the story by Basil King.

Play Downers

D. W. Griffith has turned to comedy. From the time when this noted creator of "The Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," "Hearts of the World," "Broken Blossoms" and other productions started the motion picture world by his gigantic spectacles and tragic tales, he has been petitioned to produce a comedy. And it is of more than passing interest to note that the very play in which he has allowed comedy to predominate, was produced in the midst of tragedy. "The Idol Dancer" is the name of the picture, and it will be remembered that it was while journeying to the Bahama Islands to secure scenes for this story that the entire Griffith party was nearly shipwrecked off the coast of Florida.

"What Happened to Jones" will be Bryant Washburn's next. Twenty years ago this farce, one of the first written by George Broadhurst, was reigning success and it has since been played continuously by stock companies.

Frank Borzage's second picture for Cosmopolitan Films has been held up by the illness of his star, Kitty Gordon, and the severe weather conditions in the East where the picture is being made.

Thurston Hall is completing the title role in Willard Mack's play, "The Prince of Pines," under production by Selznick. Following his work in this production Mr. Hall will come to the coast to star in a forthcoming independent production, a screen of a popular work of fiction.

In the first picture play to come from his directing hands, Charlie Murray, one of Mack Bennett's leading comedians, has achieved a success of hilarious proportions. It is a two-reel comedy feature called "By Golly."

The latter will contain suites for her entire family as well as beautiful recreation room, music room, living room, library, dining room, sun and breakfast rooms, and so on. The living room is to be of Miss Pickford's own design with a high vaulted ceiling and a huge fireplace constructed on the old English style with a hob and big seats around.

Miss Pickford figures that for the last ten years she has paid enough rent to landlords to build herself an exact replica of Buckingham palace, but it is announced that once her own home is completed she will never stray far enough away from her own fireside to sign a lease.

OLDEST FILM ACTRESS. The oldest actress in the world works in support of Clara Kimball Young in the production of "For the Soul of Rafael." Her name is Maria Francesca Guadalupe Moreno. The authentic records of her people show that she was born in the vicinity of Los Angeles 124 years ago. Since the scenes of "For the Soul of Rafael" in which this ancient woman is being used took place in California in 1850, Maria Moreno was 34 years old at the time of their actual occurrence.

FLORENCE TURNER BACK. Florence Turner, the screen idol of millions, is to be featured with Maudie Dunham, London stage favorite, in a forthcoming Samuelson production now under way at the British producer's studios at Universal City.

Mary Pickford To Have Own Home at Last

Ever since her mother disposed of their home in Toronto, when Mary was a little girl, and went to New York, Mary has always lived in the hotels and rented homes—never has she had her very own roof over her head, and a little vine and fig tree she could call her own. But now, having decided to make California her permanent residential place, she is going to have two homes: one will be a quiet little seaside cottage on a high cliff overlooking the Pacific ocean where she will spend her summers and week ends and the other will be a palatial home of Italian design in the fashionable residence district of Los Angeles.

Already work has been begun on the construction of the seaside cottage, and Miss Pickford herself has turned the first shovel of earth for her city home.

The latter will contain suites for her entire family as well as beautiful recreation room, music room, living room, library, dining room, sun and breakfast rooms, and so on. The living room is to be of Miss Pickford's own design with a high vaulted ceiling and a huge fireplace constructed on the old English style with a hob and big seats around.

A great many of the scenes in "The Evil Eye," the fifteen episode serial in which Benny Leonard, world's lightweight boxing champion, is being started, were taken in Los Angeles Chinatown. And despite the fact that Chinatown has seen hundreds of scenes filmed, not even the oldest mandarin denies that Leonard's company engaged in some battles so hot as to make even the most heated long war seem tepid in comparison.

Out over the plains of Arizona—sometimes called the desert—there wended a wagon and automobile train, a few days ago consisting of ninety-six horses pulling great lumbering wagons, fifty-six pack horses and twenty automobiles. It was not an army marching upon Mexico but Douglas Fairbanks and his company moving 100 miles inland where they could shoot some wild and out-of-the-ordinary scenes in his next "Big Four" picture, "The Mollycoddle." The 100 miles represented the distance between the camp at Palacio on the Hopi Indian reservation and Holbrook, Arizona, the nearest railway station.

William Conklin, leading man for Thomas H. Ince productions, is to be leading man for Louise Glum, it is reported.

Dustin Farnum is expected to start production soon on a new series of pictures at the Brunton lot to be directed, probably, by Colin Campbell.

Kenneth Harlan has asked the courts to give him freedom from his marriage to Salome Jan Harlan, charging desertion four years ago.

Bessie Bird has concluded her contract with Robert Brunton and will soon appear at the head of her own company, it is said.

Nate Watt is to complete the latest Annette Kellerman picture at the Brunton studio, owing to the illness of Director C. M. Franklin.

Alice Hollister, after an absence from the screen of more than two years, will return to pictures in "Stilettes," in which she will have the leading feminine role.

Frank E. Woods, supervising director of the Lasky scenario department, denies that he is considering the organization of a school for photoplay writers.

Here Are Rules For Tribune's Screen Course

Questions and plots submitted by readers to the Motion Picture Editor of the TRIBUNE will be forwarded to John Emerson and Anita Loos for answers and criticism. Answers will be published in these columns once a week on Sundays.

Questions must be submitted one at a time.

John Emerson and Anita Loos will read and criticize photoplay plots written by readers of THE TRIBUNE if they are limited to a 300-word synopsis. Send a plot to the Motion Picture Editor of THE TRIBUNE with a self-addressed, stamped envelope for the return of your manuscript. Write on one side of the paper only, preferably by typewriter. Your name and address will not be printed if you so desire.

The part of the soldier hero in "Civilian Clothes," which Paramount has begun to produce, will be played by Thomas Meighan, in Los Angeles by Thomas Meighan, in Los Angeles by Thomas Meighan, in Los Angeles by Thomas Meighan.

With Bonnie Love, on her journey to locations for the taking of scenes will be found her mother, Mrs. Horton. This is not because the mother's presence is needed, although she is of great service to the little star in many ways, but because they are fast friends. The chumminess of the pair is proverbial in film circles.

The veteran star, William H. Crane, has begun work with the Shortell company in his original part in the timing of Winchell Smith's comedy, "The New Henrietta."

It is reported that James Oliver Curwood, author of "The Courage of Marge O'Doone," "The River's End" and "Back to God's Country," is to form his own film producing company. Curwood is 42 years old and lives in Oxnard, Mich.

Earl Montgomery and Joe Rock, who have long been co-stars in Vitagraph Big "V" comedies, are now to be starred separately. They have signed new contracts.

Charles Ray, who deals with the soulless villain; don't send Charles Ray to the great heart interest story "Sons of Humanity," dash off something for Katherine MacDonald, which would necessarily call for quantity contracts with a pie factory.

Perhaps you have a splendid idea which centers about the diving spinster and her lost romance. Constance Talmadge will not buy it, unless you carry that story back to the days when the spinster was young and beautiful. There are plenty of stories about black-faced Othellos or aged heroes, but nobody is interested in acting them.

Picture Katherine MacDonald as the proprietress of a dress haberdashery, quarreling with the bakers and hurling great gooey globes of dough right and left. Imagine the face of that beautiful actress plastered and splattered from the mighty and aced nut of the head baker, who has returned to the kitchen with a side splitting, slapstick. It would hardly be becoming to that charming star, and, we venture to say, she would not enjoy such a part. Certainly it would not tend to create star sympathy.

In your mind's eye visualize how Charles Chaplin would look as the hero of a great, tragic melodrama. Faultlessly attired in evening dress, polished in manner and as graceful as a Greek god, Chap. in as the passionate lover, gently woos and wins the maid of his heart. Does that make clear the face of the character? We believe not and are confident that you will agree with us.

But we do not mean to discourage you from injecting the element of comedy into a tragedy or vice versa. These two elements may be skillfully woven together with such effect that your story's value is increased. A comedy may be greatly improved by buttressing a bit of the dramatic. A drama will have a more powerful appeal if through it runs the thread of humor and satire.

We want you to write great stories. But we want you to sell them also. Therefore we say: Be sure your audience will sympathize with the sympathy to the star part, and be sure that your story actually suits some star or group of stars of the modern motion picture.

UNSUNG MILTONS FAIL BECAUSE THEY DO NOT KNOW STAR SYMPATHY

Your Photoplays Criticized

The TRIBUNE today presents further personal criticism of photoplays written by readers of THE TRIBUNE and carefully analyzed by John Emerson and Anita Loos in their New York offices. Their suggestions are constructive and the highest possible criticism obtainable in America.

"Romance of the Planets and Elements"

BY MRS. J. B. MARKS, 17 RANDWICK AVENUE, OAKLAND.

There is a feature such as Bray Pictographs are using. But it would not work out well with actual actors representing the elements, as that is more a matter for pageants or stage ballets. If you could work out your story in a series of real scenes of the stars and sea and storm clouds—telling your audience your story in beautiful sub-titles—you would have a remarkable feature. This is more a matter of securing beautiful scenic pictures than of plot form.

"Crack o' Doom"

BY T. M. ALAMEDA, CALIF.

The point of your story seems to be the failure of John Read to place the country lawyer whom they wish to defeat at the election in the position of having compromised the girl. This should turn on the character of the lawyer himself, but because of the structure of the plot, this is not the case at present. It would be better if you made your heroine not an unsophisticated country girl, but a dance hall girl—John Read brings her into the lawyer's life thinking she will seduce him—she draws him into the trap, alone with her in the cabin; he asks her to marry him—and so, when Read's crowd break in ready to accuse him of all sorts of things, they find only an honest man in the arms of the girl who really loves him. Thus Crack o' Doom's character would defeat his enemies. Even this is somewhat old as a situation, but your very clever characterization of the country lawyer is, after all, the real feature of the story.

"The Guardian Angel"

BY MRS. EVA F. RIST, 261 TWELFTH STREET, OAKLAND.

Your story leaves the most important plot questions unanswered. Why did the old man shoot Howard? Why does Lois finally accept Alston, although she had previously been engaged to Howard, and why does she act as his guardian angel when engaged to another man? Also Alston should tell his life story earlier, say, in the first incident in the wood; it interferes with your climax in the court scene. You have an interesting theme in the woman who unconsciously acts as a man's guardian angel. Advise you to weave this more into the plot, showing how she acts as guardian angel time after time, entirely unintentionally, but simply because she is this man's affinity, the one woman who is naturally the counterbalance to his nature. That is your real story.

"Mayflower"

BY MISS BILLIE SIMPSON, 1318 NEEDHAM AVE., MODESTO, CALIF.

You have a technically good plot, although somewhat trite since the situation is merely the old triangle of one hero, one heroine and one jealous woman who seeks revenge. But let us advise you against these historical pictures. Producers are averse to pictures of this type, both because the public is more interested in modern stories and because of the expense entailed in production. The costumes for your pilgrims and the research necessary to reconstruct the Plymouth Rock village would cost more than the story is worth.

CHAPTER VI.

"Star Sympathy"

By John Emerson and Anita Loos

(Deans of the Photoplay Writing Profession, Who Are Now Collaborating on Constance Talmadge Pictures)

Many an unsung Milton of the scene will remain entirely unwritten because he has neglected to place in his story the correct proportion of "star sympathy."

"Star sympathy," you say. "Of course, if they have to do in the stories I see every—etc., etc." Right or wrong, the system of featuring a star in each picture is almost universal custom, based upon the fact that in ninety per cent of all fiction written the interest centers in one person. Therefore follow these rules:

Make sure that the star is before the camera in at least seventy-five per cent of the scenes. Plan your story with this in mind.

Be sure that the star is in all the big scenes—that is, where there is strong and special interest. When there is no interest, the star need not be present.

Do not put the audience in a position of being a spectator to the antagonistic frame of mind towards the star part. Make the motives of the star logical and where possible, pure. If your star is a vampire, the audience should sympathize with her, understanding that Destiny forced her to her career; if your star is a crook, make clear the fact that deep down in his or her heart there is a Divine spark.

Always remember that the star will be the final one to pass on your story as acceptable material.

THE STAR DECIDES. Star sympathy is a matter of how the audience feels about it. Naturally a film favorite whose personality is the moving force in any studio. Much to say about what stories are to be bought. No famous actor will stand for a story in which he appears in only five per cent of the scenes nor will he accept a despicable character—a lounge lizard for example—unless the character is shining as the fair-haired hero of the plot. Were we to write a story for Constance Talmadge, be sure that the interest of the audience would not lie with the aged grandmother or the rejected lover, for the audience is there to see this lovable little star as the chief character of the story. Sarah Bernhardt would not care to play the part of a maid with only one big line to the effect that the carriage waits; nor would Miss Talmadge accept a play in which the clever bits of acting go to the unscrupulous but wealthy suitor.

It's not enough to find the right the right paw, too, with the label, "Charles Ray," "Katherine MacDonald," "Anita Stewart," or "Norma Talmadge." Don't write a story for

But we do not mean to discourage you from injecting the element of comedy into a tragedy or vice versa. These two elements may be skillfully woven together with such effect that your story's value is increased. A comedy may be greatly improved by buttressing a bit of the dramatic. A drama will have a more powerful appeal if through it runs the thread of humor and satire.

We want you to write great stories. But we want you to sell them also. Therefore we say: Be sure your audience will sympathize with the sympathy to the star part, and be sure that your story actually suits some star or group of stars of the modern motion picture.

Four Volumes of Poems Offer Wide Variety—T. S. Eliot Startling and Outrageous—Carolyn and Gordon Hillman Have Swinging and Humorous Meter—Jean Rivard Is Courageous Attempt—Dora Nelson Possesses Simple Muse.

No one need do more than look at the bookshelves to recognize that this is the year for the poets. Writers who did well to make an occasional appearance in the magazines a year or more ago are having their poetical wares published in volumes, slim and bulky and there can be but one answer. The reading public is turning in greater numbers to the writers of verse.

For some time it has been a matter of world-wide interest this awakening of poetry in America. The bards of England have confessed that, without our appreciation, they would have remained poor indeed and the list of translations of current works in other European countries is rapidly growing.

Of course such a situation is one to be welcomed and can only reflect favorably upon our national taste in literature. Certain evidences there are, though, that in their zeal to encourage this new lore some of the publishers have been a bit reckless in their choices. There have been volumes published that cannot represent American poetry in the light of a healthy or presentable literature. Some of it is not poetry.

Perhaps, though, any encouragement of American verse will act toward the firmer establishment of the national poetry. Certain it is much better that verse should be bad and indifferent be published than no verse at all. In the books here reviewed are examples of a wide variety of verse.

T. S. Eliot is a young American who is known for occasional and startling excursions into verse. His is nothing if not original and of the sort to make partisans friends and bitter critics. Extravagant, blasphemous, outrageous comparisons and words not to be found in the dictionary, he has written much that even he might not be able to interpret.

For his courage and his individuality his work is notable. He starts, he shocks, and he is very, very clever. The man who has stumbled upon his occasional poem has been impelled by curiosity to see more of the strange manifestations. The book will satisfy the feeling. It will do more. "Eliot is never commonplace, he is never dull, and he is never boring."—Bookman.

Here are a few lines picked from the book:

"When the evening is spread out against the sky
Like a patient etherized upon a table."

And:

"My smile falls heavily among the bric-a-brac."

"The worlds revolve like ancient women
Gathering fuel in vacant lots."

"I am aware of the damp souls of housemaids
gates."

Lanouette has attempted no mean task. It is a story of a father who sent his son to the war, of the boy's adventures, mental and physical, the winning of the Croix de Guerre. There is something in the spirit of the writer, and of the tale that does much to make up for the palpable faults in structure. The author finds the limits imposed by his verse form too severe, and, as a result, there are many awkward lines. Perhaps this is illustrated in these lines as well as in any:

"His one and sole object to Jean he explained,
Was that as a graduate he would be retained
By his own Alma Mater, for every large college

("Jean Rivard," by Joseph Edward Lanouette. Boston, The Cornhill Company, $1.25.)

As simple reactions to the war-time urge toward verse, "A Farm in Picardy" by Dora Nelson are interesting poems. The writer never strives for those delicate poetic effects that mark the artist but is content to remain well within her limits. The result is something like the poems which Wordsworth liked so well but which are omitted from the volumes of his collected poems. In many instances the old familiar meters loved so well by Longfellow, Wordsworth and Tennyson are recognized. Homely and genuine and without pretense these verses will strike a welcome chord in many hearts. Here is one of a peasant girl and an aviator:

"At times upon my enraptured sight,
There shines a vision wondrous bright:
Far up the blue in ether high
Your sunlit wings against the sky,
And I must walk in valleys low.
Ah, well, 'tis best that it is so—
You do not know, dear heart, will never know."

("A Farm in Picardy," by Dora Nelson. Boston, The Cornhill Company, $1.25.)

"The king is a ruler, the queen is his wife;
A general's a rubber doll what's sudden come to life;
A hero is a 'hero-a-wearin' of 'is
Dora Nelson, Boston, The Cornhill Company, $1.25.

There is a swing and a dash of humor in the verse of Carolyn and Gordon Hillman that marks it as fine examples of just what it pre-tends. "Rhymes Grave and Gay." There is subtle imagery in some of the poems, music in others, and a fine appreciation of the niceties of meter. "Gay Goes a Gordon" has the swirl and the swing of the High-landers aloofing it in the breezes. The man who has stumbled upon his occasional poem has been impelled by curiosity to see more of the strange manifestations. The book will satisfy the feeling. It will do more. "America's Road to Victory" Is Work of Officer in French Army—Gives Credit for Overcoming Obstacles

A Frenchman, Lieutenant Colonel E. Requin of the French army, has afforded America at large an opportunity to do that oft-prayed-for thing—to "see ourselves as others see us." This time the portrait of us shows the part we played in winning the world war. There is no discussion of whether it was at Chateau-Thierry or in the Argonne, or whether it was food or men, which has been the subject for debate and numerous wordy battles, but the viewpoint of military achievement as a whole.

Lieutenant Colonel Requin, who is a member of the French general staff, was assigned to Washington to help in every way he could during our days of preparation and early participation in the struggle overseas. In the preface to his volume, "America's Road to Victory," the author says it is "not a history of the war, nor even of that final period in which the American army took such a splendid part. It is solely the military effort and its results that I have undertaken to discuss—an effort judged by a Frenchman who had the rare good fortune to follow it from its beginning, and the distinguished honor of sometimes collaborating in it."

The book, which can be read in a few hours, has an introduction by General Peyton C. March, chief of staff of the American army, a fact which adds to the authoritative statements and conclusions which Colonel Requin states with such confidence and logical fashion. The book is written directly, with no attempt to make literature, and so successfully has it been put into English that it is difficult to think of it as translation.

Colonel Requin, arriving in Washington as a member of the French high commission, "knew little of our political system or the obstacles which were to be overcome. But at the end of the war, our military attributes hidden beneath our apparent pacifism and commercialism and all the intricacies of our national existence. With the trained eye of the experienced general staff officer he saw also the weak points of our military system and set about the difficult task of helping us prepare strength where there had been weakness."

Thus does General March pay tribute to the worth and work of the author, who has shown in this volume the basic faults of a system which, by their very glaringness, made the final achievement so much more worthy of commendation.

Colonel Requin reminds his readers that it is only by knowing the whole truth about America's flagrant unpreparedness in 1917 that any just or adequate estimate of the real accomplishment can be made. And he sets out, forthwith, to show that unpreparedness, the absence of any schools for training officers, the failure of the general staff to function as a general staff, the utter lack of directors for various arms of military training and the appalling long time in which there was no authorized officer in Washington from whom a final decision on questions of artillery could be obtained.

Colonel Requin has made no attempt to gloss over or conceal the facts as he found them, but he has presented them in all friendliness, with the clear eye of the trained soldier, and his appreciative analysis and study of our efforts as he knew them at first hand should prove very helpful in the reorganization of our military system, now in the process of remaking.

"America's glory," writes Colonel Requin, "rests on having had a part in the war, despite all of the obstacles which might have kept her from it."

"Happy House," by Baroness von Hutton. New York, George H. Doran Company.

"Jane Austen," by O. W. Firkins.

There came a time when the words "Happy House," painted on the gate of the home of Violet Walbridge, appealed to her pathetically or stirred an aching humor.

It was in the days when she was a bride that she had traced them there, and now she was a successful novelist and the mother of what is known as an extremely "modern" family. The sign is never erased and the spirit of Violet is never downed. Illusions passed out the gate one by one and Violet saw with their departure the change in the man she married. Once she had thought he would be successful. Then her heart was broken by the realization in their waywardness so full of the unimportant things that are regarded almost sacredly by a part of the newer generation.

Violet sought her refuge and found it. The way out is pointed to her and the manner of her acceptance is the best part of the story. Oliver Wick, a young man who loves Violet's daughter, plays a large part in the saving of Violet as the head of a family sorely in need of such a head, and her greatest novel does the rest.

Baroness von Hutton has written a story about the modern family, a frank, affecting, and honest tale of an interesting if somewhat bizarre group. Her main character is drawn with a rare skill and there is much in the book to prove again the writer's abilities to hold a wide circle of admirers.

Charles K. Field, editor of Sunset, is a personal friend of long standing of Herbert C. Hoover. In the April number of the magazine a story of Hoover's life, written by Rose Wilder Lane, promises to be one of the notable magazine contributions of the year. Miss Lane has been given the opportunity to secure her material from those closest to her subject and she has made the most of that opportunity. The magazine also has the first installment of a new story, "Lassa of the Elephants," a tale that promises excitement and romance. An article by Senator Hiram W. Johnson and a number of stories, verses and pictures of a western flavor complete the magazine.

GABRIELE D'ANNUNZIO

The little town of Pescara on the Adriatic Sea is shown in its life and character, with vivid old-world pictures, in "Tales of My Native Town," by Gabriele D'Annunzio.

In the accepted sense, these glimpses are not short stories. Many of them "end in the air," and many have no story to tell. They are, however, most illuminating character studies and quite wonderful and simple reflections of village life in Italy. The loves, trials, passions and virtues of an assortment of men and women who, in American lights, are doubly interesting are told in the reflections of certain high lights in their lives. And they are told in a masterly manner.

These D'Annunzio stories were written long before the war and before the writers became a figure famous for their adventures. It may be that they would not have been translated had it not been for the notoriety that came with the Fiume adventure to the man who was famous as a dramatist and poet. The reader will not find any hint of the warrior in the book which is the work of a deep and somewhat cynical student of human nature. He will realize that the village of Pescara is not like any village in this country and that the standards of a Italian writer are not those of Americans. Very few will escape the charm of the style.

BEN HUR RETURNS

"Ben Hur," the favorite American novel that seems to have a fresh spurt of popularity every year, is continuing its career on the American stage. Originally presented on the stage at the Broadway theater in 1899, "Ben Hur" has opened again for the season at the Forrest theater in Philadelphia. Several years ago the H. J. Pers arranged for a single edition of a million copies of the Lew Wallace novel, and it was promptly sold.

Nancy Hanks Mother of Lincoln, Is Figure in Novel by Maria Thompson Daviess.

"The Matrix," Maria Thompson Daviess' new novel is a thrilling romance of the meeting, courtship, and marriage of Abraham Lincoln's father and that almost fabulous figure, Nancy Hanks. It is set in the Kentucky pioneer days, when the settlers had to fight for everything they needed or wanted; and it portrays the feeling color of that strenuous period which has meant so much in the evolution of the American national genius.

As a story, apart from the historical importance of the characters, "The Matrix" is one of the author's most entertaining creations. It is told with the verve and vigor, the wit and humor, the high dramatic power of her best previous fiction.

Herself a product of the Blue Grass country, Miss Daviess is able to visualize the people and the setting of the thrilling early days in Kentucky; and she has heard all her life the traditional stories of Nancy Hanks and the other members of the Lincoln family, much of which has lived only in that history of the Blue Grass country which has passed on by word of mouth.

Miss Daviess had humorized and brought nearer the period that produced Abraham Lincoln, and in so doing she has brought nearer to us our great man.

"Romances of Old Japan"

A book unusual in its subject matter and its make-up is a volume of "Romances of Old Japan," which has recently been published by Brentano of New York.

Madame Yukio Ozaki has rendered into English the tales which date back to the legendary days of Japan, and has transmitted to the foreign translation much of the quaintness and charm which characterize the stories of Japanese heroes and heroines.

There is some historic background, albeit hazy in character, to the tales which are Japanese classics, and in the volume as it is put before the American reading public much of this is hinted in brief notes which the translator has appended to the stories.

There are eleven stories in the collection, all of them permeated with the beauty and the mysticism which are Japanese. There is an account of the "Tragedy of Kesa Gosen" in the foreword of which Madame Ozaki tells a bit of herself, the daughter of a Japanese naval officer and an English mother, brought up in England and brought back to Japan to be schooled there.

"The Spirit of the Lantern" is a typically Oriental tale, as is the "Reincarnation of Tamie." Other titles are "Usato, of the Crow of Dawn"; "Tsubosaka," "Loyal, Even unto Death," "Kiku Returns from the Grave," "A Cherry-Flower Idyll," "The Badger-Haunted Temple" and "The Quest of the Sword," which is the initial tale in the collection.

The illustrations for all of the stories are as unusual as the tales themselves, and by their quaint conceptions and the delicacy of their coloring make them a rich addition to the collection.

JOSIAH ROYCE

"Lectures on Modern Idealism" by the late Josiah Royce, formerly of the University of California (Yale University Press). This is a genuine need in philosophical literature. These so-called "Lectures" are a reprint of the idealistic doctrines of the Self, the Social Order, Nature and the Absolute.

While the volume does furnish a complete exposition of the methods of musical psychological investigation and is rather a text than anything else, the limit of its interest is

For instance, he denies that the ability to distinguish pitch is an ability that can be increased. Vocal guidance very rapidly is assumed the proportions of an exact science—at least, of a more nearly exact science than the haphazard measures of earlier application would have afforded. Of course, a considerable advance was made when it was first discovered that by no possible contrivance could a square peg be made to round holes. It took many centuries of inefficiency and wasted effort to find sure grounding for that conviction, but once attained applications of it proceeded by leaps and bounds.

The chief contribution to vocational guidance today is the application thereto of a specialized scheme of laboratory psychology which was first represented by the work of such men as M. Binet and M. Simon in France and of Goddard, Terman and others in this country in the feeling of the Binet test. No less of interest or of promise is the work which has been done in the psychological laboratories of the University of Iowa under the guidance of Professor Carl E. Seashore.

A few years ago Professor Seashore was in the summer session faculty at the University of California and the widest attention was drawn to his investigations in musical aptitude. Hundreds of students on both sides of the bay were examined, and Professor Seashore told their parents whether or not they would ever be musicians or how musical they would be. Moreover, he introduced psychological classes in the session to the modus operandi which he and his assistants had contrived.

Professor Seashore, except among students, was little known in the West at the recent time, and more or less vaguely and no little questioning attended his demonstrations. Since then continued investigation has brought his methods and conclusions to the point of general acceptability. Today he is recognized throughout the scientific world as the foremost investigator in the field of musical psychology.

It is, therefore, with a very deep expectancy that an interested person encounters his new publication, "The Psychology of Musical Talent," the chief exponent of what he has made of his investigations. And, despite the fact that the volume is addressed particularly to students of applied psychology, the intelligent reader who falls without that category will find it neither too technical nor too systematic to lack value. The fact that the phonograph has been enlisted to increase the applicability of his methods is added interest, and that he proposes extending as widely as possible the benefits involved.

Pitch, as one of the fundamentals, perhaps the fundamental, of musical appreciation receives the largest share of attention. He has not, however, scanted such other elements as the senses of intensity, time, rhythm, timbre, consonance, as voluntary motor control, musical imagery and imagination, musical memory. These last three subjects, together with the chapters on musical feeling and on the application of musical training to the individual might easily have been separately printed as a brochure of wide appeal.

UNCLE WIGGILY WENT OUT IN AN APRIL SHOWER. BULLY AND BAWLY, THE FROGGIE BOYS, THOUGHT THEY'D PLAY A TRICK ON HIM. BUT DID THEY?

One day, early in April, when showers happen every little while, Uncle Wiggily Longears, the nice bunny rabbit gentleman, went to call on Mrs. No-Tail, the frog lady, who was the mother of Bully and Bawly, the two froggie boys, but he had his umbrella, and his new spring suit did not get wet. It was pouring hard when the bunny reached Mrs. No-Tail's house, and Bully and Bawly, who, of course, did not mind getting wet, saw Mr. Longears. "Let's play a joke on him!" croaked Bully. "Let's play a nice joke on Uncle Wiggily!"

"What kind of a joke shall we play on Uncle Wiggily?" asked Bawly, of his frog brother, as the rabbit gentleman put down his umbrella and went in the house. "Oh, we'll just cut a lot of holes in his umbrella, and then furl it up," croaked Bully. "Then when he goes home from here, and opens his umbrella in a shower, which is sure to come, he'll get all wet! Won't that be funny?" Then he and his brother took the bread knife and, going out in the hall where their mother and Uncle Wiggily could not see them, they cut the umbrella.

After a nice visit with Mrs. No-Tail, and having had a cup of tea, Uncle Wiggily said: "I have not had an adventure yet today." Then he went out in the hall and picked up an umbrella. Bully and Bawly could hardly keep from laughing. "Wait until it showers and he opens that umbrella!" whispered Bully. As Uncle Wiggily was saying good-afternoon to Mrs. No-Tail, along came Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig. "May I have the pleasure of walking with you?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "I have an umbrella in case it rains." Oh, dear!

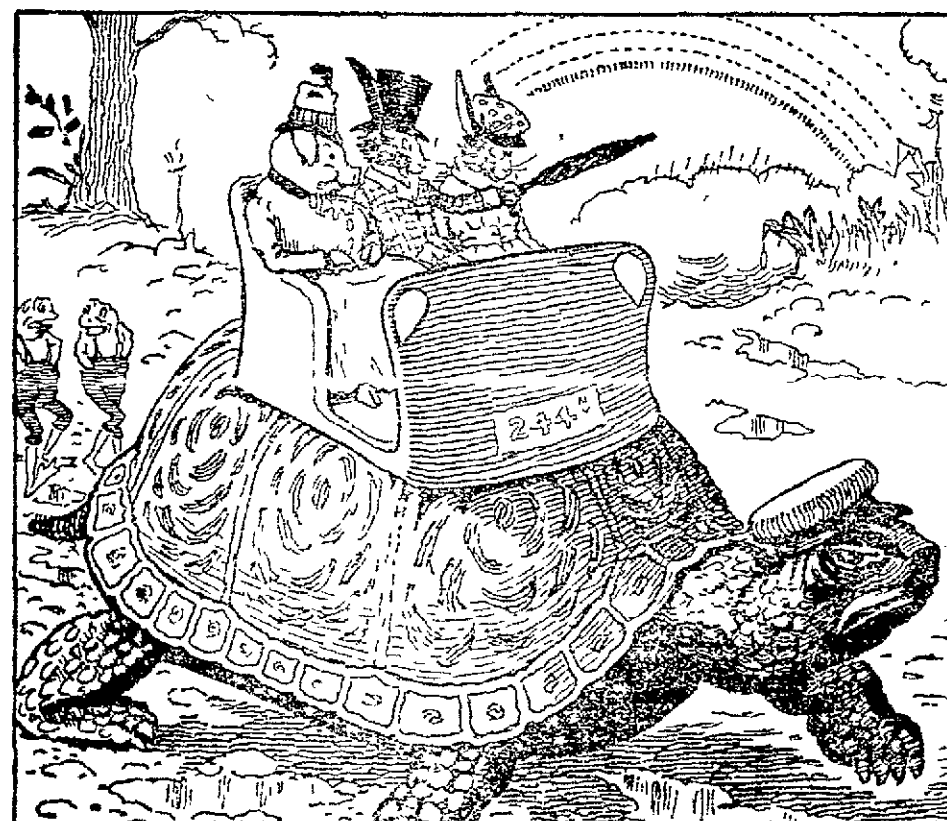

As Uncle Wiggily walked along with Mrs. Twistytail, the pig lady, he carried his umbrella, furred like the sail of a boat, under his paw. All of a sudden it began to April shower again, just as the rabbit gentleman and the lady pig passed near a large toad stool. "Oh, let's get under that, and you will not have to raise your umbrella," said Mrs. Twistytail, and they were soon sheltered from the storm. "If he never raises his umbrella he'll never know what a joke we played on him," said Bawly. "Wait," advised Bully.

"Well, this is a pleasure to meet you, Mrs. Littletail," said Uncle Wiggily to the rabbit lady, as he and Mrs. Twistytail came out from under the toad stool. The sun is shining again and the rain has stopped. "I forgot my umbrella," said Mrs. Littletail. "Then let me have the pleasure of taking you home as I am doing to Mrs. Twistytail," said Uncle Wiggily. "It may rain again any moment." Bully and Bawly, hopping along behind, hoped it would rain. They wanted to see what would happen when the umbrella was raised.

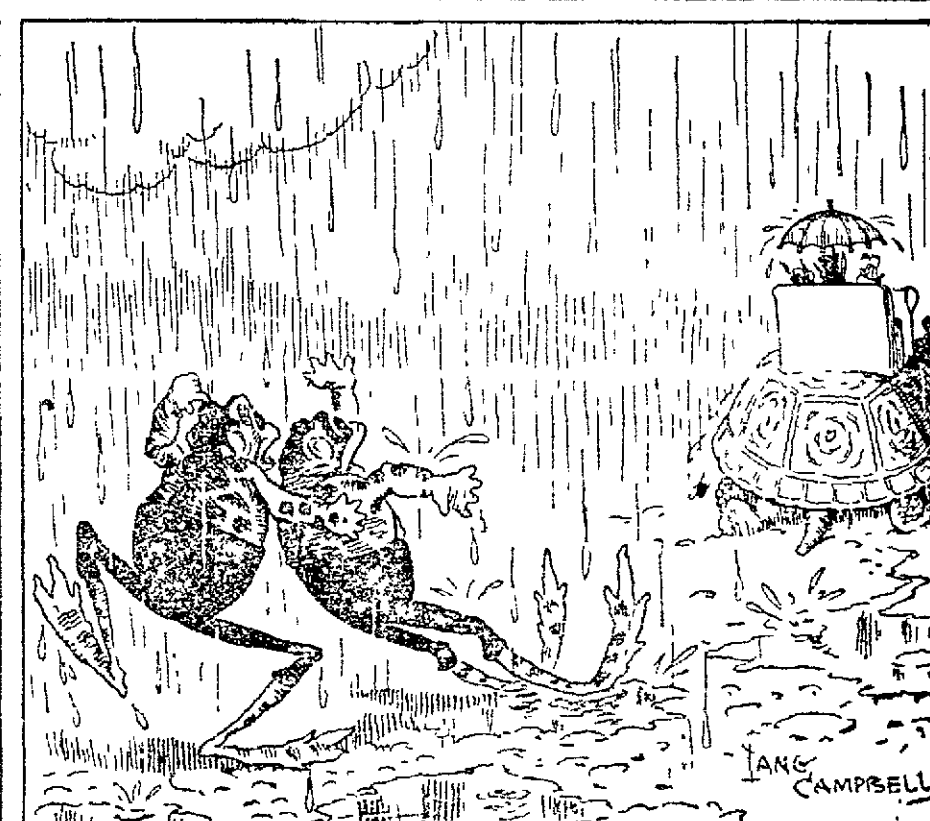

Just as Uncle Wiggily and Mrs. Twistytail and Mrs. Littletail reached a bakery, where there was a nice, big awning, it began to rain again. "Oh, let's run for shelter under the awning!" cried Mrs. Twistytail. "It will keep us as dry as the toad stool did, Uncle Wiggily!" So all three hurried under the awning, hardly a drop of water getting on them. "You do not seem to need your umbrella, Uncle Wiggily," said Mrs. Littletail. "This is the second time you found shelter." Uncle Wiggily said he was lucky. The frog boys waited.

"Taxi! Taxi!" called Uncle Wiggily, as he saw the turtle gentleman's automobile cruising along through the puddles in front of the bakery shop awning. "Here, Taxi! I'll ride home with the ladies." So Uncle Wiggily and the ladies got in the turtle taxicab and, with his umbrella, Uncle Wiggily pointed to the rainbow. "We shall be home before another shower," he said. "But, even if it rains, I still have my umbrella." Bully and Bawly, splashing through the puddles behind the turtle taxicab, looked at one another.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! It is showering again!" granted Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, as she felt a drop splash on her nose. "Yes, and I have my best cress on," said Mrs. Littletail. Uncle Wiggily just laughed and stood up. He began to open his umbrella. "We shall not get wet," he said in a jolly voice. "Even if this taxi has no top to it that will not matter. I always carry an umbrella in April, and this is not the first time I have used it today. I'll hoist it in just a moment. It seems to be caught!" The frog boys eagerly watched.

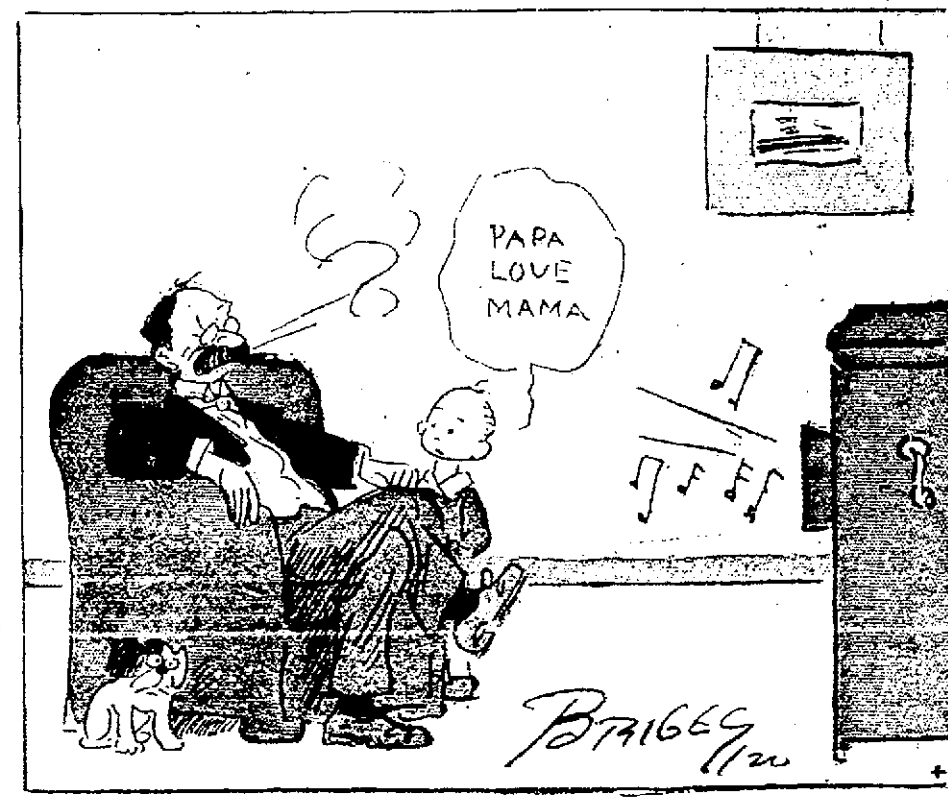

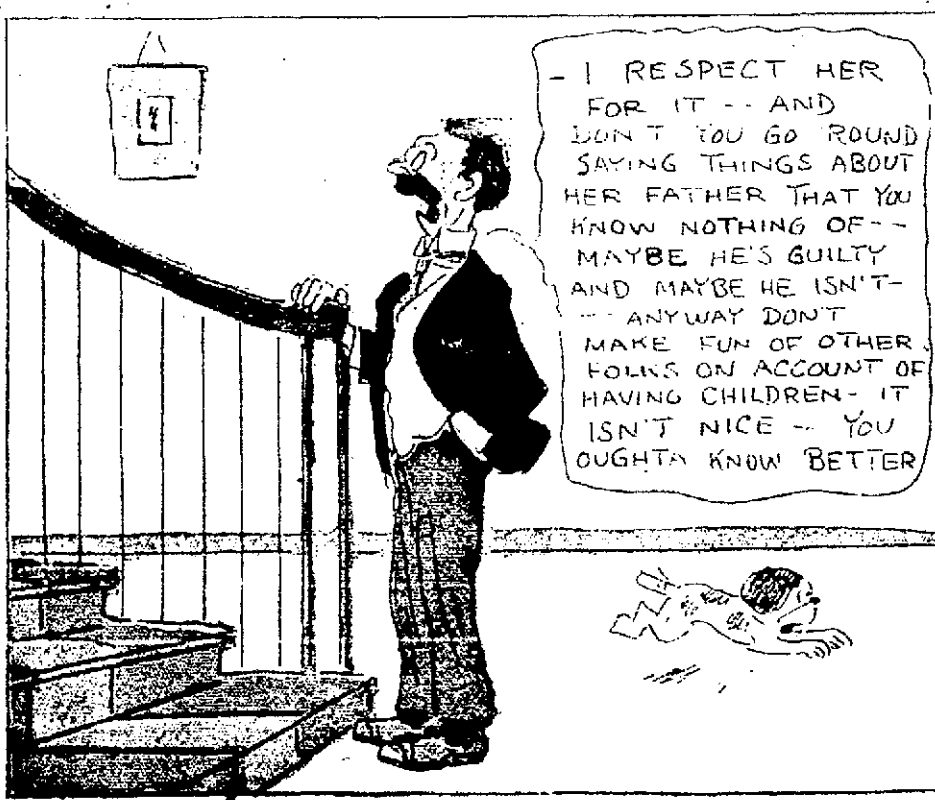

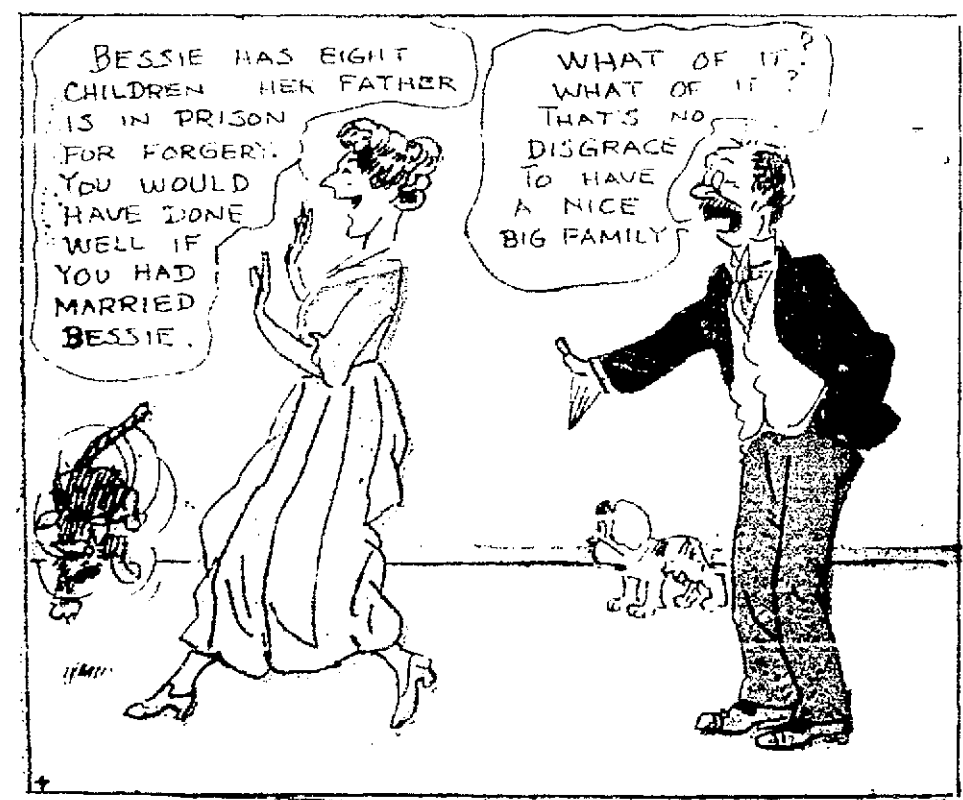

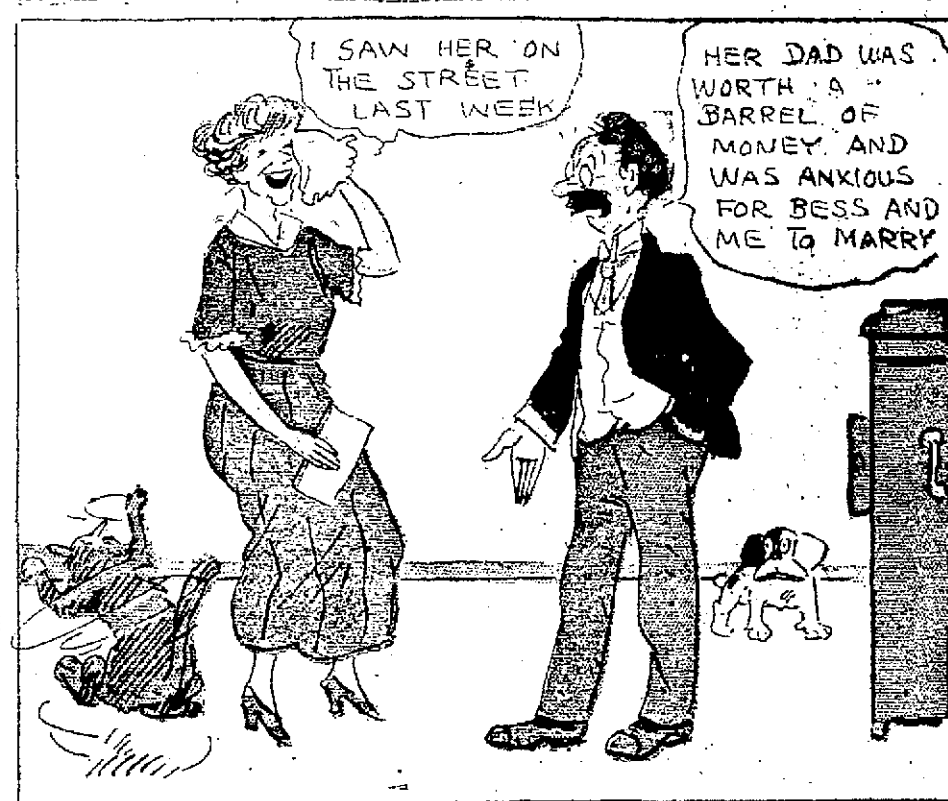

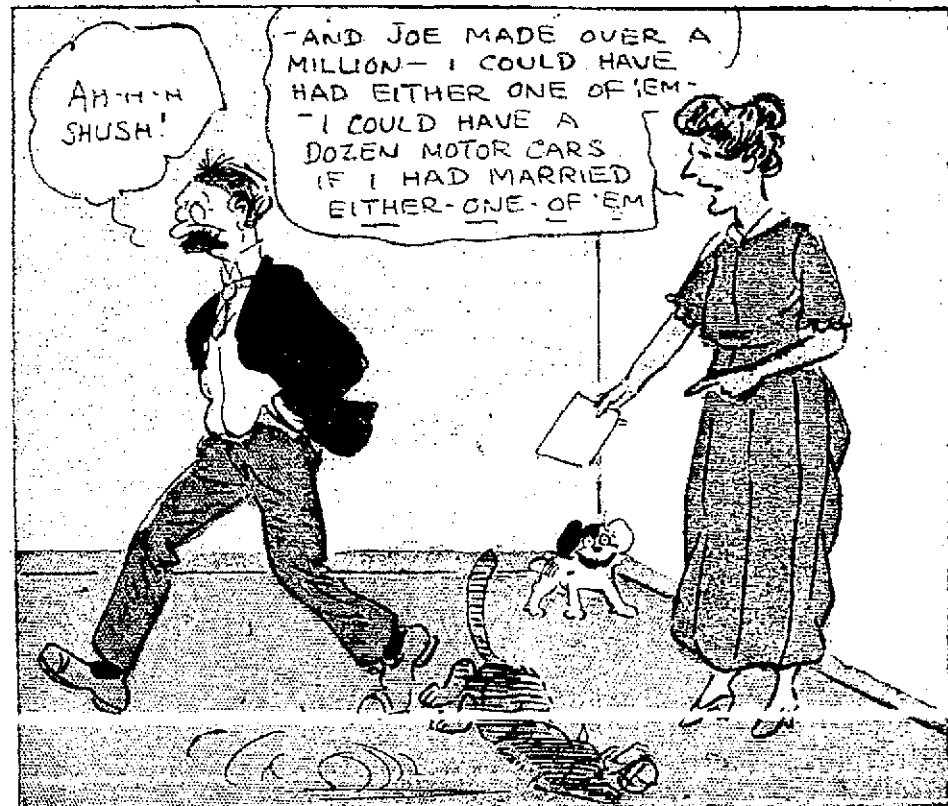

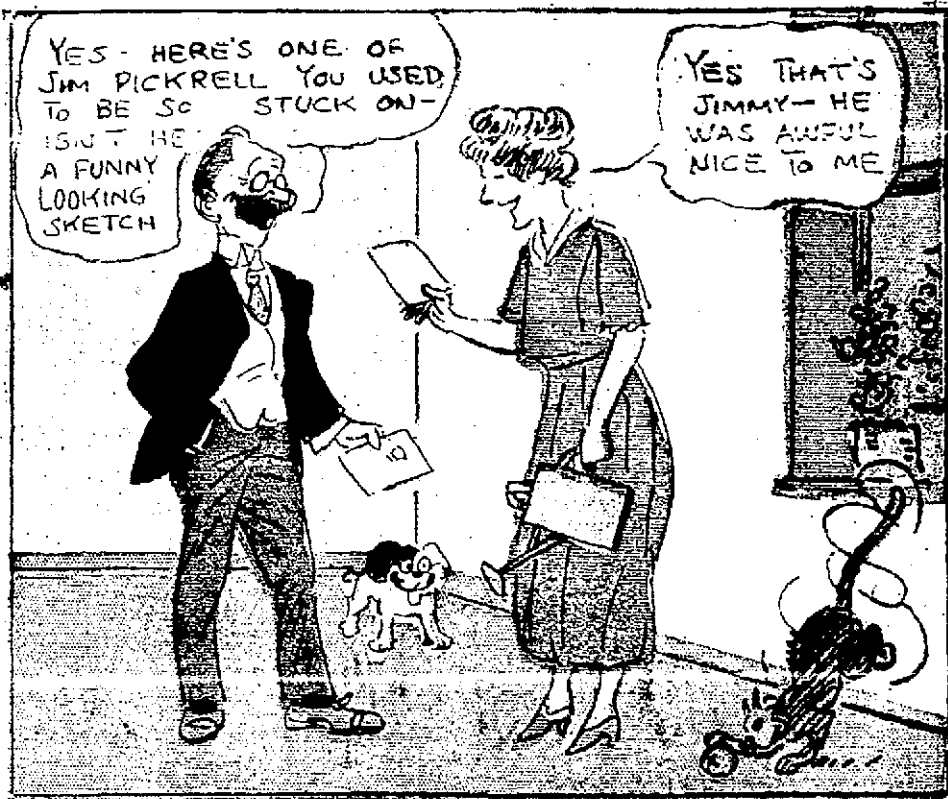

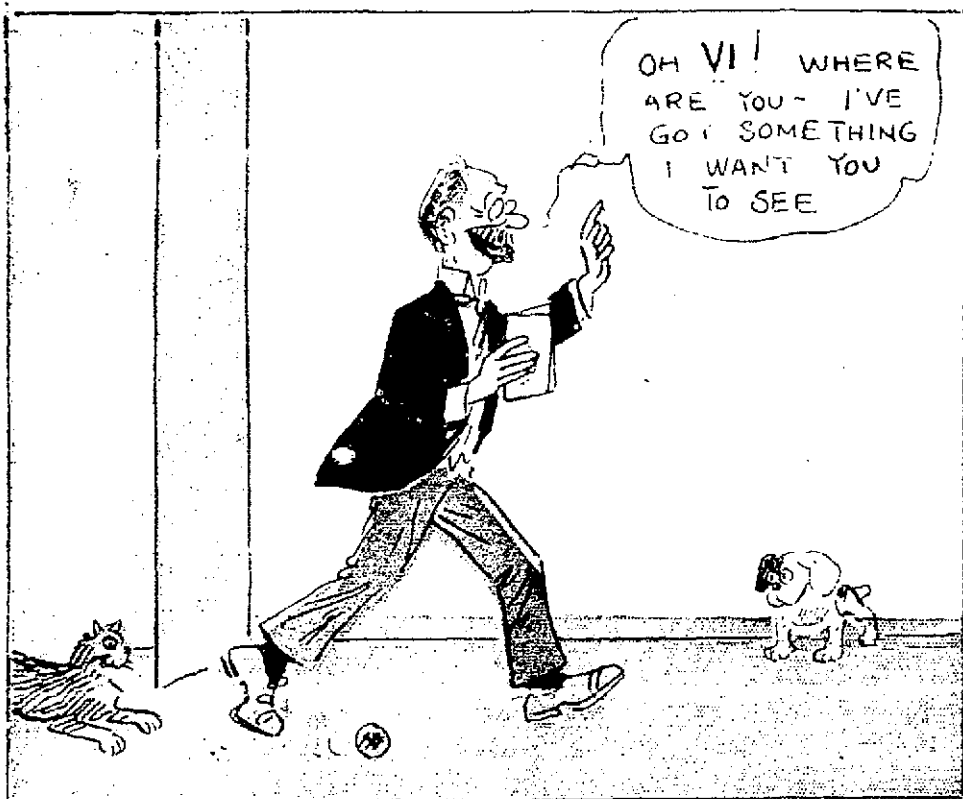

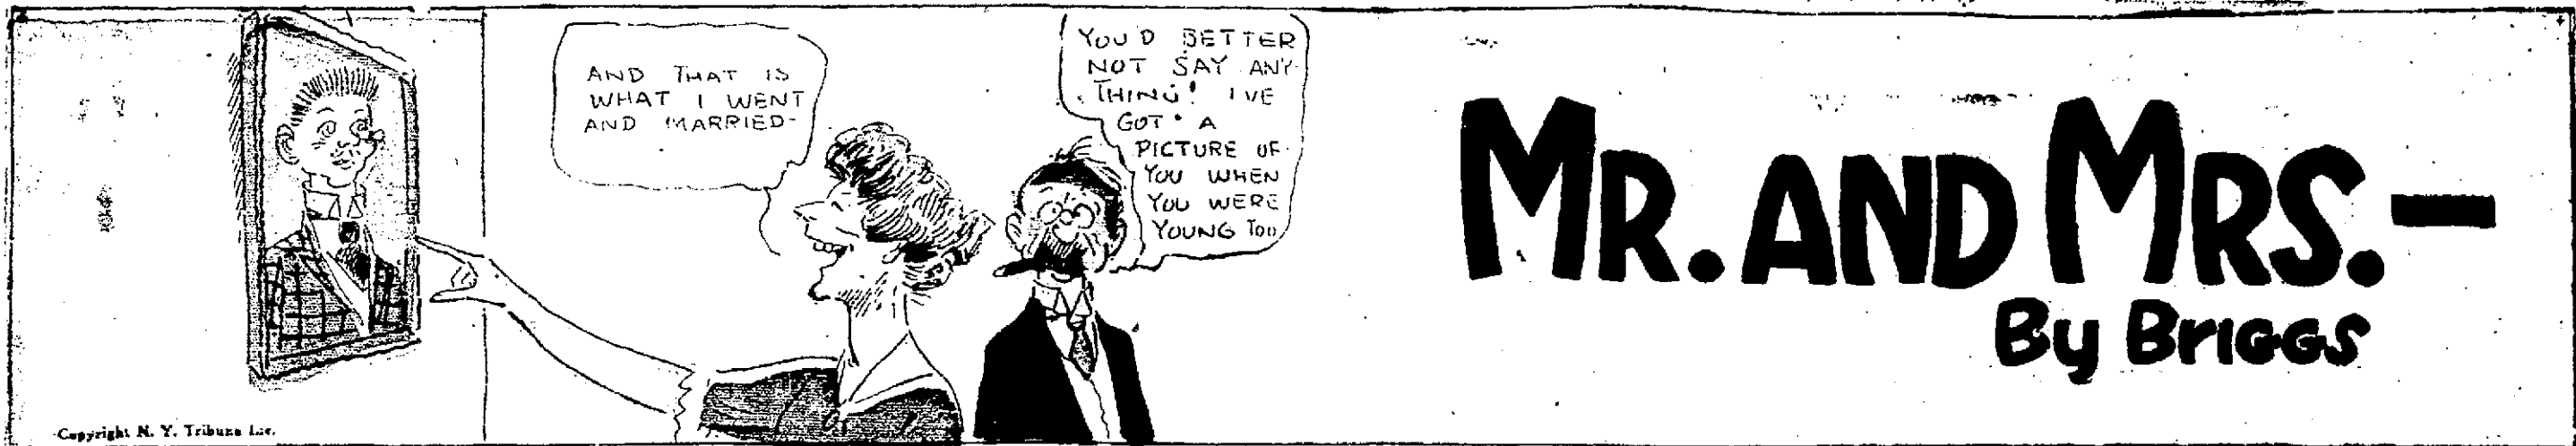

"There! Up you go!" cried Uncle Wiggily as he raised his umbrella. "Now we shall not be wet." The lady pig and lady rabbit said it was lucky Uncle Wiggily had his umbrella with him. "But that's the funny part of it!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "This isn't my umbrella. It is one of Mrs. No-Tail's. I must have picked up the wrong one when I left her house. This is larger and better than mine which I left there." Bully and Bawly looked at each other again, very much surprised. "We cut the wrong umbrella," they said.

And if the lemon pie doesn't fall down stairs, when it is trying to jump through the napkin ring to make the sugar bowl laugh, the next pictures and story will be about

MOB TERRORIZES KING OF DENMARK

STIR CAUSED BY LETTER OF HOOVER

Former Food Chief's Letter of Party Leaning Brings Joy to His Backers and Confusion to the Democrats

Special to The Oakland Tribune. Copyright, 1920, by The Washington Star.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Herbert Hoover's announcement of willingness to accept the Republican nomination for president with certain reservations as to platform declaration has been of course the "big news" in the week's political news.

Despatches to the Star from its political correspondents in States from New England to the Pacific coast, indicate reaction ranging all of the way from joy to sorrow, with a considerable amount of indifference between the layers. The joy is among those Republican Hoover enthusiasts who have felt themselves handicapped by the uncertainty as to the political status of their favorite. They now are free to get out in the open and do their utmost to bring about nomination of the former food administrator at Chicago. The sorrowing is among Democrats who had been looking upon Hoover as the man who should stand the best chance of carrying the party to victory in November. They feel now that the chances of his nomination at San Francisco have been greatly diminished, if not wholly obliterated.

The indifference to the disclosure that Hoover is a Republican is manifestly due to the fact that he has no favorite sons of their own in the running or where the contest between the "regular" Republicans is so close that the possibility of an outsider's nomination may have a bearing on the result.

OPINIONS DIFFER ON CANDIDACY

There is very marked difference of opinion as to whether Hoover's chance of winning a presidential nomination are hurt by his telegram to the California Hoover club. A very widespread view seems to be that unless a radical change in the plans of party managers is forced by overwhelming public sentiment, he cannot be nominated at Chicago, and that, having made what is accepted as a bid for the Republican nomination, Democratic enthusiasm for him as the standard bearer of that party is likely to be rapidly dissipated. The Star's Kentucky correspondent quotes the Louisville Courier Journal as voicing this view.

Declaring that Hoover would be the strongest candidate either could name, the Courier Journal holds that there is not and never has been any chance that the Republicans would take him, and it believes that his latest announcement is calculated to discourage Democrats from further consideration of his name. The correspondent reports, however, that in a poll being conducted by the Louisville Times Herald, Hoover is the favorite of both Republicans and Democrats and independents. The Hoover announcement naturally shifts interest to the California primaries, where there is a clear-cut contest between Hoover and William Hiram Johnson for the control of the California Republican delegation.

JOHNSON PRESS OPENS BATTERIES

The Sacramento despatch says that the fight has become a very bitter one. A part of the Johnson press has opened fire on Hoover, accusing him of being pro-British and a candidate of the "interests." In this the Johnson press has the support of the Hearst newspapers of California. Both sides bid for the support of organized labor.

Apparently the contest in California is to be duplicated in Oregon. Despatches from Portland say that partial observers now believe that either Johnson or Hoover will capture the delegation from that State at the May primaries, the other Republican candidates having but minor followings. The "Old Guard" organization Republicans generally are for Lowden, but the correspondent reports that Hoover apparently has caught the popular fancy and that there is more talk of him than of any other candidate.

HOOVER STRONG IN NORTHWEST

Johnson has a strong and effective organization, and for that reason it is believed he is the only man who can counteract the Hoover movement. The reaction in Washington State also has been favorable to Hoover, according to a despatch from Tacoma. More Hoover Republicans are being organized and the non-partisan clubs previously formed are being converted into straight out Republican organizations. Democratic members of these clubs, according to the correspondent, instead of dropping out, are striving to bring other Democrats into them. Senator Poindexter, who has been looked upon as Washington's favorite son, seems to be overshadowed, and the party "stalwarts" are reported lining up behind General Lowden.

Mrs. Florence Sharon Brown Begins Action For Divorce

MRS. FLORENCE SHARON BROWN, who has sued for divorce after twenty years of married life.

Suit on Secret File Is Cause of Sensation in Society

Announcement that Mrs. Florence Sharon Brown, church and social leader in Piedmont, yesterday filed a suit asking for divorce from Herbert Hamilton Brown, wealthy insurance man with offices in San Francisco, has caused a sensation in Alameda county social circles. The divorce is asked upon the grounds of mental cruelty and incompatibility. The couple have been married about twenty years and have five children.

Efforts to locate Mrs. Brown yesterday revealed the fact that she had gone to Del Monte and from there will go to Carmel, where she plans to pass the summer. Mrs. William Sharon, mother of Mrs. Brown and resident of Piedmont, announced: "Mrs. Brown is out of the city and will not return until the suit is tried."

She left, her mother announced, soon after she and her husband separated, about two weeks ago. Brown also is out of town, according to a statement made at his office yesterday, but he is expected to return tomorrow from a trip into the north-west.

What is behind the charges of mental cruelty and incompatibility. At the hospital physicians were unable to say whether the bullet had touched a vital spot.

TACOMA, April 3.—W. D. Asken, prosecuting attorney of Pierce county, was shot and seriously wounded tonight by Mrs. Julia Smith, a convicted malpractice doctor who was out on $50,000 bond pending an appeal to a higher court.

Dressed in man's clothing, Mrs. Smith drove to Asken's home and pressed him to the door and fired two shots at him. One shot entered his left shoulder and ranged downward. The other missed him.

At the hospital physicians were unable to say whether the bullet had touched a vital spot.

Asken, in addition to his county office, is also elected ruler of the local lodge of Elks.

Easter Spectacle This Year in Middle West Will Represent $100,000,000 Outlay by Estimate of Authority

All Colors and Nations of the World Favored by Milady in Hats, and California's Ostrich Industry Benefits

BY UNITED PRESS. LEADERSHIP TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, April 3.—Middlewest boardwalks will witness the most gorgeous spectacle in their history when $100,000,000 worth of Easter finery parades Sunday morning.

Easter this year is to be full of the brightest hues. The predominant note will be a jade green, followed closely by a navy blue, gray and citron. Very little white will be worn.

Chicago retailers and wholesalers today estimated that the parade throughout the middlewest this year for Easter togethery will run more than $100,000,000. Of this women have spent $10,000,000 for hats. Five million of it was spent in Chicago alone.

Every color and all nations of the world are represented in Easter millinery styles this year, according to Miss Betty Rocko, buyer for a big store here.

STRAW HATS WITH FEATHERS PREVAIL

Straw hats, trimmed with flowers, will predominate, she said. Game law against the killing of birds with fine feathers have cut down styles in feathers, and flowers are the fashion.

Garden hats, decorated with daisies, poppies and sunflowers, were sold by the thousands at prices ranging from $15 to $100. The real Easter hat is to be a big affair. It will run about a foot and a half in diameter, with a three inch crown.

Turbans, introduced by Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, were good sellers. Chic turbans in Egyptian and Spanish style were also sold.

American-made hats will be worn at the rate of about twenty-five for every foreign bonnet Sunday. American hats on the whole were higher priced than imported hats. The domestic product sold for as high as $150 but a few scattered designs were offered for $20. Styles from England this year are selling cheapest.

HORSEHAIR HATS DYED IN SOLID COLORS.

Hats made of horsehair, dyed in solid colors, were popular here. A feature bonnet was a blue bit of straw, shaped like a Chinese mandarin's cap, with long, flowing ribbons for a queue.

She left, her mother announced, soon after she and her husband separated, about two weeks ago. Brown also is out of town, according to a statement made at his office yesterday, but he is expected to return tomorrow from a trip into the north-west.

Charges Woman Is Held Against Will At Hospital

Mrs. Julia Ratonsky of San Francisco Detained in Sanatorium, Says Nurse.

That Mrs. Julia Ratonsky, 60 years old, a resident of San Francisco, is being held against her will at the Foothill Rest Cure sanatorium, at 5293 Foothill boulevard, Oakland, is the allegations contained in a complaint filed at the Oakland police station last night.

The complaint was made by Miss Jessie A. Lydon, a trained nurse, who was formerly employed at the sanatorium. She told the police that Mrs. Ratonsky is a wealthy woman, whose home is in San Francisco, and that she was placed in the sanatorium at the request of a relative who resides in San Francisco.

Miss Lydon also told the police that on March 30 Mrs. Ratonsky escaped from the sanatorium and registered at the Hotel Harrison, where she had registered a guard from the institution called at the hotel and took her back to the sanatorium where she was returned to her room, which is barricaded with iron bars to prevent her escape.

Miss Lydon told the police that on March 30 Mrs. Ratonsky escaped from the sanatorium and made her way to the business section of Oakland. She went to a Washington street store and asked to be directed to a place where she might spend the night. She was sent to the Hotel Harrison where she registered. Two hours later a guard came from the sanatorium, called at the hotel and left with Mrs. Ratonsky, it is asserted.

The Foothill Rest Cure sanatorium is owned by Mrs. M. B. Forrester. In answer to a telephone call to the hospital a woman who would not give her name refused to comment on Miss Lydon's allegations, and hung up the receiver with the admonition: "You had better be careful with what you print."

The Oakland police will make an investigation this morning, it was announced last night.

PASADENA, April 3.—Southern California's ostrich industry, usually dwarfed by the immense oil and fruit interests, today jumped to the fore as the southland's most important undertaking.

Such at least was the opinion expressed by Madame M. L. L. L., dictator of Easter fashions in women's hats.

"The California crop of feathers is annually valued at over $250,000, according to dealers here."

The sale of plumes was accomplished rapidly this year, with prices rising proportionately with the heavy demands.

S. F. Police Outwitted; Seven Women Escape

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEADERSHIP TO TRIBUNE.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Seven women held by the police for medical observation in the San Francisco County hospital muffled a window with blankets and mattresses tonight, broke the glass and escaped down a fire escape. One was later caught by an attendant and the others are still at large.

The women, who range in years from 17 to 28, were confined on a dormitory on the fourth floor. Three of the women are said to have been but lightly clad, while the others wore fully dressed. The police are confident that they will have all of them rounded up within a few hours.

Royal Palace Surrounded by 40,000 Men; Troops Helpless; King Holds Night Conference

"Down With the King"! "Give Us Republic"! Shouts Huge Crowd Led By Radicals and Socialists; Members of Copenhagen Town Council Joins Demonstration; General Strike in Effect Now.

By United Press to The TRIBUNE.

COPENHAGEN, April 3.—A huge mob, estimated at more than forty thousand, staged a great demonstration in front of the royal palace today, shouting, "Down with the King!" "Give us a republic!" and singing the Marseillaise. Police and soldiers guarding the palace were unable to cope with the mob.

The demonstrators were led by radical workmen and Socialists who have been active in working for a republic since King Christian dismissed the cabinet of Premier Zahle.

Members of the town council joined in the demonstration. Earlier in the day they had memorialized the king, urging formation of a cabinet satisfactory to the Socialists. King Christian was in conference with his new ministry, headed by Otto Tiede, tonight. It was admitted that the situation was grave.

The general strike has been spreading rapidly. Thirty unions have already called out their members and leaders claim the strike will be general by Tuesday.

The Danish King precipitated the present crisis last Monday when he dismissed the cabinet headed by Premier Zahle. The action was unprecedented in modern Danish history and Socialists immediately demanded reinstatement of the ministry on threat of a general strike which was to be called April 6. King Christian refused and troops were called into the city to guard the Royal palace.

Dismissal of the Zahle cabinet was attributed to its failure to attain success in the Danish-German plebiscite voting in the second zone. The zone voted to remain German and the King blamed his ministry.

Socialists have threatened to proclaim a republic ever since the trouble started.

Halt Troops Or We Will Raze Industries, Communists Tell Ebert

BERLIN, April 3.—(Special Cable Despatch).—There have been 809 "red" casualties in Duisburg, in the Ruhr district, as a result of the fighting going on between the workmen and the government troops. The government has promised to pay the cost of the fighting to pacify the district, according to a report received here tonight.

PARIS, April 3.—(Special cable despatch).—The Communists at Muehlheim, Westphalia, have announced that they intend to destroy all of the industries in the Ruhr district, if the advance of the Reichswehr is not halted by 4 o'clock tomorrow morning.

AMSTERDAM, April 3.—(Special Cable Despatch).—The towns of Dinslaken and Recklinghausen, in the Ruhr district, were occupied today by German government troops under command of General Von Winter.

BERLIN, April 3.—(Special cable despatch).—The Communists in the Ruhr district are still alarming, the government announced today, although the strike in the district was called off yesterday, according to advices from Essen. It is stated that a military advance into the Ruhr district may begin within forty-eight hours in order to avert a spread of disaffection into other sections of the republic.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon a telephone report from Essen said government troops were shelling the Ruhr army from the rear with heavy artillery, causing tremendous losses and hindering the retreat. Bitter fighting was going on, it was reported, the reds being determined not to surrender.

Chancellor Mueller in his talk with press representatives today contradicted reports of pacific settlement with the radicals in the Ruhr district and said the situation was still extremely critical and growing worse. The government, he added, was preparing for a military advance to restore order.

"Up till now," said the chancellor, "we hoped the reds would surrender their arms, but the latest information is to the contrary. At present, instead of giving up their arms, they continue recruiting. At Hamburg the city has been plundered and has appealed for the protection of the Reichswehr."

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 3.—Mrs. Thomas Downer of Lincoln, Neb., was exonerated and dismissed this afternoon by Justice W. H. Edwards for her shooting this morning of Miss Myrtle Lewis, a waitress she accused of being too friendly with Thomas Downer, her husband. Miss Lewis was struck in the thigh by the bullet from the enraged wife's revolver and was not seriously hurt. Downer is held in jail tonight, facing serious charges.

Justice Edwards, after hearing some of the letters that the wife had written to him, and the fact that she had lived with Downer, and Downer, stopped the hearing in his court and said:

"Mrs. Downer, any wife would be justified in taking the same action that you did. You are at liberty to go and I wish to express my sympathy and admiration for you."

Downer came here from Lincoln several months ago and met Miss Lewis here. The wife cornered the waitress in the hotel where she was said to have lived with Downer, and shot her after accusing the woman of breaking up her home. Ignorant of the shooting, Downer appeared at the hotel later and was taken into custody. Miss Lewis is at a local hospital.

LARAMIE, Wyo., April 3.—After killing his wife as she was about to enter a lawyer's office to start a divorce suit, Roy E. Bergstrom, ex-soldier, intimidated scores of persons with his weapon, rode eighteen miles out of Laramie in a taxi and then returned and surrendered himself tonight. Posses scouring the country for him are still out of touch with this city.

After shooting his wife, Bergstrom calmly walked out of the office building, drove off several men who attempted to stop him, crossed the street to a store, where he held up a number of clerks and telephoned for a taxi. For thirty minutes he waited for the car's arrival, meanwhile witnessing the removal of his wife's body from the office building.

While police sought him in every corner of the city, Bergstrom entered the taxi, put the gun to the driver's head and ordered him to drive north.

The unwhimsical aspect of the blizzard in which Bergstrom was driving and a twinge of conscience, he said, led him to order the chauffeur to return to Laramie. The Bergstroms were married in September, 1918. Mrs. Bergstrom was 18 years old.

Barbed Wire Entanglements Hem City and Condition of Siege Prevails to Forestall Danger of Easter Uprising

DUBLIN, April 3.—Forming a semi-circle reaching from shore to shore around the city of Dublin, British troops tonight were bivouacked as if ready for a long siege against a hostile city, rather than to protect a government against a possible rising.

The cordon of soldiers was placed at an average distance of four miles from the outskirts of Dublin. Preparations they made for camping indicated they were to be held in readiness for any eventuality for many days.

WIRE ENTANGLEMENTS SHUT OFF ALL INLETS

Barbed wire entanglements shut off all inlets and outlets to the suburbs. In addition to troops stationed at many points in the city proper, detachments were massed on the roads to Glasnevin, Drapac, and Malahide, and Chappin. Wire entanglements have been erected at Malahide.

The troops guarding Dublin are composed of British troops, including trench helmets and bayonets. Rumors were current throughout the city tonight that there was shooting at Mountjoy prison, where a number of Sinn Fein prisoners are held.

TENSION INCREASED BY NEWSPAPER STATEMENTS

Newspapers issued extra editions announcing that the city was surrounded by troops. This only served to heighten the tension at Dublin Castle, where high government officials were virtually prisoners.

Sir John Taylor, under-secretary for Ireland, was red-eyed and nervous. He declared he had not ventured from the castle in four months, as he feared he was surrounded by a hostile army. Every respondent went to the castle to interview Taylor. It was necessary to be accompanied by police escort. In front of the castle were two motor trucks ready for emergency use. On each was mounted a concealed machine gun protecting the entrance to the castle.

Taylor has been in charge since Ian MacPherson's resignation. He admitted he would be greatly relieved if he were transferred.

TROOPS GUARD ALL THOROUGHFARES IN CITY

By WEBB MILLER.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

DUBLIN, April 3.—A virtual state of siege tonight. Troops with fixed bayonets patrolled the outskirts of Dublin and other cities, challenging automobiles, carriages and foot travelers. Every person entering the city was searched. Troops examined motor cars and carriages with scrupulous care, even removing cushions and inspecting tires. The cordon troops have been about Dublin early today. Detachments patrolled every road leading into the city as well as thoroughfares inside the city limits.

STREET CARS STOPPED AND PERSONS INSPECTED

Troops stopped every wagon coming into the morning market. In the city street cars were stopped frequently while patrols inspected passengers. Residents of the suburbs were aroused before dawn as the British military forces rumbled through the streets. Tanks rolled toward the outskirts and every now and then squads of marching men left for the outskirts.

The report that Viscount French, lord lieutenant of Ireland, would retire to be succeeded by Lord Decies, was repeated constantly. It was given color by confirmatory despatch quoting the London Globe saying French had been offered the post of governor general of Canada.

CZAR AND FAMILY LIVE, EX-DEPUTY OF FRANCE SAYS

By C. F. REITTELL. Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, April 3.—(Special Cable Despatch).—Czar Nicholas and all members of the imperial family of Russia are still alive, according to M. Lassies, former member of the chamber of deputies, who has just returned from a mission to Russia.

"Contrary to all reports, I believe the czar and the imperial family are still alive," said M. Lassies. He is convinced that M. Pichon was mistaken when he described the death of the Russian royal family in a speech in the chamber on December 29, 1918, on the basis of a report from Prince Lvoff.

"I regret to say that Prince Lvoff's version of the alleged execution seems to be incorrect from start to finish. The use of the term 'execution' shows that the prince could not have been a witness of the scene, for the house in which the imperial family was confined was the finest residence in Ekaterinburg and the prince had no chance to enter the city."

"The fact of the matter is that the prince was never imprisoned in the same house as the imperial family. He was confined in the Ekaterinburg prison, four miles distant. According to the opinion of numerous Russians of prominence, including General Bogoskoff, the Bolshevik commander of Ekaterinburg in 1918, as well as Colonel Bortz, the representative of the French military mission in Ekaterinburg, there is every reason to believe that the czar and his family are still alive, but kept in seclusion until the time is opportune for them to emerge."

It was learned this afternoon, Captain Doyle took a fling at the legal archives and turning up an opinion of an attorney-general of 1856 declaring that the United States is bound to protect diplomats from disrespect and that any disrespect constitutes disorder. Captain Doyle read the opinion of the attorney-general to the pickets and the picketing came to an end.

Discussion Is Caused By Hoover's Political Letter

stayed up sentiment at the Hub, Hoover sentiment flames as high in that seat of conversation as it does in the West. Former Governor McCall, who is a candidate for delegate at-large to the Chicago convention, has announced that he is for Hoover, and talk favorable to the former food chief, according to the correspondent, is heard everywhere. It is an interesting coincidence that on the day Hoover sent his telegram to California putting himself in the running for the Republican nomination a number of the most prominent Democrats in Massachusetts met in Boston for the purpose of organizing a Democratic Hoover for President club. There also is in Massachusetts a strong independent Hoover club, so that he is being boomed in the Bay State by the Republicans, by Democrats and by independents, and still it is doubtful whether the Massachusetts delegation at Chicago will cast its vote for Hoover.

There is a tier of close but ordinary Republican States in the Middle West where the Hoover boom seems hardly to have created a ripple of excitement. The area embraces Ohio at its extreme Eastern extreme and Nebraska in the west with the vast territory lying in between. It is true that during the week there has been some talk of the Hoover movement in Ohio, but it is confined largely to Cincinnati, which has never been really friendly to Senator Harding, and belief is expressed openly that even there Hoover talk is merely a cloak under which other sentiment is masquerading. It is too late in any event for Hoover to enter the Ohio primaries and the contest there will be one to the finish between Harding and Wood. The latter, according to a Columbus despatch, seems to be gaining strength, and it is by no means a foregone conclusion that Senator Harding will have a solid delegation from his home State. Hoover's name is not on the primary ticket in Indiana, and there is no organized effort there in his behalf, but it is assumed that a good many Hoover Republicans will write his name in the blank space provided.

Dry Goods Dealers Will Meet at S. F.

The directors of the National Retail Dry Goods association at a recent meeting authorized the holding of the annual spring meeting in San Francisco. This will be the first meeting of the national association ever held west of St. Louis and it is expected to draw a large attendance of merchants from all over the country, and especially from the west. The convention will be held late in May or early in June and the dates will be arranged so that the party of distinguished British merchants, who are to tour the country under the direction of the National Retail Dry Goods association, will be in San Francisco to take part in the program.

HERMS IS SLATED TO SUCCEED KEMP

BERKELEY, May 5.—One college professor will probably succeed another on the Berkeley board of education with the prospective resignation of Professor W. W. Kemp, who was recently elected president of the San Jose normal school. As Dr. Kemp's successor is mentioned, Professor William B. Herms, expert in entomology, who gave up his position on the Berkeley educational board to enter government service at the outbreak of the war.

Dr. Kemp was named to the Berkeley board of education on the recommendation of Professor Herms at the time the latter's resignation was accepted and the present resignation school official is expected to reciprocate the courtesy. Endorsement of Professor Herms for the post has been lent both by President David P. Barrows of the state university and Dean Thomas Forsythe Hunt of the department of agriculture, under whom Professor Herms serves in the entomology department.

Dr. Kemp's resignation is expected to be tendered to the board shortly in order to enable him to begin his new duties. Recognized as one of the educational experts of the west, Professor Kemp has served for some years in the department of education at the state university and has been a valuable member of the college city school board. Dr. Kemp's recommendation of Professor Herms is expected to meet with unanimous endorsement.

Famine Threatened by New York Strike

NEW YORK, April 3.—All food and supplies for Greater New York, congested in Jersey City railroad terminals by the strike of marine workers, will have been moved into New York by Monday morning to relieve the situation here.

Brotherhood of Railway Steamship Clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees, gave assurance that the 35,000 men of his organization would act on a sympathetic strike before Monday.

DETROIT, Mich., April 3.—Officials at the offices of the Michigan Central general freight offices here today announced that an embargo had been ordered on all freight for export through the port of New York. The order was issued as a result of the marine workers' strike at New York.

"A Mass of Sores—No Sleep—Unhappy Days"

So writes F. D. Smith, 405 S. Stealy Street, Sandusky, Ohio. He says: "I suffered terrible itching; body covered with awful sores which caused me to lose sleep. When given up as incurable, having spent over $500, I finally tried D. D. D. Prescription. This remedy has made a well man of me."

Thousands of grateful users of D. D. D. are just as enthusiastic over its wonderful results as Mr. Smith. The very first application allays the itching and burning. Just try a bottle of D. D. D. and convince yourself. Your money back if the first bottle does not bring relief. See and ask. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.

Two Boy Scouts Drowned in Sight of Hundreds at Camp

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Raymond Ruebens, aged 14, a student at Hoel's business college, and Lawrence Toddigan, an orphan, residing at the home of Mrs. Edward Cudding, 31-a Stillman street, San Francisco, both members of San Francisco Boy Scout Troop 84, were drowned in Mud Lake at Camp Lilienthal, Twenty-sixth avenue and Sloat boulevard, late this evening when a small boat in which they were rowing capsized. Hundreds of Scouts and passersby were watching the boys row when the wind suddenly caught their boat and overturned it. F. M. Pierce, one of the Scout officers, was pulled from the water unconscious after he had unsuccessfully attempted to rescue the boys. Both bodies were recovered.

The boys were members of a party of Boy Scouts that has been in camp at Camp Lilienthal for three days.

Sir Oliver Lodge to Speak Here April 12

Sir Oliver Lodge will lecture in San Francisco at the Civic auditorium next Sunday evening, and in Oakland auditorium theater on Monday evening, April 12.

"As the result of profound study of 'spirit phenomena,'" says Sir Oliver, "I became convinced that human survival beyond the grave can be scientifically proven."

Sir Oliver has been associated with the English society for physical research for more than a score of years, and is now in his sixty-eighth year. During the course of his studies he has made certain discoveries, especially in electric phenomena, that have placed him among the world's greatest physicists. His local engagement is under the direction of Paul Elder of San Francisco.

Legal War Will Be Duel Death Sequel

MONTEVIDEO, April 3.—(United Press.)—Rival political factions here today were preparing for one of the greatest legal battles in Uruguayan history in the trial of Jose Batlle y Ordenez, former president of the republic, under arrest for the death of Washington Beltran, a national deputy and director of the newspaper El Pais.

Ordenez shot and killed Beltran in a duel here yesterday. The men met on a field near the city in a violent rainstorm.

Singers to Give Concert Series

Madame Alda, leading soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York, and Riccardo Martin of the same company, accompanied by Miss Erin Ballard, a well known pianist, are to give two concerts at the Exposition auditorium in San Francisco. The first will be next Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock and the other will be on Sunday, April 11, at 2:30 p. m.

The funds derived from these concerts will go to the benefit of the sponsored by Jews and aimed to extend their social, religious and philanthropic work.

Madame Alda is endowed with a remarkable voice and is also declared to be one of the most beautiful women on the American stage today. Of recent years she has appeared in many of the best known operas.

Martin is a famous dramatic tenor who made his debut in Nantes in "Faust." His American debut was made in New Orleans where he appeared in "Pagliacci."

S. J. Meek and Emily Vollmar Are Married Second Time.

Romance and the business of being a policeman are two things that are not usually thought of together in the same day. In the words of George Ade, "they do not Mocha Java worth a cent." Hard knocks of various kinds enter into a policeman's life in abundance; but when it comes to romance—

All of which is true enough when considered as a glittering generality. That is, it is a true enough rule, but it has exceptions—and the most outstanding exception on record is that of S. J. Meek, Oakland's newest and tallest patrolman.

Meek has been on the police force three days. But in those three days Romance with a capital R has hit him right between the eyes, and "Slim," as he is known at police headquarters, is still viewing the world in general and his police job in particular through a pair of roseate colored glasses. And being a POSITION ACCEPTEO. It has not only won for him a charming wife, his policeman's job re-won her after their marriage of eight months ago had been annulled by her irate parents. And therein is the story.

"I'm still afraid that I'll wake up and find I've been dreaming it all, because it sounds like the stuff you read in a fiction cut magazine," said "Slim" yesterday.

It happened this way. The newly appointed young policeman, who is only a little past 21, arrived home from France last March after seeing the hardest kind of action in an ammunition supply train. And the first person he saw when he stepped off the train was Emily Vollmar, 3013 California street, Berkeley. They had been friends since childhood and their romance was one of long standing. But the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Vollmar, were opposed to the friendship. Naturally, after his long service in France, Meek did not have much money. So the Vollmars thought he should get a good position and prove that he could support a wife before he thought of marriage.

Nevertheless, the two were married in San Francisco—and straightway there was a fuss. The upshot of it was that the Vollmars declared the girl to be under age and had the marriage annulled. Meek was forbidden to see his bride.

CAREER PROVES STORMY.

So matters have drifted since that time. On a few occasions the couple have managed to meet, but always at the imminent risk of discovery and the consequent displeasure of the parents. Never did young love have a stormier career.

Meek worked in the quartermaster's army store in the basement of the city hall for several months. Then the call was sent forth by Chief of Police J. F. Lynch for fifty new policemen. Meek was one of the first to qualify.

Thursday Meek and a dozen other novices in the department were receiving their final instructions, after being sworn in, from Chief Lynch and Captain Eddie Waltham, when an exceedingly pretty girl appeared at the desk sergeant's window.

"Is Mr. S. J. Meek here?" she asked.

"If you mean 'Slim' Meek, he's right in the next room," said Desk Sergeant Nedderman. "It is important."

"Very," said the girl. So "Slim" was called out and the desk sergeant discreetly turned his back.

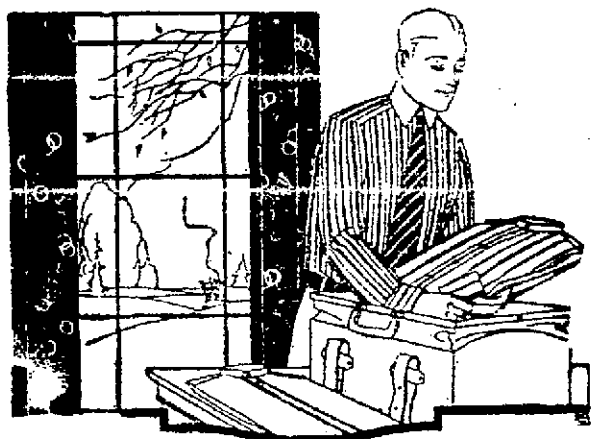

"Say, sergeant, I hate to ask for a day off when I've only been on the force a day," said "Slim," "but it's awful important." He was told to ask the chief. The chief was called out, and after one look at the girl, decided that the new patrolman's reason for asking a day off was very important indeed. It was granted forthwith.

They left at once for San Jose and were married for the second time. "And this time it is going to stick," said "Slim."

Yesterday morning the girl's father appeared at the police station and extended to his new son-in-law his official blessing.

SHIPYARD MEN'S PARLEY GOES ON

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Conflicting reports regarding the probable settlement of the shipyard strike were quieted this evening by statements from leaders at the two-day conference of union men and members of the California Metal Trades Association.

The position of the conference, it was announced, is that no definite announcement will be made until the questions being considered are decided one way or another. It was said unofficially by a man prominently concerned with the sessions that any statements that have been given out to the effect that the strike is nearly over or about to be settled are erroneous and but conjectures.

The conference is in progress and are proceeding satisfactorily," he said, "and as soon as any agreement is reached it will be made public through the proper sources."

The reasons given out for the calling off of the mass meeting planned for tomorrow afternoon, an action which started the rumors that the strike end was in sight, are that it was not considered advisable to bring conflicting opinions and expressions into the matter while the conference was pending. The mass meeting was called when it was considered impossible that any agreement could be reached and was sponsored by the six international presidents of the unions represented by the strikers.

Richmond Girl Easter Bride in Phoenix, Ariz.

RICHMOND, April 3.—Miss Ruth Rosier, pretty and popular girl of this city, is on her way to Phoenix, Arizona, to be the Easter bride of J. H. Smith, formerly of this city and now employed by the Standard Oil company at that place.

The wedding is to take place at the home of Miss Ruth Rosier's parents Sunday morning. After the ceremony the young couple are to go on a honeymoon and plan to make their home at Phoenix.

Miss Rosier is a graduate of the Richmond Union high school and commercial school in Oakland. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Rosier, 641 Twenty-first street. She has been employed as stenographer in the Oakland office of the Santa Fe.

The bride-to-be has been entertained and showered with gifts and congratulations by her host of friends for the past week.

MISS TAFT SEES NEW ERA'S DAWN

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—A new idealism, a new sympathy which may cause revolutions in the social and political structure of the country will be brought into politics by women voters, according to Miss Helen Taft, acting president of Bryn Mawr college, in a statement on the eve of the suffragists' long anticipated national victory.

"Men have been too much bound by traditional objections, and traditional difficulties," says Miss Taft. "Women will bring into politics a fresh point of view, fresh interests, and, in many lines, fresh gifts. They have better knowledge than the men on many of the problems which are going to come up within the next few years in the increasing paternalism of the government."

But before women can apply this "they must inform and educate themselves to overcome the handicap which generations of subordination to men's leadership has bred in them," she believes. It is a sex matter only so far as it concerns women's limited physical endurance, and Miss Taft feels that every other present limitation of women can be overcome by education and practical experience. As a woman dealing with administrative problems, Miss Taft says she has herself experienced the tendency to be too theoretical, and too little practical, and believes it to be almost a universal trait of women at present.

"Until women have been taught to stand on their own feet, to value their own achievement for what it is worth, to feel the responsibility a man feels of making good and working out his own salvation, I don't think that women will ever be politically effective. This is fundamental," she said. Miss Taft is here in the interests of the Bryn Mawr $2,000,000 endowment fund.

General Junk and Army in 72 Machines Carry 20 Tons

General Rubbish N. Junk made his first formal triumphal march down Broadway from the Oakland Technical High School, which had served as his headquarters for two weeks, last Friday afternoon twenty tons strong and finally called a halt on his army in front of the little Red Cross shop on Twelfth street. There he has camped ever since.

For two whole weeks salvage had been accumulating to such an extent under the management of Miss Helen L. Crandall, chairman of the Red Cross drive, that when the seventy-two machines fell into rank behind the Red Cross band and started down town they looked more like the push carts of New York's Ghetto than the 1920 students' favorite form of locomotion. Some were covered from top to bottom in crumpled with streamers of neckties, other machines sported brilliant red flannel shirts, mother's cast-off petticoats, sister's "jezz" hosiery and brother's army clothchoppers. In fact, on several of the cars were life-size dummies made out of old shoes and boots.

Sitting astride on many of the carriages were huge rag dolls completely dressed from bonnet to slipper in the donations of the students. Besides the wearing apparel there were old automobile tires, bicycle tires, false hair in great abundance, one set of false teeth, paper and magazines thousands of pounds of them, five bicycles, and last, but certainly not least, three wooden legs.

Mrs. Brady Woles, manager of the salvage shop, said more than 1000 neckties had been sold, and there was still about 500 women hats left.

JOHNSON WOMEN GATHER TUESDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—The first big women's Johnson rally for the San Francisco district will be held Tuesday evening in the Market street Johnson for President headquarters.

WOMEN PLAN TO GROW POTATOES

RICHMOND, April 3.—A campaign to produce home-grown potatoes in an effort to overcome the prevailing high price of this staple food is being inaugurated by the Richmond Housewives' League, it is announced by Mrs. Clara Wilson, president of the organization.

Residents of Richmond are being urged to plant potatoes on all vacant lots and ground not being used for other useful purposes. Many gardens have already been planted here, and potato plants are now well above the ground at many places, it is reported.

The potato boycott is being continued with the co-operation of members of the league and local grocers. The restaurant keepers are to be enlisted by a committee Monday.

Wallace Campaign Among Bay Cities

Former Lieutenant Governor A. J. Wallace of Los Angeles, Republican candidate for United States senator, was a visitor in Oakland yesterday. Wallace believes that Southern California is entitled to representation in the senate. To date there are two candidates from that section, the other resident being Edwin A. McEwen, who hails from Los Angeles. Wallace claims that the dry forces of the state are backing his candidacy. He does not expect the senatorial campaign to show much life until after the presidential primaries in May. Wallace will pass several days in the San Francisco bay region.

Dental Announcement

Dr. H. S. Downing, former manager for Dr. R. C. Anderson's Oakland office, is permanently associated with Dr. C. S. Ford, 1225 Broadway, over Owl Drug Co.

Personal attention given each patient. We practice in our office the latest and most improved painless methods known to dental science. We have no students to experiment on you, but do our own work. We solicit cases out of the ordinary, where others have failed.

Our NEW REPLACEMENT SYSTEM permits the restoration of missing teeth without the aid of plates or ordinary bridge work in every case where two or more sound natural teeth are left in the jaw. These teeth are natural in appearance, sanitary and are fixed permanently in the mouth and when once in place give the wearer the same comfort and service as good natural teeth.

All plates made by our system restore the natural lines of the face and duplicate your own teeth in size, color and appearance. Call and see us if you need dental work of any kind. Our prices are very reasonable and within the reach of all.

Our Minimum Prices. All Work Guaranteed.

Get Rid of Fat Where It Shows

Do you realize that nothing but good food and plenty of rest will build muscular energy and that you must eat and eat heartily in order to retain your strength?

Dieting weakens you and over-exercising tires you because the former robs the development of muscular energy and the latter consumes too much of it. That is why you find the old-fashioned method of fat reduction such a hardship. Why not get rid of your excess fat in the harmless, scientific, easy way by taking a harmless Marmola Prescription Tablet after each meal and at bedtime? Marmola Prescription Tablets are prepared in exact accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, are perfectly safe to use and have been used by hundreds of persons in this country and Europe with wonderful success. Within a short time you can be getting rid of two, three or four pounds of fat a week. No starvation diet or tiresome exercises are needed. You can be comfortable and you can enjoy the food you like and want. Even after taking many pounds there will be no flabbiness or wrinkles remaining, and you will feel 100% better. Marmola Prescription Tablets at 25¢ per case or they will be mailed to you in a plain wrapper and post-paid. If you send the price to the Marmola Company, 844 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and sluggish. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist a course of the famous Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water three times a day for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, can not injure, and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Ad-vertisement.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores. Known as "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus saving a lot of fuss. While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—Advertisement.

CANDIDATES FACE TESTS IN STRENGTH

By HAROLD D. JACOBS, United Press Staff Correspondent.
NEW YORK, April 3.—The coming week will be the most important of the pre-convention campaign to date, according to political observers, who expect for the first time to get a definite line on the present comparative strength of the various candidates for the presidential nomination of both major parties. The Republicans will hold State primaries and conventions as follows:

Monday — Michigan preferential primary (30 delegates); Rhode Island and convention (10 delegates). Tuesday — Wisconsin preferential and direct primaries (26 delegates); New York direct primaries (38 delegates). Wednesday — Georgia convention (18 delegates). Democratic primaries and conventions include: Monday — Michigan primary (30 delegates); New York primary (90 delegates); Wisconsin primary (26 delegates); Philippine Islands convention (6 delegates). Tuesday — North Carolina convention (24 delegates). There are thus 175 Republican and 176 Democratic delegates involved. So far Major General Leonard Wood has 57 delegates pledged to him, Governor Lowden has 12 and Senator Hiram Johnson has 2. According to the claims and admissions of campaign managers, the unpledged delegates added to this would make the complete line-up: Wood, 51; Lowden, 87; Judge Pritchard of North Carolina, 22; Governor Allen of Kansas, 20; Johnson, 2.

PLEADED TO HOOVER. The only delegates named for Hoover are three, instructed by New Hampshire Democrats to vote for the former food administrator at the San Francisco convention. The Democratic line-up is far less comprehensive. It shows: Instructed Delegates — Senator Robert Owen of Oklahoma, 20; William J. Bryan, 10; James W. Gerard, 10; Herbert Hoover, 3. Uninstructed Delegates — Arizona, 6; Iowa, 36; Maine, 12; Nevada, 6; New Hampshire, 5. Of these unpledged delegates, no one has undertaken to forecast their preference with any degree of accuracy. Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, however, is generally conceded to have the advantage in Maine and Nevada, giving him 18 possible delegates.

MCADOO'S CHANCES. William C. McAdoo is thought to have a good chance for Arizona's 6. But so far as the Democrats are concerned there appears to be nothing definite to date concerning any of their unpledged delegates' inclinations. How important the candidates themselves regard the Michigan primaries is shown by the intensive campaigns conducted there by them and their organizations. Michigan is looked upon as one of the pre-convention "pivotal" states. There are seven names on the Republican line, five on the Democratic and one on the Socialist ticket. Hoover is on both the Republican and Democratic ballots. Because of his previous refusal to designate his party affiliations, Hoover easily held the center of the stage this week by first aligning himself with the Republican party, then making plain he should refuse either a Democratic or third party nomination.

LOWDEN WINDING UP. Lowden is winding up his campaign in Michigan; Wood has finished there and transferred his activities to Illinois, and Johnson, after a final speech in Michigan tonight, will hurry back to his interrupted eastern campaign and open his drive for the 25 New Jersey delegates with a speech in Newark Monday night. The primaries are held in that state April 27. New York has been the big enigma this year as regards both Republican and Democratic nominees. It is the one state where no candidate's organization is making claims in a very loud voice.

MILLS BUDGET HAS WIDE RANGE

The budget for the $2,000,000 endowment fund for Mills College includes the erection of a recreation building and a dormitory hall to house 100 students, each to cost $200,000; a library building, to cost $125,000; a student infirmary, $100,000; languages building, $25,000; a faculty apartment house, $75,000; a small Greek Theater, $25,000, and erection of workmen's cottages to cost $10,000. Endowments for maintenance of buildings amount to $100,000, for the library $100,000, and for salaries $1,000,000. A power heating and power plant is provided for in a $40,000 appropriation.

Mrs. Thomas Mitchell Potter is chairman of the endowment fund central committee. Miss alumnae from all over California, Washington, D. C., New York and the Hawaiian Islands report that organization has been completed and are ready for the launching of the national campaign April 15. Headquarters in Oakland and Berkeley already have been opened at Hotel Oakland and Hotel Whitecourt, where committees are actively at work. Mrs. John Perline, who accompanied Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt to Honolulu, is working in the interests of Mills in the Islands. Congressmen and Mrs. Julius Kahn, Dr. Vernon Kellogg, President Guth of Goucher College are among the members of the Mills honor committee in Washington.

Hayward Couple Married in Berkeley

Friends of Mortimer Fischer and Marion Gentry in Hayward and Berkeley were surprised last evening with the announcement of the young people that they were married a week ago in Berkeley. Miss Gentry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gentry of Hayward, and Fischer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Fischer, also of that city. They will make their home in Oakland.

IDEAL OFFICIAL FOUND. LONDON, April 3.—Hitchin, Hertfordshire, boasts the ideal official. Declaring that he had very little to do now, local Food Controller Times asked that his salary be reduced from four pounds to two pounds weekly. Granted, thank fully.

HIGH PRICES FOR RELICS. LONDON, April 3.—Silver retained at $70 an ounce at an auction sale at Christie's recently. A pair of George II cream ewers, belonging to Lord Methuen's collection, of old English silver, realized this price, while a dredger, dated 1727, sold for $45 an ounce.

U. C. Bulletin Out On Summer Session BERKELEY, April 3.—The annual University of California summer session bulletin issued today by the university press is now available to prospective students of the intersection from May 10 to June 10 and of the summer session from June 21 to July 31. Complete information is contained in the bulletin. It may be obtained upon application to the Dean of the Summer Sessions, University of California.

REQUEST FOR DOG. LONDON, April 3.—"That he must be kept really nice and clean, and sleep in someone's bed" was a condition attaching to a bequest of a pet dog, plus $250 and $100 a year for the animal's keep. Four daughters of the testator had the option.

Boston Police Define 'Improper' Dancing. BOSTON, April 3.—"Any movement of the body suggestive of immorality." That's the official police definition of "improper dancing."

WOMAN'S JAIL FARE PROTEST ALARMS STREET

A woman's wild scream echoed through the corridors of the city hall yesterday afternoon. Citizens who were passing in and out stopped and a look of horror appeared on their faces.

"The brutal police are abusing some poor creature they have arrested," they muttered.

But in the desk sergeant's room the blase "cops" only grinned.

"Well, well, Delta Graham is out again," remarked the policemen, who knew a great deal about Delta. She has been arrested so often that the police have ceased to count the charges of "drunk" and "vagrancy" that have been preferred against her.

"Boo hoo," wailed Delta. "They have been cruel to me."

"How have they abused you, my dear woman?" asked a sympathetic citizen.

"They gave me beans to eat every day for a week, and they never once gave me any catsup to put on them," cried Delta.

WILL RADIUM AT LAST OPEN THE DOOR OF THE GREAT UNKNOWN?

If you are sick and want to Get Well and Keep Well, write for literature that tells How and Why this almost unknown and wonderful new element brings relief to so many sufferers from Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout, Neuritis, Neuralgia, Nervous Prostration, High Blood Pressure and diseases of the Stomach, Heart, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys and other ailments. You wear this Radio-Active Solar Pad day and night, receiving the Radio-Active Rays continuously into your system, causing a healthy circulation, overcoming sluggishness, throwing off impurities and restoring the tissues and nerves to a normal condition—and the next thing you know you are getting well.

Sold on a test proposition. You are thoroughly satisfied it is helping you before the appliance is yours. Nothing to do but wear it. No trouble or expense, and the most wonderful fact about the appliance is that it is sold so reasonable that it is within the reach of all, both rich and poor.

No matter how bad your ailment, or how long standing, we will be pleased to have you try it at our risk. For full information write today—not tomorrow. Radium Appliance Co., 1281 Bladbury Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

Electrical Lectures at Polytechnic High

Practical study in electricity, arranged for men who have a working knowledge of the subject and who may wish to polish up on the theoretical aspect of the problems that confront them, will be given in Oakland under the direction of the extension division of the University of California. The class will be instructed by Roy Cowles, assistant superintendent, electrical department, Pacific Gas & Electric company. The first lecture will be held at 7:30 p. m., Thursday evening at the Oakland Technical high school.

Be Young In Body, Mind and Looks Despite Your Years

How often you have wished that you could indulge in the strenuous exercise of our door sports with the vigor and enthusiasm of youth! But the end of the week finds you all in—you are tired, listless and lack the energy to go out for a vigorous walk or a round of the links—or any other exercise that requires much physical exertion. Many a man, even in his middle forties, has a vague feeling that he is "getting old"—and right at a time when he should be at his very best physically.

And he is growing old, not in the sense that the years are pressing heavily upon him—but in the sense that his vital forces are wasting away faster than Nature replaces the worn out tissues.

Thousands—yes millions—of people find themselves in this condition early in life. And there is no excuse for it. You can check that tendency to grow old. You can carry your youth with its vigor and enthusiasm into your 70's and 80's. But you must give Nature all the help you can. The best assistance you can find—assistance of a sound, constructive character is in the use of

LYKO

The Great General Tonic

It enriches the blood—gently stimulates heart, liver and kidneys to normal activity—brings back your pep, strength and mental vigor—chases away that tired, worn-out feeling and replaces it with a spirit of buoyancy.

LYKO is a distinctive preparation, scientifically correct in its combination of medicinal ingredients, and there's nothing more invigorating, more strengthening or more refreshing than LYKO for invalids, convalescents and run-down people of all conditions. Eighteen New Homes Will Start at Once in Highlands Tract

One of the homes just completed in Lakeshore Highlands, giving an idea of the exterior design and suggesting the high quality of workmanship and materials that is characteristic of the Leimert-built homes.

Affording a wonderful opportunity to those wishing to secure a modern, up-to-the-minute home in Oakland's finest residence park, the Walter H. Leimert Company announces the start of a second series of popular-priced homes in Lakeshore Highlands under the famous program of

"Every Five Days a New Home Starts"

As rapidly as these homes are completed they will be offered for sale—UNLESS PREVIOUSLY RESERVED.

The homes of this second series, planned to sell as low as $7500, will maintain the high standard of excellence in design and construction that characterized the first series just finished. The interiors have been carefully worked out to provide economy in furnishing and reducing the work of housekeeping to a minimum. Interior finish will be most artistic and those reserving a home now may make their own selection of wall coverings, finish and fixtures.

Whether you buy a home or a lot on which to build later you are buying in one of the finest residence parks ever placed on sale in the West. You are securing the highest type of development work—permanent restrictions so the value of your property can never be destroyed by an undesirable class of buildings in your neighborhood—you are located close to schools—you have 36-minute transportation to San Francisco—you are 10 minutes from Fourteenth and Broadway—Lakeside Park and Lake Merritt are within easy walking distance—the finest boulevard in the city serves as the approach to your property.

No residence district could offer you more than Lakeshore Highlands. There is no property with more natural beauties and where prices or terms are more reasonable for the class of property being sold.

Whether you want a home or a home-site—now is the time to make your selection.

From San Francisco take the Lakeshore train at the Bay Route dock, and get off at Lakeshore Avenue. From Oakland take the Lakeshore Avenue carline or drive out Lakeshore Avenue to the main entrance to Lakeshore Highlands—at Lakeshore Avenue and Mandana Boulevard.

Automobiles are at your service if you telephone the office.

Mrs. Charles Chaplin evidently does not propose to stand for any more of her husband's funny business.

It is getting so that when the Housewives' League has a quiet meeting a lot of folks feel cheated.

The fighting at Aldershot, we read, was occasioned when the Reds seized a benzine plant. Possible they wished to clean their clothes.

Women who follow the example of fashion show models will wear French heels with their bathing suits, which means that much more will be worn this season than last.

THE ROOSTER.

He is only a white leghorn rooster. But his lungs, they are fashioned of tin. And the cries that he raises are born of blue blazes. With anguish and choruses mixed in.

As I say, he is only a rooster. But his hours they are scandalous and late. This his one great delight to make raucous the night. And to waken the snail and sedate.

aw lay off

You've been told he is only a rooster. And a sort of an orchestra, too. Yet from drum to bassoon he is all out of tune. And he never knows when he is through.

Now 'tis plain he is only a rooster. A creature of feathers and clutter. He'll call him a blessing when served up with dressing. He graces my plate or my platter.

Dear Sir: Speaking of the need of Americanization, there is the man who recommended the "Lin Collin" cafe as a good place to eat and steered me to the "Lincoln Restaurant."—Kef.

"No Medicine" Methods For Improving Health

Many abnormal conditions of the human body can be corrected without the use of medicine—and many people prefer this method of treatment. The necessary appliances may be obtained at an Owl Drug Store and each of them represent the best thought of experts who have specialized on a particular article for a particular purpose.

Vibration

It is a well established fact that vibration or a mechanical massage stimulates the flow of blood. Many conditions, particularly where congestion is the cause of the trouble, respond to this stimulation which is a direct aid to Nature in the treatment of rheumatism, lumbago, indigestion, scalp trouble, etc. Vibration has a soothing effect upon the nervous system because it helps to create relaxation. It is a great beauty aid, for it promotes skin health.

The Star Vibrator at $5 makes it possible for every home to benefit by the mechanical massage treatment for many ills.

Internal Baths

Clearing out the lower intestine with a warm water bath or flushing is the modern method for the treatment of constipation and the many ills that come from it. The elimination of the pernicious and poisonous waste which is apt to collect there gives Nature a chance to work unhampered. Ask for FREE educational booklet in any Owl Store.

The J. B. L. Cascade Syringe gives the perfect "internal" bath. Competent salespeople in any Owl Drug Store will explain its use.

Silk Elastic Supports

Sprained ankles, weak knees, lame joints, etc., are often greatly relieved with the use of silk elastic supports which hold the afflicted parts in the proper position. In serious cases they are an absolute necessity. In mild cases they prevent serious results.

Silk Elastic Knee Caps $4.00 each
Silk Elastic Anklets $4.00 each
Silk Elastic Hose (three-quarters) $4.00 each Silk Elastic Leggings $4.00
Silk Elastic Wrists $1.50 each

Special orders given preferred attention.

Body Braces

A straight body is one of the requisites for continued good health. There can be no question as to the evil results of round and drooping shoulders, flat chests and protruding abdomens. The Imperial Health Brace is a wonderful body straightener and is recommended by physicians and physical culturists everywhere. Sizes for men, women and children. Price $5.00. You can get intelligent, helpful information at any Owl Drug Store.

Trusses

The Owl Drug Stores handle only the very best scientifically constructed trusses for men, women and children.

Elastic Trusses: Single $2.00, Double $3.50
Spring Trusses from $3.50 to $7.00

Abdominal Supports

Silk Abdominal Supports $6.00
Linen Abdominal Supports $5.50
Mercerized Abdominal Supports $5.00

SALVATION ARMY TO BETTER HOME

One of the things to be accomplished in the financial campaign of the Salvation Army's home service program, May 10 to 20, will be the financing of the Army's home for boys and girls at Linton, Sonoma county.

This home, which was established nearly fifteen years ago, accommodates 250 boys and girls ranging from a few months up to 16 and 17 years of age. Of this number thirteen at present are registered from Alameda county.

This home is perhaps one of the most unusual social undertakings to be found anywhere. The home itself comprises 647 acres devoted to diversified farming. Its buildings include a large administration building, fourteen cottages for boys, officers and employees, a hospital, a gymnasium, a rural school, a dairy barn, poultry yard and numerous other features.

The children at the home are either wards of courts, delinquent children, abandoned children or orphans.

At Linton the boys and girls go about their routine duties in an orderly way, free from the military domination so frequently in evidence in institutional life.

The boys are taught all the varied kinds of agriculture in addition to their school work and their interest is kept up through the medium of contests and prizes.

The girls are taught all the essentials of domestic science and are given an opportunity to apply their theories in the management of the home.

Urges Nation to Back Reclamation Project

LOS ANGELES, April 3.—Efforts to obtain federal aid for the $250,000 Colorado river reclamation project will meet with success only when the people of the "center" United States realize that "the enterprise is equal in importance with the building of the Panama canal."

Such was the assertion today by Governor Simon Bamberger of Utah in an address before the closing session of the League of the Southwest.

Governor Bamberger asserted that all the good intentions expressed here and all the fine projects presented here affect the people of the entire United States and not the people of the southwest alone.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Mrs. Agnes Hunter, charged with having shot and wounded her husband, William H. Hunter, in the lobby of the Palace hotel last November, today appeared before Superior Judge Michael Roche and had her second trial on the charge continued until Monday. A jury in Judge Roche's court was unable to agree on a verdict in the first trial.

"The Voices"

A new novel by Mrs. L. Lowenbach, author of "A Woman's Crime" and the "Irresistible Current."

An interesting story of a California girl "born with a mission," university trained, a stenographer whose fascinating adventures in romance and industrial life are of unusual interest. It has been favorably received by the Chronicle, Bulletin, Overland Monthly, Wasp, Oakland Tribune, and other publications.

SIERRA CLUB JULY ROUTE DETERMINED

BERKELEY. April 3.—In the rugged country of the south fork of the San Joaquin river and the middle fork of the Kings river, situated in one of the most picturesque sections of the high Sierras, will the members of the Sierra club, California's leading outdoor organization, travel this summer on the annual trip.

Plans for the yearly mountain trip of the club have just been announced by the president, Professor William F. Cody, of Berkeley, and William H. Colby, former president of the club, chairman of this year's outing committee. Because the trip is recognized as a strenuous one only those capable of hard hiking are encouraged to go.

CYCLIST LEAPS HEADLONG FROM BLAZING WHEEL

While riding his motorcycle down Franklin street last night, Carl Smith of Hayward suddenly discovered that his back was on fire. Further investigation showed that not only his back was burning but that his motorcycle was on fire. He let go of the handlebars and pitched headlong into a fire alarm station at the corner of Eighteenth and Franklin streets.

The alarm brought out the entire Twentyninth apparatus of the Oakland fire department, including three trucks and a hose car.

MARY PICKFORD SATISFIED SHE HAS DONE RIGHT

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEADER WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
LOS ANGELES, April 1.—After efforts to interview Mary Pickford regarding the possibility of the attorney general of Nevada bringing suit to set aside her decree of divorce from Owen Moore had failed, her manager, F. E. Benson, made the following statement:
"Miss Pickford has absolutely nothing to say and nothing to conceal. She has made all the statements she intends to make and wishes to be left in peace. She hasn't time to answer all these foolish questions of newspapermen."
Asked what Miss Pickford's course of action would be, in case her divorce is set aside, Benson said:
"We will cross that bridge when we come to it. It is up to the court to prove that Miss Pickford's divorce was obtained through fraud. Of course she would do what any decent woman would do under the circumstances."
Miss Pickford would have to live apart from Douglas Fairbanks if the decree were set aside, would she not?" he was asked.
"I would hate to think that such a question would ever arise. She feels she has done the right thing and all she wants is to be happy."
Superior Judge Paul J. McCormick, former divorce trial judge, declared it was his opinion that if Mary Pickford's divorce is declared void, her marriage to Douglas Fairbanks is illegal and that they would have to quit living together.
When asked for a statement, Owen Moore said:
"Personally I don't think anything would come of it. They're married and that's all there is to it. It's all over and it would be best for all of us to have it forgotten."

Start Campaign to Change City Charter

With the announcement this week that a number of changes in the city charter, intended to provide further protection for civil service employees, will be placed before the people at the August election, plans are now being completed by the Oakland Civil Service Employees' Association for an energetic campaign in their behalf.
As the charter now stands in its provisions relating to municipal employees, there are many vague and indefinite passages, according to the officials of the association, and the amendments under consideration are expected to clear these up and to secure to city workers further safeguards for their service.
The association has just completed arrangements to take over a local theater on Thursday, April 15, for a special performance to raise funds for the cause. Arrangements for the benefit are in the hands of a committee comprising Henry F. W. Lamb, W. H. Dwyer, Robert Moulde, F. Newman, Sidney Wilson, Arthur Davis and John Barry.

War Relics Gathered on Battlefields To Be Featured at Shriners' Carnival

Veteran From Princess Pat Regiment Has Charge of Collection.

Scarcely has the uniform of the Princess Pat regiment of Canada been seen in Oakland. This week, however, Lewis Lance and his wife, Gladys, will be seen in that uniform on the streets. They are with the free war exhibit with the big Clarence A. Wortham shows, which will stage the Shriners' carnival at the circus grounds.
When the war broke out Lance and his wife were in North Dakota. Lance went across the Canadian line to enlist and his wife went to relatives in the west.
Four years he was in the trenches. Then he was wounded and invalided from one hospital to another, every move being to get him to a base hospital in this country.
When he finally reached America he had difficulty in finding his wife. A delayed message from the Canadian war office told Mrs. Lance that her husband was in the general hospital at Halifax, drawing his money, she had a hunch she went to Halifax to find her soldier husband. She reached there almost penniless, and to find that he had come to Montreal. She went there. The trip took her last money. Lance, meanwhile, had gone to Ottawa.
Then Lance had been to Boston looking for her. In Haverhill, Mass., he passed the free exhibit that is now with the Wortham shows. He went in and asked if there was a job for him. He was engaged and became a lecturer.
The next day the papers carried a picture of the veteran and it fell under the eye of his wife.
She reached Haverhill to discover that the war exhibit had gone to Hartford. On the way to Hartford she lost her trunk. In it was all her money she had except fifteen cents, so she obtained employment in a restaurant. Next morning she donned her apron for a busy lunch hour. When she was in the dressing room a man came in and sat at one of the tables. He was studying the bill of fare when the girl asked:
"What will you have, sir?"
Then for fifteen minutes neither could speak. He was Lewis Lance, her husband. They were re-united, and have been with the free war exhibit ever since.
The shows will stage the Shriners' Spring carnival at Forty-fifth street and San Pablo. They had to take the circus grounds because there is none other nearer the city large enough to accommodate the fifty-five car amusement city.
All the newspaper carrier boys and members of Alameda county have been invited to attend the opening Monday evening. The newsboys are to march in the Shriners big parade after which they are to be taken to the circus free. The boys are to meet at the corner of Thirteenth and Harrison streets, the new Shriners' headquarters, at 6:30 Monday night.

Richmond Elks to Install New Officers

RICHMOND, April 1.—Installation of the newly elected officers of Richmond Lodge No. 1251, B. P. O. Elks, is scheduled for tomorrow evening.

LEWIS LANCE and his wife, GLADYS OF PRINCESS PAT fame, who will be in Oakland during the coming week in the uniform of the regiment.

SHRINERS, ATTENTION!

Patrol, band, drum and bugle corps and all Nobles are to meet at 6:45 P. M. Monday evening, April 5, at the new Ashmead Temple, Thirteenth and Harrison streets, for parade and formal opening of Shriners' Spring Carnival.

Shots by Raiders Halt Vallejo Game

VALLEJO, April 3.—A near-riot occurred late today in the navy yard here when over fifty men attempted to escape the military police during a read upon a gambling game. Shots were fired in the air and several were slightly injured. Two men escaped by jumping into the water and swimming ashore. Twenty-seven were arrested.
The men were shooting craps during work hours.

Hoover G. O. P. Move Wins State, Claim

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Hoover headquarters here issued an optimistic statement today declaring that "the endorsement by Herbert Hoover of the Republican ticket of delegates in this state has brought to his support a powerful alignment of Republican voters who have hesitated heretofore to come out strong for Hoover until satisfied he would accept the Republican nomination."
The statement over the name of Warren Gregory points to the "very significant endorsement of the Hoover ticket by the Vol. County Republican central committee" as the "first organized result of Hoover's statement."
Newspaper supporters to the number of nearly 100 have been enlisted for Hoover, Gregory says.

Contractor Shoots Hired Man Fatally

SEATTLE, April 3.—Ingram Rader, a logging contractor of Lake Forest Park, this afternoon shot and fatally wounded Bud L. Curtis, an employee, in a fight. Then he raced with death in a desperate effort to reach the city hospital seven miles away before his victim died. Curtis died half an hour after he reached the hospital. Rader gave himself up to the police and was locked in this county jail.
The wife of Curtis was a witness of the fight that terminated in the shooting of her husband. Curtis was shot twice.

COTTON PROSECUTIONS LOOM

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Federal prosecution of an alleged combine of Georgia cotton dealers to reduce the price of cotton may be the result of an investigation by the department of justice.

Piedmont Parlor, No. 120, Native Sons of the Golden West, will hold its thirty-second anniversary and banquet and welcome home reception to be given in honor of its ex-service members, on Thursday evening at the Hotel Oakland. Piedmont Parlor's service flag contains 51 stars including one of gold in memory of Frank M. Kelly, who died en route, and was buried at sea. Resolutions will be read and adopted in tribute to the memory of two of the parlor's dead members who were in the service, Frank M. Kelly and Alfred Demartini.

WILL SHOW WILD FLORA OF STATE

A number of attractive special features are being arranged for the opening of the sixth annual state wild flower exhibit at the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, April 22 to 23. Mrs. Bertha M. Rice, who is in charge of the show, announced yesterday that this year's exhibit will surpass all previous ones both in quality and quantity of the wild flowers and that the special features will prove particularly interesting.

John MacLaren, superintendent of the Golden Gate Park, has arranged to exhibit a complete collection of trees and shrubs.

Another feature will be an exhibition of California butterflies, the property of J. D. Graves of Berkeley. The exhibit covers every known species of butterfly of this state and will also show the particular wild flower that various types of butterfly live on.

The United States Forestry Department and the Forestry Departments of the University of California and Stanford University are all combining to insure the success of the coming show.

Beautiful Complexions!

Easily and Quickly Attained by Following Simple Rules and Using Home Made Helps

By Madame Mares

THERE are but very few women whose skins are so hopelessly coarse as to be beyond the help of some of the tried and tested home mixed toilet preparations given below. Of course even such wonderful helps as these are, can accomplish but little for the woman who never exercises by even so much as a walk, or who fills her stomach daily with an over supply of rich foods. But all others may use these suggestions with full confidence of securing the results promised.

For a Vanishing Cream

Get from your druggist two ounces of cold cream and mix with one tablespoonful of glycerine in half a pint of water. The rich cream which is the result makes the skin plump and vigorous, almost baby-like, and as a result hundreds of wrinkles disappear in a very few days. But this one is especially for blemishes, freckles, muddy and mallow skin. You can positively assure yourself in advance that with the formula given below you are going to have a complexion of surpassing beauty. To one ounce of zinc oxide, costing about fifty cents at any drug store, add two tablespoonfuls of glycerine and mix in a pint of water. You will see a tremendous difference in your complexion in a very few days.

A Home-Made Hair Tonic

After using this simple and remarkable application for a short time you will find a tremendous difference in the length of your hair. It will be glossy, full of life, and it will stop falling. The thin spots will fill out. To a half pint of water and a half pint of bay rum add one ounce of beta quinol, obtained from the drug store for about half a dollar. This makes over a pint of this remarkable hair tonic. You may use a full pint of which—bowl if you prefer it instead of the water and bay rum.

Ever Hear of Dissolving Blackheads?

You will never get rid of blackheads by pinching them, or by face-scrubbing. Here is a remarkable method, instantly successful. Sprinkle some norexin on a wet cloth. Then rub the blackheads with this for a few moments. You will find that they will all vanish very quickly. Norexin is the only thing that will do this. Any druggist can supply you with the norexin for fifty cents.

And Here is Your Shampoo

Filmy secretions which form on the scalp, and dandruff scales, are all removed in remarkable fashion by eggol. Dissolve a teaspoonful of this in half a cup of water. This gives a glorious lather, very shampoo and leaves the hair silky. For twenty-five cents you can get enough eggol for over a dozen head-washes. Soap contain oil-consuming alkali which should be avoided.

A Hair Remover Used Like a Shave Lotion

You'll see how wonderfully easy it is to get rid of any superfluous hairs by simply moistening them with eggol solution. It is almost magic. The hairs just dissolve away and the skin is left smooth and white—no red or irritated spot to tell that you used anything to remove the hairs.

This comes usually in original bottles selling for a dollar, and it is not advisable to use a cheap imitation.

HOWARD AND NINETEEN OAKS LEAVE FOR SOUTH TONIGHT

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA TRACKSTERS DEFEAT ILLINOIS TEAM BY A SCORE OF 74-66

CARL HOLLING WILL PITCH THE OPENER AGAINST SERAPHS

Lambert, Russell, Swarz, Paul are farmed to Blankenship's Tacoma Club.

By EDDIE MURPHY

Del Howard opened the gate last night and out jumped four little ball-players—Lambert, Swarz, Russell and Paul. The first three are pitchers, while Paul is an infielder from San Jose. The quartet will leave for Tacoma tomorrow night to join Cliff Blankenship's gang, and Mister Jackson, another Oakland recruit, will probably join them. Russell and Swarz had difficulty in locating the plate with their southpaw shoots, while Lambert's principal weakness was fielding bunts. With these releases the Oakland squad has been reduced to nineteen men and the entire gang will leave on the Owl for Los Angeles tonight, where they will hook up with the Seraphs Tuesday afternoon in the opening battle of the season. The way Foreman Howard felt last night, the Oaks will line-up as follows:

LINE-UP:
Pitcher, Carl Holling.
First base, Del Howard.
Second base, Paul.
Third base, Russell.
Fourth base, Lambert.
Infielders, Swarz, Jackson.
Outfielders, [names obscured].

After the wonderful showing against the Seraphs last night, Carl Holling will be given the nod today in the second game. Both pitchers are right on edge and will be expected to be successful at the both ends of the bat. Holling has a change of pace now that he never before and with all his mad stuff should be nothing short of a sensation this morning. Tacon is an avowed pitcher and has been as well as his right arm and he is expected to be a consistent winner.

Claude Mitchell is going to be out-trusted with the short-stopping job. Claude and young Giffard have been playing it out for the past month and the local fans will be glad to see the former take a chance to show his stuff. Mitchell is in the south and his many boosters down there would be glad to see him. Mitchell is a reliable man and he is expected to be a consistent winner.

Take a Look at the Wrecking Crew

That wrecking crew of the Oaks should have this summer. It is the toughest looking combination in the league. With Lamb, the best waiter in the P. C., leading off and Rolfe Zeller, a lefty, batting second, the Oaks have a chance to win. Lamb is a mule and they are going to back him up. The complete roster follows:

Stanford Defeats Gt. Western Power

Stanford University baseball team defeated the Great Western Power team at the Coast League grounds yesterday afternoon by a score of 5 to 0. The local crowd did not like the pitch. The score:

Alexander, Seaton Afternoon Battery

Tom Seaton, for the Oaks, and Grover Alexander, for the Cubs, will be the pitchers in this afternoon's game at Recreation park, San Francisco. In the morning Spalding will work for the Oaks against the Cubs.

Paskert Barred by President McCarthy

George H. Paskert, mayor of the city of San Francisco, has been barred from the city of San Francisco by President McCarthy. Paskert is a member of the city of San Francisco and has been barred from the city of San Francisco by President McCarthy.

Junior Bruins Beat the Farm In Track Meet

Beat the Farm In Track Meet

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, April 2.—The California Freshmen took an easy victory from the Davis Farm track men on the California Oval this morning when the first year men of the Blue and Gold won by the score of 74-66. The Davis Farm men displayed nothing at all on the track, the only first places recorded for them coming with the pole vault, javelin and relay. California Freshmen walked home one-two, three in many events and although no remarkable times were being set, their appearance gives them a wonderfully good chance against the Stanford Freshmen whom they meet in the annual dual meet at Stanford next Saturday.

100 yard dash—Won by West (Fresh), second, Shattuck (Fresh), third, Crawford (Davis). Time 4:47.
100 yard dash—Won by Cole (Fresh), second, Grant (Fresh), third, VanSant (Fresh). Time 10:12.
400 yard dash—Won by Whiteside (Fresh), second, Grant (Fresh), third, Incent (Fresh). Time 2:32.

Relay—Won by Davis Farm. Time 1:54.

SPRINT LOSER MULE

Pesky Sprot lost the mile he had been expected to win when he was beaten in the home stretch. Pesky came back strong in the 800 and won from the trio of crack Illinois runners, setting the fastest time for the coast this season in 1:58. The relay event of the day and night only won by a matter of two feet when Henderson won out from Spink in the home stretch. Jack Merchant was the high score man of the day winning the javelin throw and hammer throw, taking second in the broad jump and third in the shot put. Capt. Robert Emery did the best work for Illinois, taking second in the 100 yard dash and second in the 220.

CHRISTIE'S MEN WIN RELAY; 880 EVENT ANNEXED BY SPROTT

Relay Race, ast on Program, Decides Meet in Favor of the Bruins

By DOUG MONTELL

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, April 3.—The University of California track team took honors in the dual meet on the California campus this afternoon from the University of Illinois by the score of 74-66 in what is said by track authorities to have been the most exciting track meet seen on the Pacific Coast since 1910. The meet was a close affair from start to finish and was only won by the relay. This relay staged the most thrills of an eventful day and the packed bleachers gave vent to their pent-up enthusiasm as Henderson of California finished a matter of two feet ahead of Spink of Illinois in the last lap of the nip-and-tuck mile relay.

California had been hoped for a win by more than she did and the day was full of surprises, reversals of fate and all that sort of thing. One minute the Bruins were leading and the next the Illinois side was in the lead. The Bruins were expected to come home a winner and in the next breath the Bruins were selling themselves as an unexpected win in an event looked like on the Illinois side of the fence. This it went all afternoon with the lead swinging back and forth first one side ahead and then another. As the day wore on the score came to a point of 1-1, there the Bruins saved face and then came back to win the mile relay. Jack Merchant was the high score man of the day winning the javelin throw and hammer throw, taking second in the broad jump and third in the shot put. Capt. Robert Emery did the best work for Illinois, taking second in the 100 yard dash and second in the 220.

Jack Johnson Will Fight Man and Bull in Ring

SAN DIEGO, April 2.—"It's the same old Jack Johnson with the same golden smile. And he looks as good as he did five years ago, when I last saw him."

So said Harry Woodbury, local promoter, when he saw Johnson from Mexico City this afternoon. Woodbury will referee a bout at the six-man bull ring tomorrow night between Jack Johnson and Pete Jackson, champion heavyweight.

The mill will be a six-round affair and will probably be taken, as Jackson's name is not a crowd puller. Johnson is only seven or eight rounds above his opponent.

He tips the scales at 220. He does not show any signs of dissipation, however, declares Woodbury. Following the boxing bout, Johnson will don ruffled necktie, take his sword in hand and officiate as matador at a bull fight.

Within a month, Johnson declared today, he will be in the United States. He says he is awaiting the arrival of some officials from Mexico City before crossing. He would not commit himself further.

Mrs. Johnson, his white wife, is in Mexico with him today. She has been across the border into the United States.

Chicago Cubs Win From San Francisco in Free Hitting Game

The Cubs won a 6-4 free-hitting game from the San Francisco Giants yesterday afternoon at Recreation park. The game was a free-hitting game, with no pitcher's mound, and the Cubs won by a score of 6 to 4. The game was played at Recreation park and the Cubs won by a score of 6 to 4.

Francis Ouimet in Golf Semi-Finals

PINEBROOK, N. C., April 2.—Francis Ouimet won his way to the semi-final round in the North-South annual golf championship today, beating Joe Vets of Kentucky, 3 and 2.

P. C. Newton, the Massachusetts team captain, lost to Sam Graham of Greenville, 3 and 2. The other first division results were:

Harold Weaver of Ipswich beat Elsworth Augustus of Cleveland, 2 and 1.
G. T. Beckenham, St. Louis, beat F. S. Danforth of North York, 3 and 2.

STATIONERY LEAGUE

On the San Francisco stationery league last night the Edgar H. Barber team led the Pacific team in their second match game in the Pacific Stationery League. This now makes it 20-0 between these two teams. The Pacific team has won 20 games on the same league next week. The Pacific team will play the San Francisco team on the same league next week. HOUSEWIVES TO FEATURE OPEN FORUM

How produce may be distributed this summer in Oakland directly to the consumer will be considered Monday afternoon by the Oakland State Housewives' League. Jack Rohan, who has offered free sidewalk market space and service to farmers who will sell fruits and vegetables direct to the housewives, will be the speaker. An open forum will be a feature of the program. The league will have a committee at the hearing before the railroad commission of the application of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company for increase in rates. The league is protesting the petition of the company. The Oakland State Housewives' League meets in the council chambers of the city hall on the first and third Mondays of each month. All women interested in the fight to bring living costs down are urged to join. Mrs. A. T. Kalas is president. Tokyo has thirty daily newspapers. Borneo has no tigers.

The World-Famous Masterpiece "Christ On Calvary"

Is now on exhibition in the sales-rooms of the Ashby Furniture Co.

South Berkeley

This picture is by Franz A. Dundahl, author of many world-renowned paintings of Biblical scenes, and ranks with the masterpieces of ancient productions.

The painting is nine feet by fourteen feet and depicts as few paintings do "The Crucifixion," and has been seen and admired, it is estimated, by more than thirty million people.

We have secured for a very short time this wonderful production to give our patrons an opportunity of seeing it, and you are cordially invited to avail yourself of this opportunity.

Estimated Value of Painting $135,000

To the Members of the Alaska Fishermen's Union

Confronted with a possible loss of the season's employment by all members of the Alaska Fishermen's Union on account of the meeting at Headquarters held on April 2, 1920, refusing to take a secret ballot on the proposition offered by the companies and favorably recommended by the Committee of the Union, I called in members of the Executive Board of the International Seamen's Union of America and the executive officers of the District Unions for consultation.

The unanimous decision arrived at was that in conformity to union law and the well established principle of the American Federation of Labor a secret vote must be taken on the offer of the companies.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as executive officer of the Alaska Fishermen's Union and by and with the advice and consent of the officers of the International Seamen's Union of America, I hereby declare that a secret ballot be taken on the offer of the companies which is an increase of twenty-six per cent over last year's schedule.

This ballot to be taken Sunday, April 4, 1920, at the Hall of the Alaska Fishermen's Union, 49 Clay Street, San Francisco, California, beginning at 10 A. M. and closing at 5 P. M.

I. N. HYLEN,
Secretary Alaska Fishermen's Union

San Francisco, California, April 3rd, 1920.

Women of Alameda County and Their Work

Increased Dues Problem Is Waiting for Solution By Federation Convention

By EDNA B. KINARD

The high cost of "clubbing" will be the paramount subject when the committee on revision of constitution and by-laws presents its report to the Nineteenth Annual Convention, California Federation of Women's Clubs, in Sacramento, California, this week.

There is bound to be some objection to a fifteen-cent yearly tax, but how seriously that objection will be voiced remains for the convention to determine. Whether the housewives' campaign to reduce the high cost of living will find reflection in the state meeting has not been prophesied. It is that to perform work efficiently and well and to keep dignity, a larger treasure chest must be forthcoming another year. As the federation does not engage in business or industry the increase in the dues seems the only possible means of obtaining a larger income.

The project of holding biennial rather than annual conventions is another serious subject which will be brought forward for action. This suggestion comes from the Northern District and finds a strong support throughout the state. The General Federation has demonstrated for it.

Talk and Music Program

Mrs. Claude Leech, president of Alameda District, C. F. W. C., will be the special guest of the Twentieth Century Club on Tuesday, sharing with the Club Choral the program of the afternoon. Miss Clara Freuler is leader of this interesting group of musicians. Those who will contribute solo numbers are: Miss Freuler, Mrs. Harold S. Johnson, Mrs. Clarence Page, Miss Jean Wastie, Mrs. Lewis Kistler, Mrs. Norman L. Larson is the choral accompanist.

DR. PEIXOTTO WILL BE LUNCHEON SPEAKER
"Woman's Work in the Home and Business" will be the subject for the address which Dr. Jessica Peixotto, professor of social economics in the University of California, will give tomorrow night at the Monday dinner of the National League for Women's Service, in San Francisco. Dr. Peixotto has given special attention to the economic problems of the home-maker and business woman and will have some interesting things to tell her auditors.

WOMAN THEATRE MANAGER TO TALK

Miss Helen Kimball, has the unique honor of being the only woman manager of a moving picture house in Oakland. It is a large theater which is under her control and one which offers an interesting study to those interested in the business of social work. Miss Kimball will be the speaker before the Oakland Professional and Business Club at the Thursday Downtown luncheon this week.

The ranks of the club are rapidly

Entertainments For Helen Taft To Mark Week

Miss Helen Taft, the younger college executive in the United States and acting president of Bryn Mawr, is leading intense interest to entertain this week and especially some of the most notable functions. Although hurriedly arranged, the dinner which the California Branch, Association of Collegiate Alumnae, will give on Tuesday evening at Hotel Bellevue will be perhaps the most brilliant entertainment of the week. The dinner is to be not a feminine party. Husbands, friends and students share in the compliment. Miss Taft will discuss the "Problems of a Woman's College and Its Endowment." General arrangements for the college women's dinner have been given over to Mrs. Jesse Steinbart. Miss Harriet Bradford will serve as toastmistress.

Mills College To Entertain Lakeview Club

Lakeview Club has a habit of doing the unusual. Tomorrow the members will be the guests of Mills College the young women of the domestic science club in the home economy department serving luncheon, the faculty and students later entertaining them with music, dance and speeches.

With all the pleasure, however, serious matters are not to be overlooked. There is the business of the election of a nominating committee to be attended to, and election of delegates to the district convention C. F. W. C., to be made.

August Vollmer, chief of police in Berkeley, will be the speaker at the educational forum of Oakland Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations in Chabot hall Tuesday. A short play will be presented under the recreation department of Oakland as part of the program. Musical numbers will be rendered by Mrs. C. Hansen and Mitchell Allen with Mrs. E. P. Cutting and Miss Selma MacIntyre, the accompanists.

The day is in charge of Mrs. L. E. Phillips, chairman juvenile court and probation; and Mrs. G. L. Zee, chairman of recreation. The public is invited.

reaching toward the 10% membership mark. It has been agreed that only women actively engaged in a profession or responsible for their own desk in business shall be eligible to affiliate.

April will take the annual convention, Alameda District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, to Alameda, where brilliant plans are being made by the Adelphi Club and the Reseach Club, of which MRS. J. A. LEWIS is president, for the entertainment of the several hundred delegates. Mrs. is shown.—Boye photo for Keystone Service.

Clubs Will Elect Officers

Elections are agitating the minds of local club women this week with Eboli on Tuesday and the Oakland Club on Wednesday giving over the day to matters political.

The utmost harmony prevails in Eboli where an official ticket quite to the liking of the large membership will go through unanimously. Mrs. Minna McCauley, who has served the Harrison street organization graciously and well for a twelve months is retiring, refusing to consider a second term. As her successor Mrs. Frederick Jewell Laird, prominently known in D. A. R. circles, has been named. Other candidates are: Vice presidents, Mrs. William Nat Friend, Mrs. William R. Davis; recording secretary, Miss Winifred Bangs; financial secretary, Mrs. E. H. Steele; treasurer, Miss Mary C. Heaton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frank E. Hinkley; secretary of publications, Mrs. E. A. Forrester; general courier, Dr. Carr S. Aldrich; membership committee, Mrs. George C. Davis, Mrs. Linville Lee Hotchkiss, Mrs. John M. Scotch-ter, Miss Mary C. McClees, Mrs. Giles H. Gray. Election tellers will be Mrs. Frank Avery, Mrs. George Hall, Mrs. W. E. Fites.

An "In Memoriam" is included as a part of the program of the annual meeting of Eboli. The ceremony in honor of those who have passed away during the present year will be conducted on Tuesday by Mrs. Charles Woodbury. The Oakland Club does not easily settle its political tangle on Wednesday. It is this date, however, that marks the filing of the nomination ballots. The ten women receiving the highest number of votes become the candidates who will be voted upon in May. Although Mrs. Charles Taber has been conceded the high place on the ticket, there has been a movement to "rescue" Miss Theresa Russell, the president's chair. Miss Russell, however, definitely and emphatically refuses to countenance the action of her friends and declares that should such a campaign result in her being elected her resignation must follow.

Community Property to Be Live Issue

Alameda county women do not intend to permit the assembly to set a foothold in their territory or capture allies who will back them in the community property referendum fight. The organized women are claiming all the allies themselves. With a state election when the people of California will express themselves in the rightness of community property legislation many moons away, county and cities and hamlets are being thoroughly organized into as efficient a machine as the political machines of the nation ever conceived. Not party but principle, this battle the women assert.

Mrs. Frank G. Law last week was named Alameda county chairman to promote the fight against the referendum. Her appointment came from Mrs. Albert E. Carter of this city. Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Law has also named Mrs. Minna McCauley, retiring president of Eboli, to direct the campaign in Oakland and Mrs. Ida Blockman, chairman in Berkeley. Mrs. Law announces that with the coming month organization will be perfected in Livermore and Pleasanton.

Mrs. Grace Brown of Ann Arbor, Mich., editor of the Michigan Club Bulletin, official organ of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs, has been appointed one of the state managers of the Michigan campaign of Senator Hiram Johnson as the Republican nominee for President.

Stunning Print Exhibition on At the Gallery On Lake Merritt

By LAURA BRIDE POWERS

The Oakland Art Gallery has the distinction of offering to the lovers of art about the bay an exhibition of prints that give promise of two weeks of rare aesthetic joy to the se-who-care. The exhibition comes to us from the east, and more directly from Los Angeles and from Stanford University, where print-lovers accorded it its full meed of appreciation.

Among the exhibitors are men and women of national and international reputation, and some of them with no reputation at all but the things they offer. And after all, that's the best.

There are any number of prints in color—if you are a ir-reconcilable colorist—and some of the nicest etching—that, the current Rembrandt show excepted, have ever been offered out here on the Western rim of the world.

The problem of space prevents the careful review the worth of the show deserves, but suffice it to say that no man or woman who pretends to any aesthetic appreciation among us can afford to miss it.

Among the important contributors are Benjamin C. Brown, Gustave Baumann, Howell C. Brown, George Burr, Arthur Wesley Dow (instructor on aesthetics in Columbia University), H. L. Doolittle, Francis Gearhart, Bessie Ella Hazen, Arthur Heintzelman—one of the big men of the show—Bertha E. Jacque, showing some superb Japanese things—the Lenoses, Frank and Pedro; William B. Rice, and W. Winkler, whose work deepens as he grows. This young Winkler chap reveals amazing qualities in so recent an acquisition in the ranks of etchers.

The show will remain two weeks, with Director W. H. Clapp in attendance every afternoon. Hours of open season in the gallery are from 1 to 5 p. m. daily.

"The Blacksmith," etching by Arthur W. Heintzelman, one of over one hundred prints on exhibition at the Oakland Art Gallery—the sixth annual show of the print makers of Los Angeles. Nothing more important in the print world has been shown about the bay this year, barring, of course, the Rembrandt exhibition at the Palace of Fine Arts. For pure aesthetic pleasure it has no current rival.

Armin Hansen Lifts Prize in New York

Aha! "I told you so!"

Armin Hansen carried off a $300 prize in the National Academy exhibition this week, in competition with the most representative painters in the country. Doesn't that listen well? But after his one-man show at the Print Rooms a few weeks ago, the recognition of the young Viking in the Big Town at the Big Show is not so startling as it would have been a year or two ago.

If I remember correctly, I said, in reviewing the Print Room exhibition, that "Armin Hansen had arrived."

The show had vigor and enthusiasm and freshness and the painter's viewpoint was his—Eisenstein, but without obtrusion. He led the observer by the hand—gently but firmly—to see things as he saw them; and if the outsider was himself equipped, the journey was fruitful of joy. Both gave and both received.

"The canvas that won the prize"—"The Boy with the Cod,"—is not entirely new to us. I am of the opinion that we saw it in the Spring Annual at the Palace of Fine Arts. But isn't it great to have the hard-shelled old East sit up and take notice of our lusty youngster who has been pegging away for two years in Monterey in his little barn studio that overlooks the bay beloved of Junipero Serra?

Here's to you, lad! Now to work, again.

Two New Shows Open This Week

Things are just swimming along. Never have the painters and sculptors been more keen upon their work, and great things are looked for in the approaching Annual and in the coming one-man shows.

Tomorrow Guest Wickson of Berkeley presents his work in oils, water colors and pastels at the Print Rooms, and from all accounts the exhibition will mark one of the important events of the artistic year. A sensitive colorist—one who loves color or just for color—is the young Berkeley man, who by temperament and training is one of the most promising figures among the newer men.

His exhibition will be on the walls two weeks, with Mr. Wickson in attendance on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

The pictures will be discussed next week.

Along now comes Charles Rollo Peters, announcing a "farewell" exhibition of his paintings at his studio at 220 Post street, the show having opened on Wednesday, and holding forth until Saturday, April 17.

Why the farewell? Surely Mr. Peters, who is Californian to his soul, isn't going away from his West forever. We don't like the sound of it.

Indeed, California could better afford to lose Mr. Peters ten years ago than she can now, because he's a better painter now; not more of an artist, probably, but a better workman. He has gotten away from the pitchy black of his middle period, and is seeing things in light and in color.

His exhibition, to be reviewed next week, should interest the interested.

CASELLA SHOWS VERVE IN PRINTS.

If it were left to me to determine upon the endowments of a child about to come into the world, I should say, "Dear God, make him glad in his heart and make him sense to the beauty of your complex world—make him an artist to sense the fine things in it; and then, if it isn't asking too much for one soul, let him have a little of the canny sense that is may be possible for him to get things that have to be bought with money—Things; but, dear God, not too many Things; because they smother the Conscious Sense; and then the art in him dies, and his heart ceases singing, and what was Life becomes life."

As I sat on the mauve divan in the salon of the Print Rooms in Sutter street on Monday, looking at the singing monotypes of Alfred Casella on the four walls, releasing them, from their dumbness, I thought how rich he was—any man is—who sees these glorious things around him: the clouds sailing over green fields and purple trees, deep ravines where lovers rest, blue pools, the shining sea—what superb possessions! What does a mere billionaire own to compare with these mental concepts that obsess this young painter who is bursting to express the consciousness with which God endowed him?

One sometimes wonders if it is given to one mortal to possess this divine gift of appreciation and to have at the same time the prudence or canniness to accumulate money; or possessing both qualities at the outset, if the financial or prudential sense wouldn't so encroach upon the brain-cells of the aesthetic sense that they would be dwarfed and finally cease to function?

However, that's no discussion to get into on a busy day; but if some of my audience has ideas upon the subject, it would be interesting to both of us—to all of us—to hear them. Won't you invite them?

About Casella, he is, as I said before, just feeling his way. He exhibited at the last Annual Exhibition at the Palace of Fine Arts, and will exhibit again at the coming Annual, which is, of course, the big artistic event of the year.

His monotypes were prompted by those of Clark Hobart, the best monotype man in the West, and it isn't stretching it too far to say in the country. Young Casella's work has all the spontaneity and joy of doing that characterize the Hobart things, and are quite as fine in color. And if—but prophecies are bromide and profitless. But suffice it to say that this young adventurer has something to say; and he is going to say it.

Watch him!

ASK THE TRIBUNE

Questions pertaining to the application of the law to specific cases, such as collection of damages, divorce contests and property rights, will not be answered in these columns.

Editor The TRIBUNE: Have noted various advertisements in your worthy paper for the reduction of weight. Will you please advise through your Question and Answer Dept. if The TRIBUNE makes investigations as to the merits of such advertisers and their products; in other words, does The TRIBUNE's good name stand behind its advertisers? Trusting you will give this matter your early attention and space in your column.—SUBSCRIBER.

The Oakland TRIBUNE accepts advertising for such preparations as mentioned above the same as other large newspapers around San Francisco Bay and throughout the country. If such preparations were without merit or fraudulent in their claims it is a certainty that the United States Government would soon put them out of business.

Editor The TRIBUNE: Is there a state bureau of vital statistics in each state or only at Washington, D. C.—SUBSCRIBER.

There is a state bureau of vital statistics in each state. The central bureau of vital statistics is in Washington, D. C., where the report from each state bureau is filed. The vital statistics bureau is operated in conjunction with the State Board of Health.

Editor The TRIBUNE: If a man and wife become separated from each other but are never divorced, and there are children, one of which is with the mother, can the man deal away his estate to other children by gift deed or life lease without the wife's consent? And who has the law right to his personal effects upon his death?—M. E. B.

A man may deed his property to any of his heirs he chooses, providing the property is not community property. Community property consists of that which is accumulated during the husband and wife's married life. Property which the man possesses before marriage is not community property and he may dispose of it in the way he sees fit. His lawful heirs inherit his personal effects. If there is no will disposing of them, otherwise, the wife usually inherits them.

Editor The TRIBUNE: To settle a bet would you answer through your column whether or not the prohibition law was ratified by the necessary amount of states to make it an amendment to the constitution of the United States?—Y. Y. Z.

The Supreme Court will some day settle your bet.

H. Liebes & Co.

ESTABLISHED IN 1864 FURS GRANT AVE. AT POST ST. SAN FRANCISCO

A corner of H. Liebes & Co.'s Fur Factory on the ninth and tenth floors of the Liebes Building

Announcing The Enlargement of H. Liebes & Co's Fur Factory

The discriminating woman's ever-increasing appreciation of H. Liebes & Co.'s art and quality in fur fashioning has made necessary an extensive enlargement of our fur factory.

A tenth floor has been added to the Liebes building, solely for the use of our fur atelier, in addition to the ninth floor, which it already occupies, thus practically doubling its capacity.

This additional space makes it, to the best of our knowledge, the largest fur factory in the country outside of New York City

H. Liebes & Co.'s creations will continue to be sold only through our retail shops in San Francisco, Portland, Los Angeles, Pasadena and Santa Barbara.

Remodeling of Furs at Reduced Summer Rates

Henceforth our factory limitations often made it necessary to refuse much remodeling work that was offered us, but now our greatly-increased factory space and facilities will enable us to give prompt remodeling service to all.

If you have a fur which has become passee in style or which shows wear in spots we can re-style it into one of the most beautiful of the new modes. The price will be nominal as compared with the cost of a new fur.

Now is a particularly opportune time to have this work done as special reduced summer rates are in force.

The REASON

Reich & Lievre have built up the biggest popular-priced cloak and suit business on the coast by always giving "Better Values!" Due to our tremendous buying power of 8 stores our prices are always lowest! But with the present high cost of living, low as our prices are in comparison with others, we realize they are not low enough to bring desirable apparel within the reach of all women! We want to lower prices the same as you do! Accordingly we have instituted this profit-sharing plan, which reduces prices for you and will help in reducing our cost of merchandising!

The RESULT

We are enabled to "Buy for Less and Sell for Less" simply because of the immense volume of business done by our 8 stores! While in dollars and cents our business continues to grow steadily, we are not selling enough individual garments to satisfy ourselves! The reason is obvious: Women cannot afford to buy! Bringing down prices under our plan will bring thousands of new customers to our stores, increasing our volume at the sacrifice of profits on individual sales! The still greater volume will give us still greater buying power, still more business, still "Better Values!"

Recitals and Concerts to Be Events of Coming Week

New Orchestra Is to Play in Berkeley

By ROY HARRISON DANFORTH.

MOST of the music of importance in the coming week is allotted to Berkeley. In fact, until the Orpheus Club recital at a week from Tuesday, there are only a few studio affairs in Oakland. But in Berkeley, beginning Tuesday, they promise a week of delights for the music lover.

For Tuesday night there are two recitals. The one will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Mansfield at the new Northbrae church. The other is an invitational concert by the extension division of the University of California, to be given by Mrs. Mildred Wright, violinist, and W. W. Carruth, pianist, at the First Presbyterian church.

The following evening Tina Lerner, the eminent pianist, will give the first of a series of three recitals in Wheeler hall at the University of California, under the management of the Greek theater. The same evening Miss Leonore Gordon Fox, operatic soprano, will give her recital at the Claremont Hotel.

Real Japanese Girl Will Sing

The Gailo English Opera Company, fresh from its metropolitan run at the Shubert theater, New York, where it has been acclaimed as the logical successor to the Gilbert and Sullivan Opera Company of a few years past, will have five full weeks in Oakland. Among its line of artists are two unique, the first Japanese prima donna appearing in English light opera. She is said to have a glorious soprano voice, clear and beautiful in the upper and lower ranges, and is also a delightful actress, with a true sense of the value of the Gilbertian humor. She sings, of course, the roles of Yum-Yum in "The Mikado," and O Mimosa San in "The Geisha."

The principal tenor is J. Humbert Dancy, who was the original tenor of Henry W. Savage's production of "Sari" and also of "Going Up" at the Gailo English Opera Company.

Other artists include Rosamond Whiteside, a daughter of Walker Whiteside, and herself a young artist of much charm and promise. She is a member of the company, as are also the basso, Harry A. Collington, Mildred Rogers, Louis Lavelle, Edward Quinn, Ethel Jamminga and Dorothy Elton.

The first week, beginning April 11, will be taken up with "The Mikado," featuring Hana Shimozumi as Yum-Yum and Jefferson de Angelis as Ko-Ko, with the exception of Friday evening and Saturday matinee, when "The Mikado" will be presented, with De Angelis as Sir Joseph Porter, Ethel Jamminga as Josephine, and Mildred Rogers as Little Buttercup. Other operas to be presented are "The Chimes of Normandy," with De Angelis as Gerard and Rosamond Whiteside as Serpentine; "The Gondoliers" with De Angelis as the Grand Inquisitor and Misses Whiteside and Ethel Jamminga as Gassette and Gassette; "The Geisha" with Shimozumi as "O Mimosa San," and "The Chocolate Soldier," "Robin Hood," "The Pirates of Penzance."

Ready for Easter Service Today

The road leading to The Heights of Joaquin Miller have been put into good condition and proper markings placed so that motorists may easily reach there this afternoon and attend the Easter Sunset Services which are to be given under the direction of the Contra Costa Hills Club and directed by Alexander Stewart of Community Service.

The services are to be held in the natural amphitheater at the Heights and the Cross of Trees, planted many years ago by Miller, create excellent acoustic conditions. It is estimated that 10,000 people can sit along the slopes of the amphitheater and hear every word sung by a soloist.

The chorals are to be sung by eighteen soloists, and in between these numbers will be readings by Dr. William D. Frederick, D.D., of the University of California. The selections are: "The Mountains of the Lord," by W. C. Gannett; "California's Resurrection," by Joaquin Miller; "Where Death Has No Sting," by John Muir; "At set of Sun," by Isaac Cochrane.

A detachment of Boy Scouts are to aid in directing traffic Sunday evening. They also will release 500 homing pigeons during the services. Pedestrians are urged to make the short climb from the end of the Park boulevard car line or out Lincoln avenue from the Hopkins street or Fruitvale avenue cars.

HANA SHIMOZUMI.

Ensemble Hears Three Artists.

Wann, Miss Helen Merchant, Mrs. Guy Stillman Millberry, Mrs. Ernest Williams and Mrs. Richard Martin.

Miss Leslie Gompertz, soprano, assisted by Miss Fern Backman, violinist, and Gustave Stahl, cellist, were the soloists presented by the Berkeley ensemble at their recent musicale held at the home of Mrs. Simonds on Forest avenue. Miss Backman gave interpretations of pieces by Sarasate, Wieniawski and others, and Mr. Stahl displayed good musicianship in his renditions of "The Swan" by Saint-Saens, and Liebesleid by Kreisler. Miss Gompertz was in good voice. She gave the difficult "Depuis le Jour" from Louise. The Ensemble will hold their next musicale some time in April.

Prospects Bright For Next Season.

Another young Russian boy of the Heifetz class has become the sensational musical attraction of the present New York season. He is Benno Moiseiwitsch, a pianist of rare attainments. At a half dozen recitals in New York City, and as soloist with the various great orchestras of New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, etc., Moiseiwitsch has made sensational appearances. Moiseiwitsch will pass through here in May en route to Australia, and on his return next October will stop long enough to give a few recitals about the bay.

Anna Case, the beautiful American soprano, is leaving for Europe this month to regale England, France and Italy with her art. She will return to America in the Fall, and has been booked for California appearances during the winter.

After an absence of years in the east and Europe, Emilio de Gogorza will return to California. The baritone will renew his local acquaintances during February of next year.

Two old pianistic and two new favorites will divide attention during 1920-1921 in California. The old favorites are Josef Hofmann and Josef Lhevinne, while the new visitors will be Mischa Levitski and Benno Moiseiwitsch.

The unique harp ensemble of Carlos Salzedo will visit California next season. With Salzedo, the greatest harpist in the world, on the solo instrument, come six girls assisting him on as many harps. It is a most beautiful combination, presenting programs unique and wonderful.

Programs For Quartet Told.

The Fionzalez Quartet come to San Francisco for three concerts at Scottish Rite Hall on next Sunday afternoon, April 11, Thursday night, April 15, and Saturday night, April 17, and interesting programs will be rendered at these events. The Sunday program is made up of the Haydn quartet in D major, op. 76 No. 3, the Spetana quartet "Aus meinem Leben," Goossens, "By the Tarn," and Percy Grainger's "Molly on the Shore." On Thursday night they will play quartets by Beethoven, (F major, op. 153), two movements, Debussy, (op. 19) and Dvorak's "American Quartet" (F major, op. 96). The Saturday night quartets are Mozart (D major, K. 575), Beethoven (B flat major, op. 18 No. 6) and the Largo from Emmanuel Moor (op. 59).

On Tuesday evening, April 13, the quartet will give the closing recital of the Berkeley musical association season at the University of California.

Percy Grainger In S. F. Concert.

Pianists everywhere are interested in the works and achievements of Percy Grainger, the Australian composer-pianist. Grainger is now an American having served his time with the American military forces and accomplished his part in winning the world war. He has re-

Notes of Coming Musical Events

It is extremely doubtful if the records of any country or any age can show another instance of an artist being received by such an unanimous chorus of approval as the critics of Chicago showered on Amelita Galli-Curci, the gifted soprano, who will be heard at the Exposition Auditorium, Sunday afternoon, May 2, under the direction of Frank W. Healy, Karlton Hackett, Jr. in the Chicago Evening Post, says that Galli-Curci "practices the supreme vocal art as our forefathers understood the term."

Miss Jeanne Jonell, who has been at the head of the vocal department of Oahu College, Honolulu, during the winter, will return to California in April and open studios in Oakland and San Francisco.

Miscellaneous. The pre-eminent Russian, who will appear in joint recital with Eugene Ysaye, at the Exposition Auditorium, Sunday afternoon, May 23, has made six tours of this country and they have been a succession of triumphs. Although the Russian master is only 29 years old, he is known in every part of the civilized world. He still is a Russian subject.

Pianist, Violinist At U. C. Recital

The extension division of the University of California is giving an invitational "hour of music" Tuesday evening at the First Presbyterian church in Berkeley. The artists will be Mrs. Mildred Wright, the talented violinist whose work was found so charming at the "Stabat Mater" Friday afternoon, and William W. Carruth, pianist. Their program will include three groups respectively illustrating representative French composers, representative English composers, representative American composers—these for the piano—and two mixed groups for the violin.

Etude Club to Have Busy Month.

The April program of the Etude Club of this city and Berkeley is filled with interesting events. The first affair is for tomorrow afternoon when new members will present the program and they and the new officers will be reception guests of honor. Those to contribute to the program will be Mrs. Frank Clark, Miss Grace Jurgens, Mrs. Edmund Ellis, Mrs. C. H. Morrison, Mrs. Margaret Spear, Mrs. Ralph Thymes, Mrs. Frank Avery and Miss Williams. The schedule for the rest of the month follows:

April 12, 2:45 p. m.—Home Meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. C. Stowell Smith, 657 San Diego Road. Associate Hostesses, Mrs. Sydney N. Stoner, Mrs. B. B. Bendall.

April 19, 12:30—Jinks. Indoor Garden Fete, basket luncheon. Club furnishes coffee, tea and cream.

May 3, 2:45 p. m.—Ensemble program and final meeting. Piano Quartette. Second Rhapsody of Liszt. Mrs. George M. Naus, Miss Kathleen Sherris Luke, Mrs. Martin F. Warner, Mrs. Ralph M. Marx, Choral.

Berkeley Piano Pupils Are Heard.

Pupils of Miss Elizabeth Simpson recently gave a musical and social afternoon at her Berkeley studio, their fifth recital program for the season. The program was played by Miss Gladys Sherris, Miss Mildred Law, Miss Esther

ORPHEUM
Miss Billie Shaw, a dancer of rare ability who heads an excellent company of dancers, headlines the bill at the Orpheum this week in an act that is remarkable in that the costuming, scenic effects and even the musical scores were all prepared by Miss Shaw.
Another headline act is that of Billy Montgomery and Miss Minnie Allen who sing their own compositions and provide a line of comedy which at other stations on the Orpheum circuit has proved one of the hits of the season.
Bostock's Riding School is a novel animal act and the Alexander Kids, leading juvenile entertainers of the vaudeville stage, are top features of the program. Besides these are the usual comedy acts, a juggling comedian, a humorous violinist and two motion picture films.
BROADWAY
"The Sagebrusher" with Noah Berry in the lead, a picture with a realistic story of a man who advertises for a wife and then sacrifices her for her own happiness, the attraction which opens a two-day showing at the Broadway today.
This picture when shown in Oakland a month ago proved to be such a strong attraction that crowds were turned away. Attempts to prolong the leave on the picture at the time were unavailing because of the demands being made on the producers by other theaters.
"His Naughty Wife," a first-run Sunshine comedy and the International News Film complete the program.
MARGARET LOOMIS IS BUSY.
Margaret Loomis believes she is one of the busiest members of the Southern California film colony. She played opposite Bryant Washburn in "What Happened to Jones" and will have the leading feminine role in William de Mille's next picture. She has just finished with Washburn in "The Sins of St. Anthony."
SICILY FILM LOCALE.
Herbert Brenon is now engaged at Taormina in Sicily, in producing some exterior scenes for a film based on Sir Rider Haggard's novel "Beatrice," in which Mario Doro is playing the title role. Other exteriors are to be taken in London and Wales and the interiors in Rome.
MAE MARSH WORKING.
Mae Marsh, fully recovered from her recent illness, has returned to work. She is engaged in making the latest picture at the Brunton studios in Hollywood.

ODD BITS OF HUMOR

"Dolson's wife is an awful talker, one grand, sweet song. Old Bach. How does he get on so well with her?" "He's a good listener."—Life.

"Get any offers to exchange goods for your gross of corkscrews?" "One from a music publisher. He offered in exchange a bale of drinking songs."

Young Woman (soulfully)—Life is one grand, sweet song. Old Bach. (doletfully)—Yes, but some of us have very poor voices.

"Is your apartment building fire-proof?" "To some extent. Nothing the janitor does in the way of fire makes any impression what ever."

"Yes," said the vaudeville performer, "I sing my own songs."

"Would you accept a word of advice?" "Of course." "Let some one else sing 'em."

"Do you have much trouble when you are saving your lessons in school, Tommie?" "Yes, sir." "What seems to trouble you most?" "The teacher, sir."

"Don't show your ignorance by quoting Hamlet as the one who said he'd rather be a dog and bay the moon." "Well, it is an apt quotation anyhow, for wasn't Hamlet a great Dane?"

GOD'S INSTRUMENT

He who has smoothed another's way
And left a long-remembered day
With one whose heart was sick with pain,
Need never say he's lived in vain.
He who has done one kindly deed
And served another's hour of need
Has truly justified his birth
And made this world a richer earth.
He who has borne his share of grief
And never faltered in belief,
But through it all has kept his trust
That God knows best and God is just,
That he has been God's instrument.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3. —The political sensation of the week was the tardy announcement of Herbert Hoover, evidently wrung from him through the persistence of his California supporters, that he would align himself with the Republican party if the platform is to his liking; "forward looking and liberal." While reiterating that he is not a candidate, Hoover displays signs in this latest pronouncement of a willingness to step down from the lofty pedestal upon which he had placed himself by declaring, "If it is demanded of me I cannot refuse service." Evidence is accumulating that is leading many to suspect that the former Food Administrator has not been entirely sincere in the position he has publicly taken. Loudly proclaiming that he was not a candidate, organization of his forces has been under way for weeks. In the first place, he has purchased an interest in the Washington Herald, and, it is reported, aided in the financing of the Sacramento Union, both of which have been enthusiastically supporting his candidacy. Extensive headquarters have been opened in New York and other localities. After a careful survey of the political field it has evidently been decided to try for the Republican nomination, which appears to be the most valuable. Hoover was in a position to seek the endorsement of either party. When registering at Palo Alto in October of last year the clerk asked him to state his party preference. He refused, and on the blank appears the words, "Declined to state." In 1918 he joined with Wilson in urging the election of a Democratic Congress. After a thorough survey of the field, however, the Californian has made up his mind to affiliate with the Republican party if the platform and leadership are in accord with his views; but if the progress of events is not satisfactory he will be free to enter any other convention where the prospects for a nomination are perhaps brighter. That the entry of Hoover will handicap both California presidential candidates throughout the country is generally admitted. The Johnson supporters charge that Hoover has been placed in the running with the purpose of weakening Johnson outside of California. This the Hooverites deny, stating that they are supporting their candidate because of his views on the League of Nations and other public questions. Politics will at least be interesting in California for the next few months.

The Unconsidered Vice President

There is considerable sweat and some acrimony among the aspirants for the presidency, and words of discussion and speculation; but never a thought bestowed on the vice presidency, no aspirants appearing for that honor. And yet the office is pregnant with possibilities. Five vice presidents have succeeded to the presidency. William Henry Harrison survived his inauguration just a month, and John Tyler succeeded; Zachary Taylor died five months after he took office and was succeeded by Millard Fillmore; Abraham Lincoln was assassinated a month and eleven days after his second inauguration, and Andrew Johnson succeeded; James A. Garfield died as the result of an assassin's attack six and one-half months after his inauguration, and Chester A. Arthur succeeded; and William McKinley died from an assassin's attack six months and eleven days after his second inauguration and Theodore Roosevelt succeeded. All the successors served nearly the full presidential term. It is but the truth to say that but one of them was of presidential stature. Every one was put in the vice presidency for other reason than his fitness to receive the presidential mantle in the emergency of death. Even Roosevelt, who turned out to be one of the great presidents, was nominated with the main idea of getting him out of the state politics of New York. A situation that even now confronts us could seem to justify very serious consideration of vice presidential candidates.

Shortridge Shies in His Hat

The candidacy of Samuel Shortridge for the United States Senate was properly key noted and acclaimed at a meeting of the Business Men's League, at the Palace Hotel, last Tuesday, with the titular hero in the true role. The meeting was numerically sufficient for a successful launching, the enthusiasm waned to blustering and the feeling of good fellowship widely diffused. Moreover Shortridge was in good voice and pleasant mood, and had a message. If great oaks from little acorns grow there surely was grain enough in Tuesday's planting to guarantee a harvest of great official riches. The address of Shortridge was intended, I understand, to establish the fact, and reason thereof, involved in his candidacy, and this he proceeded to do in this wise: His candidacy was responsive to popular demand that he offer himself in the public service, a demand that no citizen should turn a deaf ear to. The demand had been persistent, widely voiced, and warmly urged. Moreover it was the demand of that element of the population that spoke with the voice of authority and reflected the heartfelt solicitation of his fellow citizens in this time of national exigency. It was a demand that aroused his utmost desire to serve, enlisted his full resources and satisfied his highest ambition. Not only these considerations led to his determination to heed the call made upon him, but he was conscious of some capacity for the service asked. Moreover he, too, had fourteen points, or such a matter, that alone would satisfy himself, at least, as measures meet for national preservation, the which he would die for once, no matter his luck thereafter. Long connection with public affairs, participation in Republican campaigns in California for the past thirty years, together with intimate acquaintance with public men of the time—not to mention his training in legal and legislative matters—all these coupled with consciousness of his first duty to his fellowmen, were the impelling reasons for his enlistment in the great adventure. His last word is that he will start "within a week, in a Ford, to make a complete tour of the state, to speak in every county and wherever the people wish to hear me." The "stalwart and loyal Republican" neglected to elucidate as to what his action might be in case he failed to receive the endorsement of his party; whether he would sulk in his tent as he did six years ago and refuse to support the regular Republican nominee, or demonstrate that sufficient sporting blood coursed through his veins to enable him to graciously accept defeat.

Magistrates to Be Elected

At the next general election there will be chosen one associate justice of the Supreme Court, and two presiding justices and two associate justices for the first district of the Court of Appeals, which comprises San Francisco, Marin, Contra Costa, Alameda, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Fresno, Santa Cruz, Monterey and San Benito counties. Justice Warren Olney was appointed to succeed Justice F. W. Henshaw, who resigned from the Supreme Court, and Justice Olney has given such satisfaction that no opponent is appearing against him. With the District Court of Appeals it is different. Rumors and whisperings about a "judges' trust" are going around. No aspirant as yet has come forth with the announced purpose to try conclusions with Justice William Waste, who will be a candidate to succeed himself as presiding justice of Division No. 1 of this court; nor has Justice William U. Langdon, presiding justice of Division No. 2, heard of any opposition. The other justices of this court who will seek election are Associate Justices Patton and Norris. Judge George A. Shreve, who has long served on the superior bench with honor and distinction, is seeking one of the associate justiceships. Judge Sturtevant's second term as superior judge of this city and county ends next year, and unless he is elevated to the appellate bench he will retire to private life. His friends are not counting on his retirement. Justice Olney, as well as all those who have been named for seats on the District Court of Appeals bench, are appointees of Governor Stephens. Concerning the Second District Court of Appeals, which comprises the counties of San Luis Obispo, Kings, Tulare, Inyo, Kern, Santa Barbara, Ventura, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, Imperial and San Diego counties, word comes from Los Angeles that Presiding Justice Frank Finlayson will probably have no opposition for re-election, but that Associate Justice Sloane, who hails from San Diego, and Associate Justice Thomas, who comes from Orange county, will have very decided opposition. For the two associate justiceships, besides the incumbents who will seek re-election, Superior Judge Louis R. Works, Gavin W. Craig and John York, all of Los Angeles, have announced their determination to ask the suffrage of the voters within their district.

Rampageous Ellis

Anent the resignation of W. R. Ellis from the secretaryship of the State Highway Commission and his sensational charges against that body, I have received a letter from one in Sacramento in a position to know the inside facts. He writes that the ostensible attack on the commission is really on Engineer A. B. Fletcher, who has held the $10,000 job ever since the commission came into being under the administration of Governor Johnson, after the State Highway Act had been put through in the regime of Governor Gillett. It is important in this connection to learn that during the Johnson regime the commission had come to a decision to dispense with Ellis' services, but that Johnson interposed and retained him in his job. It is known that the secretary invariably failed to agree with either the commission or the engineer. In the wet and dry fight that raged around Commissioner Henry Widenmann, Vallejo brewer, who accidentally shot himself, Ellis publicly denounced the commissioner; yet somehow he was still able to hold his job. The phase of this controversy of immediate interest is that Ellis, a pronounced Johnson protegee, has been named as a Hoover delegate. It has been asked in Sacramento how Ben Allen, of the Sacramento Union, picked Ellis as a capital city representative of the Hoover cause. The announcement that disclosures of incompetency and worse in the Highway Commission will be deferred till after the primaries, notwithstanding the demand of the Governor and the officials concerned that they be immediately forthcoming, indicates that pressure has been brought to bear that has, for the time at least, acted as a silencer upon "Wild Bill," as he is sometimes designated around the capitol.

McLeran's Perplexities

Supervisor McLeran is now the mayor of San Francisco, a position that he may aspire to in the larger way, but which it is questioned if he will enjoy as a "sub" just at this time. Not to mention the Hetch Hetchy financial problem, which is mountainous, budget making season is at hand, and that brings a whole flock of problems. This is the first year that the source of a very substantial revenue has been cut off—liquor licenses. The city has been in the habit of counting on close to a million dollars from this source. Not only as acting mayor but as chairman of the finance committee it is McLeran's province to worry over the money that must be forthcoming. The search for new ways to raise it is eternal. Nobody ever queers himself by suggesting a reduction of the outgo. It is now proposed to raise the license fee on moving picture theaters, candy stores, restaurants, dance halls and that class of business till the income from them equals the income formerly received from saloons. It is also proposed to exact a license fee of doctors, dentists, barbers and other professions; to require an extra license for pleasure autos, motorcycles, and such paraphernalia. The mayor may not have thought about it, but he hit upon a psychological time for leaving the city for a month. When he gets back much of the financing involved in the making of the budget will have been attended to.

Filipino Unrest

All reliable information from the Philippines is and has been for several years that the islands are prospering as they were never known to prosper under other domination; that the most responsible and steadfast of the natives realize that the real interests of the Filipinos will be best served under American control; but that there is some fear that the faction that is agitating for independence is making headway. The Wilson regime started off with the idea of granting the Filipinos independence almost while they waited. Harrison was appointed Governor with that idea. It was soon found that summary action in that direction was not practicable; but what had been said and done maddened much of the good work that had gone forward. It made Philippine independence an issue. A Philippine commission of independence was organized, which maintains permanent headquarters in Washington, and which was entirely ready to take advantage of the action of Congress in its expression of sympathy with the Irish cause. The inquiry is being put, Why not us also? This commission has issued an address that has some plausibility, and its agitation for Philippine independence will probably gain strength from the course of our national administration, and the action of our Congress.

The Burned Mission

This account of the Mission of San Luis Obispo, which was destroyed by fire last week, was published seventy years ago: "The Mission of San Luis Obispo stands fourteen leagues southeast of San Miguel, and within three of the coast. It has always been considered one of the richest in California. The presiding priest, Luis Martinez, was a man of comprehensive purpose and indomitable force. His mission grant covered an immense tract of the richest lands on the seaboard. Every mountain stream was made to subserve the purposes of irrigation. He planted the cotton tree, the lime, and a grove of olives which still shower their abundant harvests on the tables of Californians. He built a launch that plied to Santa Barbara; trained his Indians to kill the otter, and often received thirty and forty skins a week from his children of the bow. His storehouse at Santa Margarita, with its high adobe walls, was 190 feet long and well stored with grain. His table was loaded with the choicest game and the richest wines; his apartments for guests might have served the hospitable intentions of a prince. He had 87,000 head of grown cattle, 2000 tame horses, 3500 mares, 3700 mules, eight sheep farms averaging 9000 sheep each, and the broad Tulare valley, in which his Indians could capture any number of wild horses. The mayordomo of his mission, in 1827, scatted on the ground, without having first plowed it, 120 bushels of wheat, and then scratched it in with things called harrows, and harvested from the same over 7000 bushels. This was a lazy experiment, but shows what the land may yield when activity shall take the place of indolence. Father Martinez returned to Spain, taking with him $100,000 as the fruits of his mission. On the secularization of the mission in 1828 the property fell a prey to State exigency and private rapacity. A gloomy wreck of grandeur only remains."

Drops Into Rhyme

An article in last week's Knave causes an "Old Timer" to drop into Walt Mason poetry, thus: "You told us a beautiful story, you painted the past in a way, as you wrote of political movements, of parades in glistening array; it informs the youth of the present, of the ways of the past long ago, while still a few of us living, want the world some honor to show. Sam Booth, the leader of singers, Jabez Swan of melodious voice, who attracted, held and gave pleasure that caused us all to rejoice. In the campaign of Hayes these good singers were a power that we yet recall, as we see them tonight in our memory in that barn, Horticultural Hall! They aroused a spirit most wondrous; then with torches lighted from oil, a mantle of leather about us, over cobbles we'd struggle and toil. While the speakers like Barnes were delightful, and Steppacher's work always right, 'twas the singers that got us to feeling we were needed to help win the fight. To do so we tramped o'er the sand waste, we marched with our heads in the air, thinking we're saving the nation—but the singers had started us there!"

Prosecuting the Police Judges

The Bar Association appears to be complaisant concerning the probing of the police courts and the trial of police court judges. Two of the latter have been indicted, and the Grand Jury is probing the records of the other two. As one of these was Matthew Brady, now District Attorney, it is manifest that prosecution on the indictments will not be in hands too eager to secure convictions. This has been considerably discussed, and the Bar Association was impelled to take action by appointing Max Kuhl to represent it in assisting the District Attorney. But this attorney was non grata to District Attorney Brady. He is in the employ of the Chamber of Commerce. The District Attorney disclaimed any assistance in the matter, but finally consented to accept that of Attorney O'Gara. The Bar Association has pursued the subject no farther, letting it go at that, with an apparent satisfaction at being able to thus wash its hands of the matter. O'Gara was an assistant district attorney in Langdon's regime. No objection is being made to him, but under the circumstances no great expectations are based on the outcome.

Bierce's Fate Still in Doubt

The story purporting to clear up the Bierce mystery is not new, and it is not accepted by some of his friends as beyond doubt. It will be remembered that the great satirist bought a horse at El Paso, mounted it, rode across the bridge into Mexico and disappeared. That was five years ago. No positively authentic news of him has ever been received. There were sensational stories—one of his being encountered in England in the first years of the war, engaged in the training of recruits. He had had military experience in the Civil War, which gave the story plausibility, though his age was against it. A very slight investigation proved the story to be from whole cloth. Some six weeks ago a San Francisco gentleman, with interests in Mexico and who passes a good deal of his time there, returned to this city, and related a story of an American with military bearing, having fallen in with or deliberately becoming a part of a Carranza detachment conveying an ammunition supply, being captured by Villista forces, and being stood up with scant ceremony and shot, and that his fearless bearing was the admiration of even the Villistas. He was buried in Matamoros. This would seem to fit Bierce all right, but there is nothing to absolutely clinch it. His most intimate friends are not yet satisfied that he met his death in that way, though they admit it is about the way he would be likely to choose.

The Urban Growth

The fact that the urban growth of the country is at the expense of the suburban, as shown by the partial returns of the census, is commanding considerable attention and creating a good deal of discussion. Far-seeing persons are not deriving satisfaction from the fact, even though their interests may lie in cities. The rural industries suffer from this rush to the cities, and these cannot be adversely affected without effect on the greater centers. The trend toward cities is, of course, one of the results of the war. A million or so of those who went across with the purpose to make the world safe for democracy went from country districts. Their lives had been uneventful—what might be termed in slang parlance as "slow." They went from farms and from humble occupations in towns. They saw the world. They found there were ways of making a living much more alluring than the plodding occupations which they had engaged in. That eternal desire of every country boy to migrate to a city became possible, and here he is swelling the urban census, while the agriculturist and orchardist scratches his head in the dilemma of being unable to secure help enough to perform his work. It is one reason for the high cost of living, and unless there is a genuine back-to-the-land movement, the cost may go higher.

Office Buildings Full

Office congestion is one of the features of the housing problems that are growing more pronounced. It was not so long ago that many of the larger office structures were in considerable part empty. Some of them kept tab on desirable tenants who were susceptible to inducements, and employed agents to work on them to get them to move. The relative excellence of elevator and janitor service was familiar knowledge to office tenantry in general, and often a factor in determining a change of quarters. Now all the big office buildings are full, and such structures as the Mills building have long waiting lists. I heard two interesting stories that illustrate the congestion in the higher class hotels. The Stewart has 480 rooms. The departure of a steamer half emptied it one morning; but by night the vacated rooms were all filled, and there were applications, for others. The same night the Palace had 180 on the waiting list—meaning that it had that many more applications for accommodations than the great structure could supply. But for the high cost of construction there would undoubtedly be such an era of building as the city never saw.

Proposed Art Center

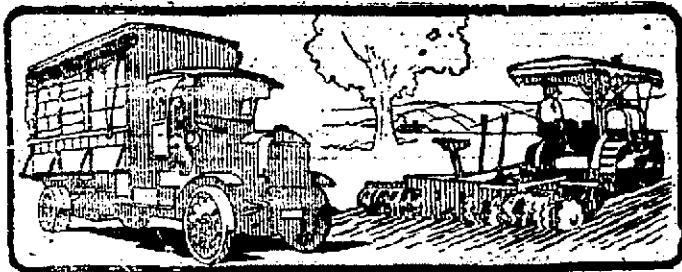

The gentlemen who are interesting themselves in the project of building an art center, the chief feature of which shall be an opera house, haven't struck the psychological time yet to go to the public with it, and are shy with any news concerning it. They have endeavored to keep the matter submerged, as they say that items that sometimes get into print disconcert plans which are being arranged. Scarcely more can be said than that the St. Ignatius property on Van Ness avenue—a very splendid and ample site—has been bonded, but even that is an individual preliminary, no corporation having yet been formed. Some of the features of the project have been discussed, which comprehends an opera house, concert rooms, and a general home for music, which would mean a home for the symphony effort; also galleries and rooms for the display of art and the encouragement of it. It is expected that the State University will cooperate. But everything so far has been tentative. The famous effort to erect an opera house in the civic center, a site for which was left when the center was laid out, blew up after the money had been subscribed and the architecture settled upon, through the mayor vetoing the ordinance. The reason given for doing this was that subscribers, who would always have to pay the same as others, were accorded the privilege of choosing the seats they should buy. They were to have a perpetual reserved seat. This was considered undemocratic. It was on this phase of the matter that Supervisor Gallagher delivered his famous philippic against the aristocracy, declaring that a "chicken picker" had as good a right to a choice of seats as anybody. It is not unlikely that some extended consideration is being given as to the most becoming recognition of subscribers' privileges of the house. It is reasonable to suppose that some recognition will be extended those who put up their money to make such an enterprise possible. There is a feeling that the project is as good as assured, with such men as John Drinn, W. H. Crocker, Walter Martin and others behind it.

Opera in Mexico

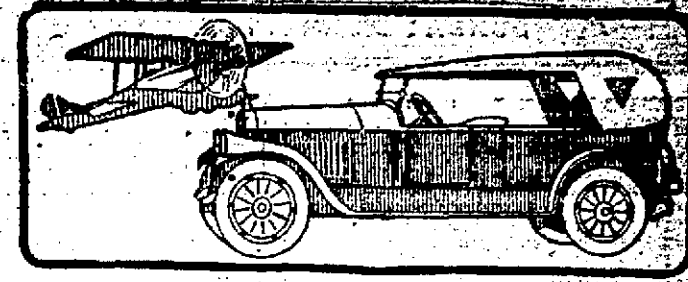

When we read of affairs in Mexico and listen to the narratives of returned travelers and sojourners we get the idea that a condition bordering on chaos prevails; that the orderly processes of business, commerce, and normal life generally are not guaranteed, much less the politer amenities, the more refined pursuits and enjoyments, which generally characterize a people possessing centers of wealth and opulence. It is difficult to think of opera seasons, for instance, being successfully carried out. One would naturally suppose that mere existence was a matter to absorb the energies and attention of the people. Yet I have direct information that one of the most successful opera seasons ever known in the Mexican capital is in progress or has just been concluded. Some idea of the earnestness with which Mexicans support this high class amusement is afforded in the fact that Caruso receives $85,000 for ten performances. Other stars receive large sums, and in the aggregate the season comes higher as to cost than the generality of operatic seasons in the United States. And it is not wholly reliable that the performers are said to express a preference for playing there. They even claim that there is a more artistic appreciation of their efforts.

The Clubs Hit

There is no doubt the clubs suffer from the prohibition ban. Two smaller ones are to consolidate, or have consolidated, and it is not improbable that others will follow suit. Wherever membership, aims and traditions are reconcilable consolidation will be likely to follow. Of course, a club like the Olympic has such a large resource in its athletic feature that merging with another club would not be practicable, and indeed is not desired. This club is perhaps hit the slightest of any in the city. The club idea, of course, is one of sociability; and a great promoter of sociability among men is the social glass. Until recent years this was especially characteristic of California life. Men could not meet in the street without adjoining to the nearest refectory and taking a social drink; and business discussions, were always carried on with such addenda. The more important clubs are not lush places; yet members who seldom indulged find a strange absence now that they can't. What an important part of club life the quiet dispensing of liquors was, was probably not realized till it was ruthlessly banned by amendment No. 18. Like some other things many may not have been particular about it when there was no question about getting it; but the moment it became impossible it was felt that something important was missed.

ENTRY LIST IN TRIBUNE-YOSEMITE TOUR TO BREAK ALL RECORDS

Scenic Route, Known to Few East Bay Motorists, Is Mapped by Tribune Touring Bureau

INVADING A DISTRICT KNOWN TO BUT FEW BAY CITY motorists a TRIBUNE Chevrolet car has mapped a splendid day's tour of 159.6 miles. It traverses, in the main, Napa, Yolo and Solano counties, is over good dirt and concrete roads and is a particularly pretty drive at this season of the year. Reprints of this map will be ready next Saturday. Scenes along the way in which the Chevrolet F.B. touring car appear are identified by the captions beneath the photos.

ENTHUSIASM KEEN AMONG MOTORISTS

By JIM HOULIHAN.
An entry list, double that of any previously organized trip to the Sierras and a grand total of starters exceeding any tour held in the United States in motor car annals, is a prediction which may be safely advanced in estimating the interest which has been shown since The TRIBUNE'S annual tour plans were announced a week ago. The starting date is five weeks distant, yet there has come a re-echo to arouse interest in a trip of sponse from dealers and owners that threatens a change in the tentative closing date which will cause this time to be set at least two weeks in advance of the originally scheduled final entry acceptance period. In the writer's experience the present enthusiasm is the keenest evidenced in any sociability run with which he has had any connection.

BELGIUM AGAIN MANUFACTURING AUTOMOBILES

Belgium is at last producing motor cars once more. Famous before the war as the builders of some of the finest motor cars made in Europe, and producers likewise of marvelously finished motor car bodies, the motor industry of Belgium has simply been non-existent since the fateful fourth of August, 1914.

JOURNEY OF DAY'S LENGTH IS DESCRIBED

By EMIL REINHARDT
Touring seasons is here. Every automobile owner is anxious to get started on single day trips over California's best roads. Each week draws nearer to the warmth of summer's long days. Already hundreds of motorists can be found on the highway going to various spots where they might spend a quiet day under nature's beautiful shade trees. The TRIBUNE Touring Bureau has planned a trip that ought to suit any one who enjoys a nice day's outing in the mountains. This route is unknown to the average motorist, but by following the map closely no trouble should be encountered in checking the directions. Those who choose to make this tour should take along a good lunch as there are no eating places after leaving Napa. An early start from The TRIBUNE Baby Grand touring car, driven by George Haggert of the Chevrolet Motor Co., found the motorist's way to the town of Napa. A choice of either the Kodak Valley or the Six Minute Ferry, both of which offer good service. From the Vallejo side of the Bay to Napa roads are excellent and good time can be made between these two points. The town of Napa is entered via Suscol street and map markings with streets names will give you a proper start through the mountains. In order to afford the reader an idea of what he may expect, close observation of this territory was made. Napa is very interesting in itself. Early history says that Napa got its name from the great number of fish that infested the streams in those days. Napa itself means "fish." The name is of Indian derivation. On the route over Berryessa road leading from Napa to Monticello, the markings on the map show bottom of grade in two places. This is the simplest way to show the reader the

ANNUAL RUN ATTRACTING 'OLD TIMERS'

and the number of these affairs sums up to more than a baker's dozen. Usually it takes several weeks' effort to get the cars ready for the annual run. The dealers, as an example, have lost the old enthusiasm for motor touring and the veterans in particular are content to let the new blood in the industry earn the glory that may be gained. The present plans find every one of the so-called old timers "hot" over the good time that is in the making during the annual jaunt to the valley and it is this type of dealer who is evincing more readiness even than the late recruits in the motor car business. In addition there have been numerous inquiries from private owners who wish to take part and several of these requests have come from participants in former runs conducted by The TRIBUNE. Individual owners of proven driving ability will be accepted and entry blanks will be forwarded to those who seek to participate as soon as the blanks are off the press, a matter of several more days.

CARE IN ACCEPTING ENTRIES
It would be unwise to accept entries without taking this precaution because of the large number of cars that will start. While the schedule was allowed between Oakland and the floor of the valley will not be made too speedy, yet there will be a great many cars on the mountain roads, all headed in the same direction, at one time, with but little space separating many participants and a poor driver might work a hardship on himself as well as inconvenience every car following him. By requiring evidence of one's ability to pilot a car in the mountainous regions a safety measure is employed to assure an absence of avoidable trouble.

CAMP WILL BE READY
Foster Curry promises The TRIBUNE management that his camp will be in shape to handle any sized delegation taking part in the tour and that when the entrants arrive at his place reservations will be so arranged that each party will be immediately booked.

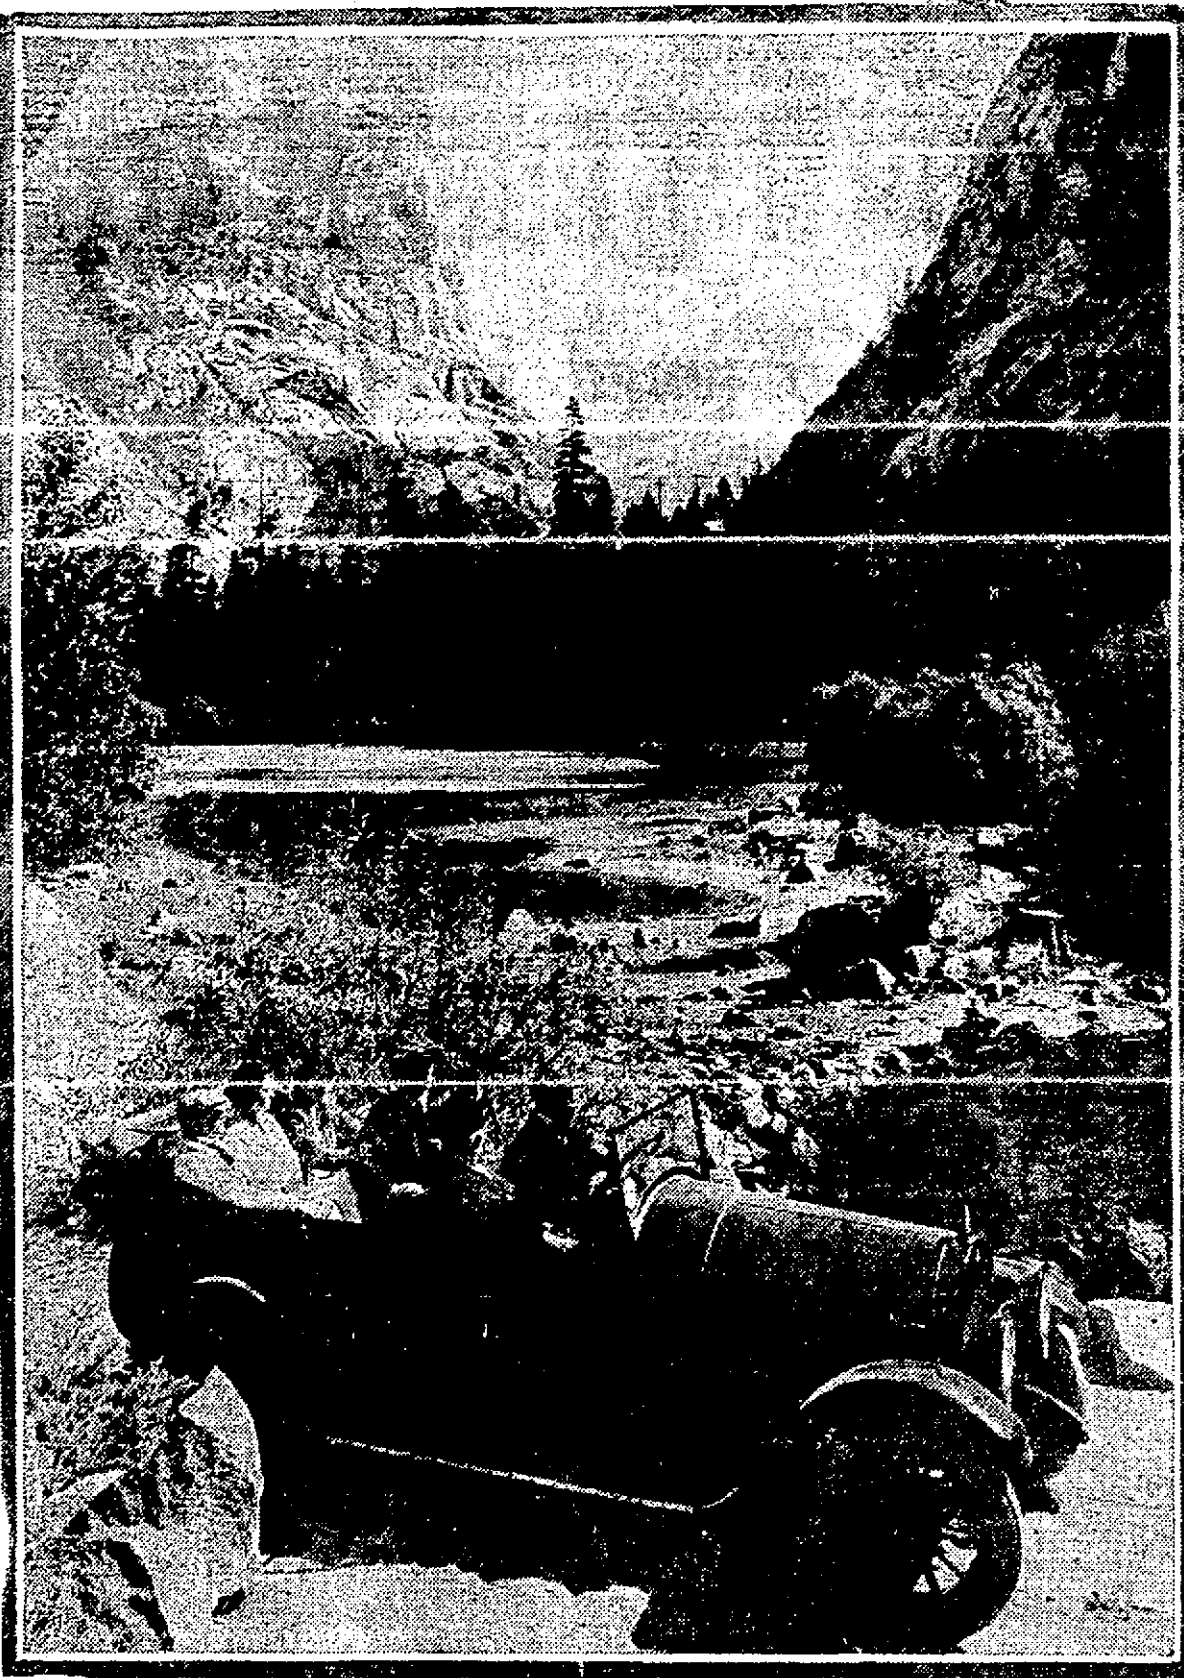

J. W. Leavitt, California Oldsmobile distributor, sent in his entry early last week and accompanied it with the information that his right-hand man, A. F. Plughoff, would also probably have another Oldsmobile. By next Sunday approximately ten additional San Francisco dealers will have signed up, as will a like number of Oakland motor car officials. The complete entry list of dealers and private owners as of Friday, April 3, will be published in next Sunday's TRIBUNE Automotive section.

PRIZES TO BE GIVEN
A number of prizes are being secured for the annual run feature of the tour. There will be approximately twenty. These will go to the first twenty cars finishing the initial day's run in a time closest to the time of the first car to reach the valley. Each contestant in the event of luck rather than superior driving ability will alone determine these twenty winners since the time named in each of these envelopes will be unknown to the drivers until they reach the valley. The "blind" time will then be compared to the actual running time each car has made, and those which have completed the tour closest to the hidden mark will be awarded the various gifts.

A committee will be named shortly to supervise the checking in and out of the entrants and to supervise the disposition of prizes and perfect score certificates.

Plans which the Lincoln Highway Association has worked out in Nevada were outlined in detail last September in an issue of The TRIBUNE, which published a detailed map of the route across the sagebrush state. In substance, contracts have already been let which will

Barney Oldfield to Race Memorial Day

Though he has definitely retired from racing, and is a staid and successful manufacturer of automobile tires, instead of a speed king, Barney Oldfield is going to be seen in action in the Indianapolis 500-mile classic on Memorial Day. Barney has been invited by the speedway management to pace the field in the initial lap, prior to the flying start, and last week the veteran driver wired his acceptance of the honor. Oldfield, who is a Marmon enthusiast, has chosen a Marmon roadster for the car in which to pace the field.

Assured, before the end of 1931, a well-surfaced dirt road of easy grades across Nevada, which will make touring from Oakland to Salt Lake City a matter of real pleasure.

Undivided support should be given by California motorists to officials of the Lincoln Highway Association should that body look for aid in the present year from automobile owners and men or corporations interested in the trade.

Armored Bank Car Holds Eight Guards

The Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank in Ohio, is the first of the federal banks to make use of a specially built motor "tank bank." The car is a 1927 model, with a proof by tests, and is mounted on a large truck chassis geared to high speed. The motorized bank has space for eight guards and has several gun-turret windows. It is to be used to transport funds to and from other banks.

is not going to travel over level country but that he will ride on roads with occasional slight grades. No better mountain roads are likely to be found anywhere.

PICTURESQUE MOUNTAINS
From the start through the mountains till one comes out at Winters in Yolo county the scenery is picturesque. Just when the first summit is reached, a beautiful little valley opens out to view. It is not very large. It is a lovely gem set about with a fringe of mountains. This is Capell valley.

Passing to the north just where the road enters Berryessa valley, there lies to the right a lovely little vale known as Wooden valley and adjoining it is Gordon valley. These two valleys are small, but from the road appear exceptionally scenic.

Just a small portion of Berryessa valley is covered on this trip, but if one so desires to visit Samuels or Walters Springs, eleven miles from Monticello, he may do so by continuing on the road north. Curative waters are available at a good many points in Napa county and many tourists visit the various resorts.

To the east of Berryessa valley the abrupt range of blue ridge rises to a great height. This is the dividing line between Napa and Yolo counties.

The writer has hastily given the reader just a glimpse of the topographical features of this section.

Watch for the human face of a man in one of the rocks about six miles after you leave Napa. Also the stone bridge over the Patah creek, which is claimed to be the biggest of its kind in California.

Winters is the first large town you enter after leaving Napa. The road from Winters to the highway, over a distance of about ten miles, is not the best and slow driving is necessary. After reaching the highway travel again becomes a pleasure till you arrive in Martinez over the Martinez-Benicia ferry route.

This trip should be easily made in a day with plenty of time for a rest in the mountains.

MAXWELL

There is a definite reason for the brilliant performance of a Maxwell car.

Lift the bonnet and you see the simplest of engines. Examine clutch and gears, and you see supreme simplicity.

The definite reason for Maxwell performance and endurance is the fine steels, those steels built to Maxwell's own formulas, that combine quality and rare strength, that defy time and the repairman.

This is the story of the Maxwell, the real cause for brilliant performance and long endurance. These steels do not burden the engine. They make its tasks easier. They flatten out a hill for the engine.

The combination of light weight and great strength—the ideal of Maxwell construction—is thus achieved.

And to obtain that rare combination of strength with quality means costly steels. So you will find that, pound for pound, the steels in a Maxwell equal those in any car built.

That is why the rise of Maxwell has been so marked; why nearly 400,000 have been built; why 100,000 are being constructed this year; why these will fill but 60% of the demand.

THE high esteem in which California holds the Dort is based on specific reasons.

The car has proved its usual unusual capacity for difficult daily duty under all sorts of road conditions.

It has established as a hard and fast fact beyond dispute, that it will perform long and loyally with but infrequent requirement of mechanical attention.

And it is generally known that the yearly Dort operating expense is considerably lower than the rule.

CHANDLER SIX

The Most Closely Priced Fine Car

We Let You Know What The Chandler Price Is

THE Chandler Motor Car Company, ever since the first Chandler Car was built seven years ago, has, in every advertisement issued to newspapers and magazines and all other forms of publications, stated the list price of the Chandler Car.

It states it now, and will continue to do so. There is good reason for this and many thousands of motor car owners know it. This is the reason---The Chandler Six is the most closely priced fine car in the whole medium priced field.

Look through the pages of this paper or a magazine that may be lying on your table. There are probably from ten to twenty automobile advertisements. How many name the price of the car?

True, the cost of automobile production has increased in the past year, and it is still increasing. But the Chandler Company, throughout 1919, with all its production greatly oversold, held to its price.

The Chandler Six of today is a highly perfected development of the Chandler Six of seven years ago, which started the trend toward lightweight sixes. All the engineering skill and production efficiency at the command of the Chandler Company has been devoted to this one chassis and that fact is one of the reasons for the Chandler's leadership in its field today.

All Chandler bodies are mounted on the one standard Chandler Chassis. Simple, sturdy and dependable throughout, its features embrace, as for years past, the really marvelous Chandler Motor, solid cast aluminum motor base, annular ball bearings, silent chain drive for the auxiliary motor shafts, and Bosch magneto ignition.

AUTO FIRMS SPURN TALE OF SLUMP

There are still some pessimists who burn up quarts and quarts of the midnight oil, ink and energy compiling statistics in an effort to prove that a few years hence will see great automobile factories stifled forever—that the beautiful major car showrooms will have become fish markets or fruit stands. Why?

Because, they argue, these United States will soon become so "saturated" with automobiles that they'll be given away with every dollar's worth of meat you buy at the grocery store.

BUILDING CONTINUES
Perhaps the gloomy predictions are true, but if they are it is rather strange that men who head big motor-building corporations, men who have studied conditions for many years, are planning to double the size of their factories.

Charles Griffiths, coast distributor of the American Balanced Six, relies to the flag of everlasting production with a few statistics himself.

"It," said Griffiths, "the point of saturation is not at hand in the demand for automobiles, then we certainly have no evidence of it. The American Motors Corporation, builders of the American Balanced Six, is going ahead with absolute confidence in the future of the automobile industry and in the prosperity of the nation, which is a fact that is evident at every hand."

SIZE IS DOUBLED
"Notwithstanding the fact that the factory at Plainfield, N. J., has been doubled in size within the last seven months, plans are now completed for increasing it again by the addition of a new factory comprising more than 75,000 square feet of floor space.

"But still more indicative of the faith we have in the automobile's future is the announcement that another plant has been established at Greensboro, N. C., where the 'smile car'—as the American Balanced Six is commonly known—will be assembled for distribution through the South. It is stated that the factory has been forced to take this step by the fast-growing demand for its product in the Southern territory."

Trousers Torn Off While Cranking Auto
The old sign of "Beware the Mule" translated into modern language should read "Beware the Ford Crank." Andy Thompson, Auburn, Wash. farmer, failed to heed this warning, drove his car up in front of the principal bank of Hoquiam, Wash., got out, started to crank the Ford, the crank caught in his waist band and a second later Andy was trouserless in the street and two score of spectators were gasping at him. Thompson was rescued by a sympathetic fellow motorist and hastened to a tailor.

Through the great part motor vehicles played in the defeat of "the enemy of the world" on battlefields of France, one of the leading manufacturers of motor trucks was decorated with the Croix de Guerre by the French government.

Auto Industry Now Ranks Next to Steel

The automobile industry now ranks second in the United States, being second in output only by steel. On its payrolls are nearly a million employees, whose checks support approximately 5,000,000 people. The United States has 132 automobile factories, which produce over 400 different models, which, with accessories aggregate an annual value of almost $2,000,000,000. The nation boasts over 43,000 garages and has over 32,000 automobile dealers. Despite these astounding figures the industry is claimed by experts still to be in its infancy, with rich foreign markets barely touched, and the demand for cars at home exceeding the supply.

Celluloid Windows Are Easy to Repair

To repair celluloid automobile windows is not nearly as difficult a job as may be assumed, according to American Motorist, which goes on to say: "The job requires only some sheet celluloid—sold by every top repairer and by many automobile supply houses—and some celluloid cement. The latter makes it unnecessary to use needle and thread in replacing windows. Smaller breaks or rips in the celluloid may be repaired by cementing a patch of new celluloid over it, which will give excellent service for a long time."

Popular Salesman Will Be Distributor

Fred W. Hauger, who has been connected with the Haynes Company for the last nine years, has resigned, and is now on his way East to close the contract for Western distribution of a fan automobile, through a company organized here under his own name.

The company is known as the Fred W. Hauger Motors Company, Inc., and will handle the line, yet to be named, in several Western States.

There is no secret to success; anybody can achieve it who will work hard enough for it. Fools think the motor vehicle trade is an exception to this universal rule.

Dragging Brakes Add to Gas Consumption

Dragging brakes should be promptly adjusted. They slow up speed and force the consumption of larger amounts of gasoline. The test for dragging brakes, jack up the rear of the car and spin the wheels to ascertain if they move freely.

Cobras are always ready to fight.

Why there's a "snap" to the action of a CHALMERS

PERHAPS you've noticed the sluggishness, the "heaviness" of the action in so many cars of today.

Ride in this new Chalmers and you will observe the difference.

There is an underlying reason for the "snap" in a Chalmers. It's due to the manner in which it gets results out of "gas."

As you know, "gas" has deteriorated, gone down and down in grade.

Feeding the "gas" you get today into the average engine is giving it a "food" that it can't digest. Engines have got to be redesigned.

Chalmers engineers were first to act. They found the answer in Hot Spot and Ram's horn. The raw, heavy "gas" (which has just as much power in it as the so-called better grade of "gas" that once was purchasable) strikes Hot Spot, is heated, "broken up" into very fine particles, and forms a "cloud."

Then Ram's horn, which is one of the greatest improvements ever made in engines, hurries the "cloud" before it can condense, to the cylinders.

The results are astonishing. You get an action from "gas" you believed no longer possible.

A year later you will find that those troubles which afflict so many cars today on account of the low grade "gas" situation are not to be found in the Chalmers—troubles like burned bearings, frequently fouled spark plugs, scored cylinders, repair bills that come from excessive and endless vibration. You, too, will join that growing circle which declares that Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

DEMAND FOR CARS GROWS WITH BOUNDS

What has become of that fanciful old bugaboo, "the saturation point?" Five years ago, when automobile factories were smaller than today and something like 3,000,000 less automobiles were in use, the statistical experts wore out pencils by the gross working up a hectic scare that some day there would be no buyers left for motor cars because everyone would have one.

Since that period of mathematical pessimism there has been the greatest demand for cars in the history of the industry. And today, with more than 6,000,000 autos in use in the United States there is a larger unfilled order list than ever before. So the "saturation point" has been relegated with other woeful predictions which never came true and the auto industry today is going ahead as rapidly as conditions will permit to increase the factory output.

"The use of the motor car has only begun," said Charles S. Howard, president of the Howard Automobile Company. President Howard should speak with some authority for he has become the largest dealer in automobiles in the world from a small start in San Francisco fifteen years ago. "The automobile, in its various forms, has entered business and become a part of the great merchandising, commercial and industrial machinery of America and the world."

"The automobile has won its place in the sun against adversity. The hardest opposition to face is ridicule. And see what ridicule was directed against the motor car. It was the subject for stage jokes and polite conversational wit. The man with a car a few years ago was continually twitted about his trouble, imaginary or otherwise."

"That was the test of the automobile. It lived and thrived. Never was there a mechanical device which became so instantly popular for while the public joked, those who poked jests secretly wanted cars themselves."

"The industry has become the marvel of the world. For instance, the Buick factory has turned out more than 600,000 valve-in-head cars since the first two-cylinder was introduced. But even this number never has been able to meet the demand. That is the reason why the Buick production goal has been set at 750 cars a day."

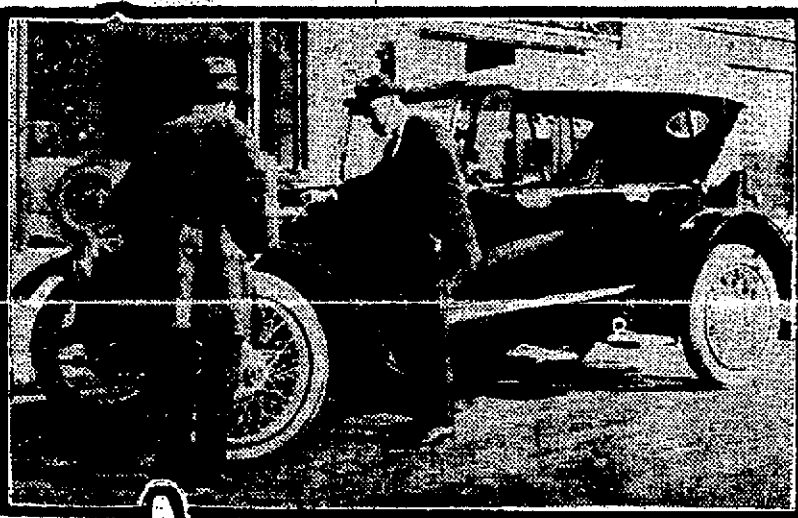

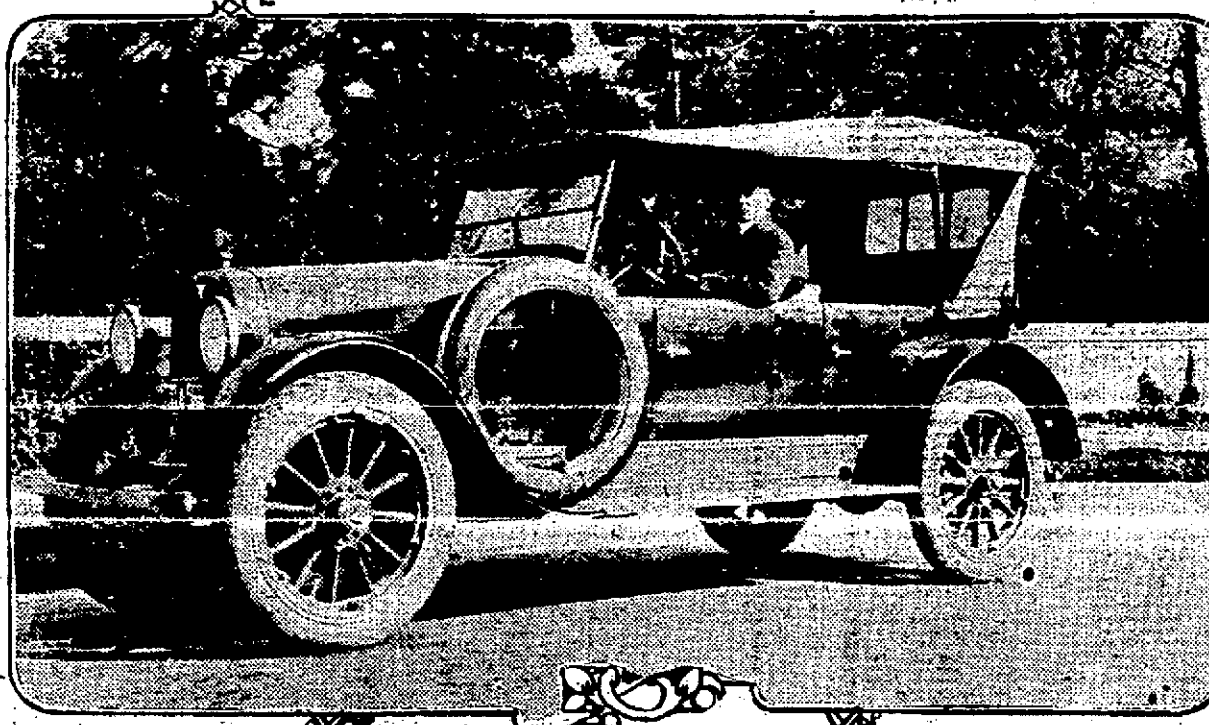

Salesmen to Enter Business for Sellers

C. D. Rees and G. H. Forman, well-known San Francisco motor car salesmen, have launched into business for themselves in Stockton.

These two men, long connected with the automobile business in this city, have decided to make this move in order to get into business for themselves and enter the lists of the employers instead of the employees. They have a host of friends up and down the State who will wish them well and aid them make a success of their present venture.

There are eight automobile factories in Barcelona, Spain.

Many Miles of Wire Needed for Magnetos

Over 10,000 miles of wire are used every month in the manufacture of Bosch magnetos, according to Irving Kline, manager of the Motor Car Electrical company in this city. If pieced together, this wire would stretch from the big factory at Springfield, Mass., to Hongkong, China, by way of San Francisco and the Hawaiian Islands. Every foot of this fifty odd million feet of wiring is uniform in thickness and thoroughly insulated. It is as slender as a silken thread, for ten to eleven thousand turns of it are wound upon every armature. Tons and tons of metal and fibre composition are also used monthly in making various other parts of Bosch magnetos.

AUTOIST SHOULD KNOW HIS CAR

"If every motorist would only learn something about his own car he would save considerable money," claims G. M. Haskins, manager of the Oakland branch of the Western Auto Supply Agency. "For example," said Haskins, "suppose a man has trouble with his motor, what does he do? Nine out of ten times he takes it to the nearest garage or service station where he leaves it to be repaired. Half of these troubles are due to the fact that people do not understand their motors sufficiently to be able to make the adjustments that would make some repairs unnecessary. If his motor starts to miss he takes his car to the repair shop instead of examining the spark plug himself to see if the trouble lies there."

SINCE THE BIG EVENTS ON THE LOS ANGELES SPEEDWAY interest has been largely stimulated regarding the Roamer owing to many models being equipped with a Duesenberg engine. In the accompanying illustration appears a scene at the P. K. Webster Company, the features of the Duesenberg motor being explained to a "prospect" by C. S. Payne, a salesman.

TIRES WITHSTAND HARD ROAD USE

Jack Aregood, local manufacturer, has generally been known as a "speed burner." It has been his habit to drive his car at a high speed, and he has never been known to stop for a tire. However, since the recent agitation against speeding, resultant from the many accidents following this practice, he is reported to have materially modified the rate at which he has been accustomed to travel.

Aregood purchased a Hudson Super-Six four-passenger phaeton, a development of the model once known as the speedster, last December. It was equipped with non-skid fabric tires. In the three and one-half months that he has owned the car it has been kept in constant use, as shown by the speedometer, which on last Wednesday registered 8800 miles. A good part of California has been covered by the machine in this comparatively brief period, trips being made from San Francisco to the north and into Lower California on the south, including considerable mountain traveling. The tread on the front tires still look good, while those on the rear tires have not yet become smooth.

THE PACKARD FUELIZER

Makes Any Gasoline a Perfect Fuel

In less than a year Packard engineers have developed this remarkable automatic device—a thing which other engineers the world over have struggled toward for years

LONG has the sound of the grinding of valves and cleaning of cylinders echoed throughout the land.

Many the motor which has met an untimely end because kerosene formed on cylinder walls and washed away the protecting oil.

Myriad have been the voices raised in angry protest against gasoline that would not gas and cold motors that balked like the classic mule.

But a new day has come. The Fuelizer is an accomplished fact.

Every Atom of Gasoline Consumed

So perfect is the working of the Fuelizer that not even an atom of the precious gasoline escapes combustion.

It seems obvious, therefore, that carbon cannot crust the valves or cylinders nor mix with kerosene and foul the spark plugs—stealing "pep" from motor and motorist alike.

Equally obvious, perhaps, that kerosene and the other low-grade elements of gasoline cannot form and wash the lubricating oil from the pistons, cylinder walls and crankshaft bearings.

Few motorists indeed have escaped this latter trouble. Remember the thrill of finding more oil in your crankcase than you had put in—and the dismay of finding that the "oil" was half kerosene—a dangerous nonlubricating mixture, which had robbed your motor of countless miles of life. But now, with the Fuelizer, one's crankcase is as sacred as the inside of a safe.

Ten Seconds From Summer

The present is always the pressing thing. Fuel is poor. Motors are on their bad behavior.

The black despair which fills men's hearts as they step into their cars on frosty mornings need no longer be listed among the necessary evils of life.

For the Fuelizer will make your accelerator really an accelerator, no matter how cold or damp the mornings.

And that happy summertime song of the motor driving on high may be heard in ten seconds or so—if—and only if—your car is equipped with a Fuelizer.

Packard engineers feel confident after many practical tests that the problem of starting a cold motor has been met for all time.

A Word to the Cautious

Yes! Throw away your radiator shutters and bonnet covers.

The Fuelizer fuelizes the gasoline when the engine is running, but has no effect at any time upon the cooling system.

And May the Past Bury Its Dead!

Those of us so fortunate as to possess a Fuelizer can well afford to forget the old controversy waged between the automobile maker and gasoline maker, for truly the motorist's troubles were the fault of neither or of both.

Forget, too, in generous spirit, the many so-called "cures" for fuel ills.

Packard announces the Fuelizer with the same assurance of success with which it announced the famous Twin-Six motor in 1915.

It Is This—Nothing Less

The Wise Men of today will say of the Fuelizer what Wise Men of all ages have said of great things: "It is simple—so simple it is a wonder no one thought of it before."

The mechanically inclined will find much to wonder at in its unique construction—but even a novice can understand its principle.

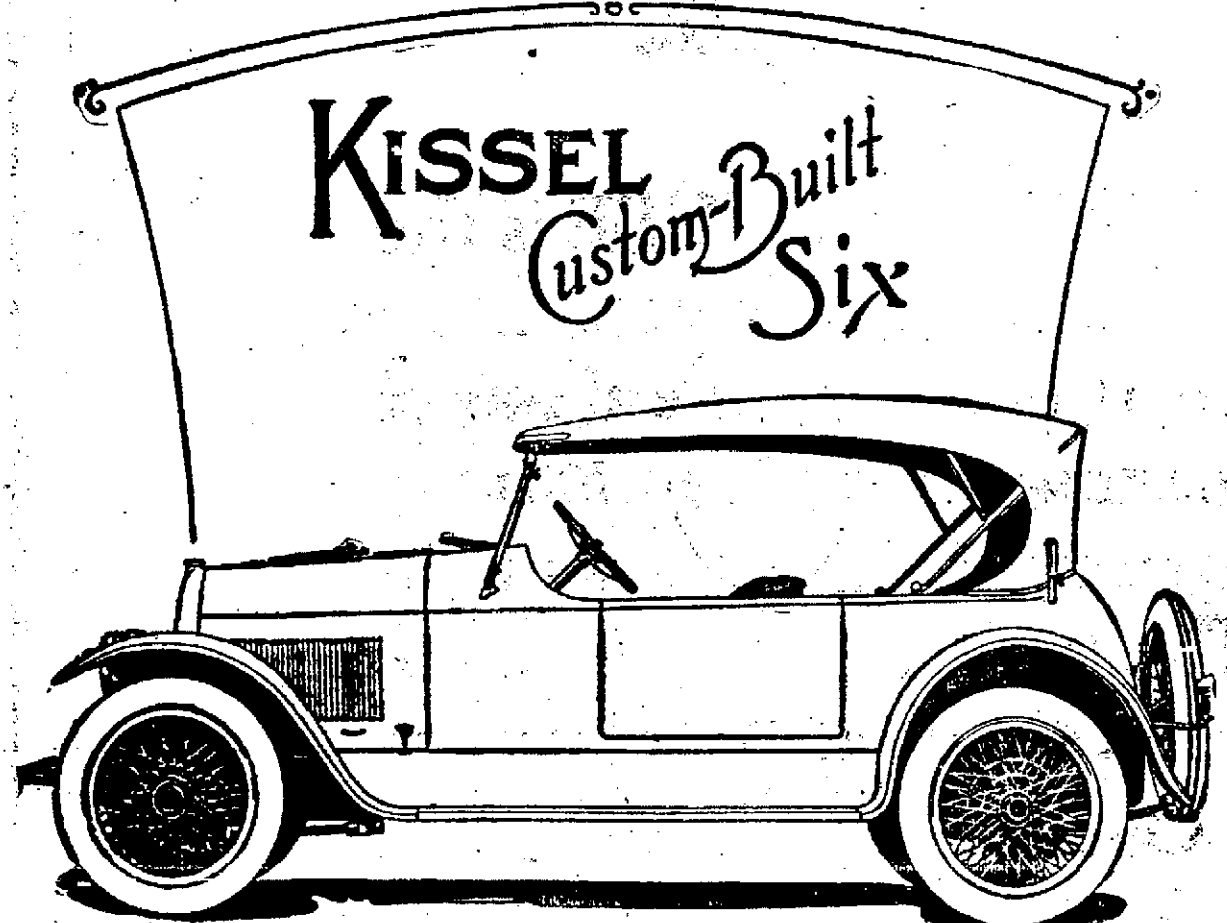

To most of us it is but a part of the Packard carburetor and intake manifold—automatic, yet without a single moving part.

It is this—a pipe, a plug, a chamber—and a miracle.

Just a Moment, Please!

More than six million motor cars today need the Fuelizer. More than even Packard resources could serve in a long time.

So of necessity, for the present year or so, the Fuelizer is a feature of the Packard exclusively.

FOR the motorist looking for the utmost in luxury, power and chassis development—this type sportif.

The custom-built motor—the new automatic oil control—were designed, perfected and made by Kissel—two exclusive Kissel features.

MANY FLYING CRAFT WILL BE EXHIBITED

With Walter Hempel handling the controls, preparations for the Pacific Coast Aeronautical exposition which is to be held in the civic auditorium April 21 to 28, are moving fast. So successful were the Chicago and New York shows that practically every exhibit will be brought here from New York intact, providing the planes aren't wrecked by our talented baggage smashers en route. Among those which attracted particular attention at the middle west and eastern shows were the two enclosed models developed by the Dayton-Wright company. They were designed by Orville Wright and are the latest thing in comfort for the aerial tourist. The smaller coupe is fully as roomy as the average automobile coupe and is arranged with the pilot seated in a luxurious narrow armchair immediately in front of a wide, comfortable rear seat which will hold two or three people. It is completely enclosed and has the comfort and roominess of a high-priced automobile. Its airplane characteristics are those of the common or garden variety of bi-planes having stick control and a 180-horsepower Hispano-Suiza motor. There are no warding structural features.

PLANE SHOWS SPEED.

The larger of the two enclosed models shown by this company is an adaptation of the DeHavilland 9 to commercial work. Using the 400-horsepower Liberty motor the plane could very easily be mistaken from a distance for a D-12, but close inspection shows a neat little cabin situated well back in which the pilot and two other persons can be carried in the greatest comfort. This plane is very fast, being capable of probably 120 miles an hour and carries a large gasoline capacity, making it very handy for gentlemen who want to get from San Francisco to Tiburon and back in a hurry. Curtiss will be represented by the standard Curtiss models, JN-4, Oriole, Geagull and Eagle, the last three being the new peace time ships and the JN-4 being the old familiar, two-seater plane in which a vast majority of all the American and Canadian pilots were trained during the war. The Oriole is the new Curtiss three-seater, an open ship which has made a most enviable record during its existence. Quite a number of notable cross-country performances have been made by Oriones during the past year and many of these planes are now in every-day use. The seagull is the nautical com-terpart of the Oriole, being a three-passenger flying boat. Like the Oriole it uses the Curtiss six-cylinder 150-horsepower motor and has proven very popular. The Eagle is the big multi-motored Curtiss creation which has been built in two sizes. The original Eagle carried a total of eight people and used three of the six-cylinder 150-horsepower motors, while the later model, which was shown at New York had instead two 400-horsepower motors and carried ten people. It will make, it is claimed, 135 miles an hour with a full load and will fly on one motor.

SMALL MOTOR USED.

The Goodyear pony blimp, a huge, fat-bellied gas bag with a tiny little car swung down below, is the latest entrant into the commercial field.

It is the smallest dirigible balloon made and carries two people. The motor is extremely small, scarcely any larger than that of a Ford, but develops forty horsepower and shoves the balloon along at a very good pace. Quite a number of these were sold at the eastern shows and will be put on regular commercial service in the middle west.

Locks and keys of brass and iron have been found in the ruins of Pompeii.

PONY BLIMP TO BE PUT ON EXHIBITION

That the friends of aviation in the west are measuring up fully to the opportunities presented to make a direct appeal to the people, is indicated in the interest taken in the first aeronautical show of the Pacific coast, to be held in the auditorium at San Francisco, April 21 to 28.

Encouraged by the unprecedented interest in the aero shows held recently in Chicago and New York, they have secured official sanction for the San Francisco show from the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association under whose auspices the eastern shows were made. Held in a section of the country where aviation is free from many of the climatic disadvantages of the east, the western show should rank favorably in interest and attendance with the two exhibitions that for several years have been recognized in the east.

At the recent Chicago and New York shows the Goodyear "Pony Blimp" was one of the sensations. This is a small dirigible designed for pleasure flying—a sort of roadster of the air, or "flyingabout." It is but 55 feet long, has accommodations for two passengers and under favorable conditions will attain a speed of 40 miles an hour. The propulsive force is a 40 horsepower motor. The pony blimp's advantage lies in its inexpensive and easy operation.

This pony blimp will constitute a part of the Goodyear exhibit at the San Francisco show.

"SAVAGE" TIRE & TUBES

MADE BY THE HOUSE OF SPRECKELS

SAVAGE POLICIES

The unlimited resources of the House of Spreckels are back of The Spreckels "Savage" Tire Company, in its purpose to make for the motoring public reliable and dependable goods of proven merit. Not subject to the whims of stockholders, The Spreckels "Savage" Tire Company is able to adhere to the chosen policy of manufacturing products that are made to a standard and not to a price. The result in the final analysis is that the consumer pays less per mile for the performance given by these products.

An undertaking of this nature requires constant research for improvement—necessitating large expenditures of money, effort and time. Few companies are able to give these unsparingly. The Spreckels "Savage" Tire Company is not only able but does it with a result quite apparent in "Savage" Tire products. The methods employed, the selection of raw materials, the skill of the workmen, the constant search for flaws, all reflect the purpose behind the making and are important factors in the manufacture of products bearing the Spreckels "Savage" name.

SAVAGE PRODUCTS

A thorough study of the requirements of the present day motorist resulted in the making of a new departure in tire construction. That new departure is expressed in our D Type Tire. A big, sturdy, flexible, oversize, hand-built casing made by improved methods, of the best grades of raw materials and according to our own specifications as found necessary to meet the needs of the motorist of today; the "Savage" D Type Tire, because of its wonderful performance on the road, has been judged by many motorists the best fabric tire on the American market.

Regular "Savage" Tires are made to ordinary standards as far as size is concerned, though in quality they are second only to the "Savage" D Type. "Savage" Plain and Grip Tread types are made in all ordinary and many odd and unusual sizes. "Savage" Ribbed Treads are made in small popular sizes and the oversize 3 1/2 inch (37 1/2). The same careful attention is given to details affecting the building of these tires that is given to the "D" Type. Each "Savage" in its class is built to Excel. "Savage" Grey or Canvas tubes make splendid road companions for any tire.

TRUCK AIDS RAIL LINES AS FEEDER

By P. M. FITZ,
Manager of the First National Ship-
Truck Bureau.

Perhaps the greatest argument for the extension of the ship-by-truck movement in Central California occurs at frequent intervals, when electric and steam railroads are compelled to establish freight and express embargoes until the congestion in their terminals is relieved.

This statement is not to be taken as an attack or criticism of any railroad, nor is the program of the Ship-by-Truck Bureau antagonistic to them. One of the basic principles on which the work of those interested in motor express is fixed is that there are two fields of transportation, the short haul and the long haul, or through freight, the first of which, it is maintained, belongs as much to the motor truck as does the trunk line operations of the freight car to the railroads.

It is estimated that approximately 35 per cent of the freight awaiting loading at the railway terminal during the embargoes is not intended for delivery at points more than fifty or sixty miles distant from Central California. The vast bulk of that 35 per cent is capable of being delivered by motor truck.

The former director-general of the United States Railroad Administration issued a statement urging shippers everywhere to utilize other means of transportation as much as possible until the roads are able to return to something of the pre-war service.

Railroad officials have appointed committees to investigate to determine the extent of assistance which motor trucks can be to them in the prosecution of their business. They are looking to motor truck not as a competitor in their business, but as an aid, an ally, a feeder for their lines already established. In certain instances trucks are taking the place of short lines, formerly built as feeders at a vast outlay of money.

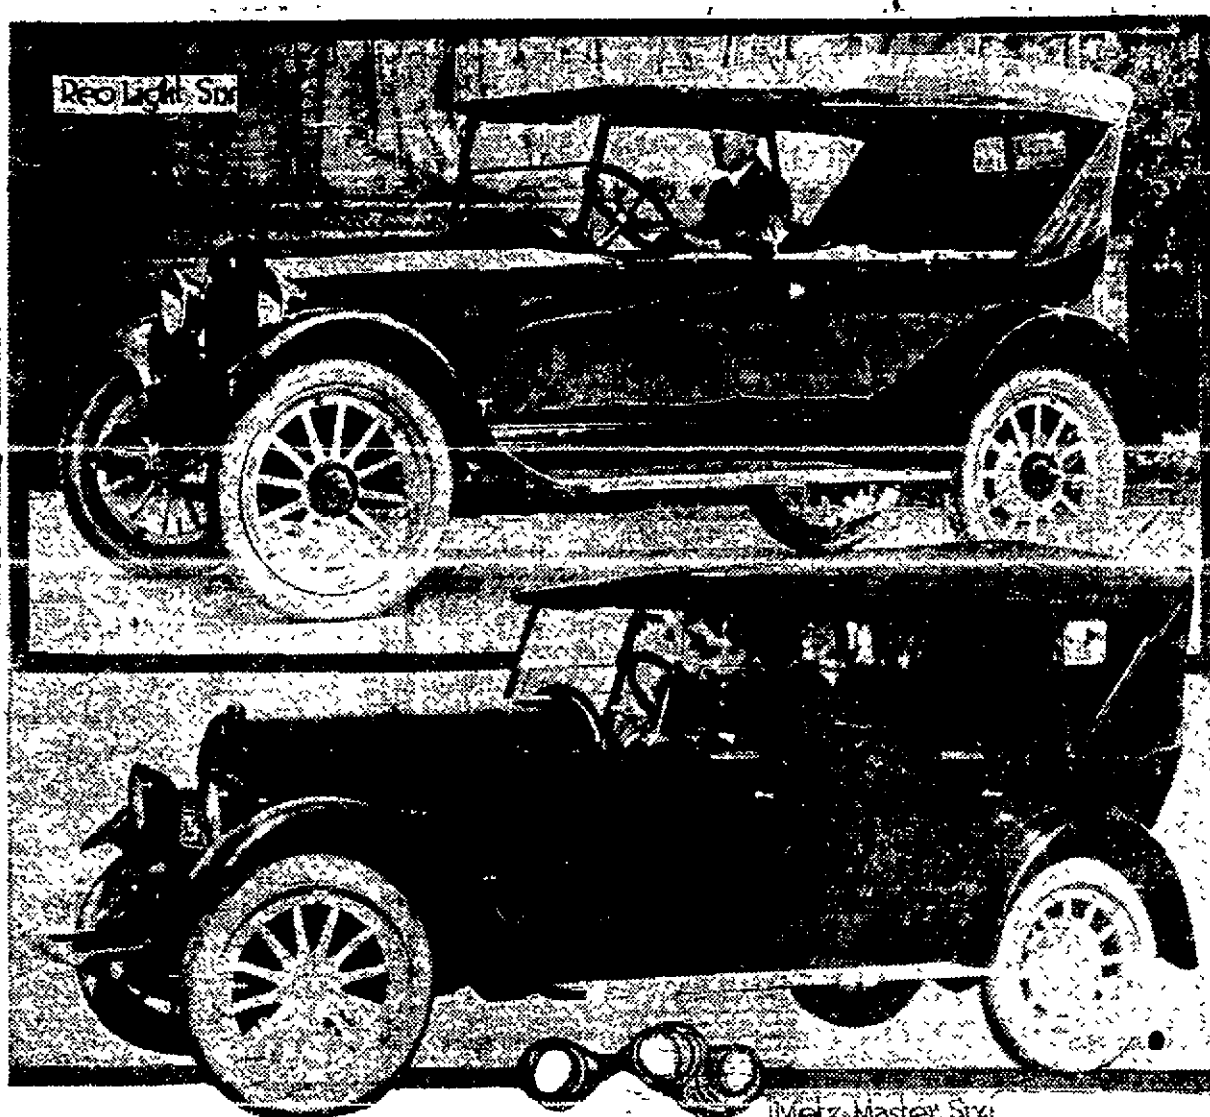

One prominent railroad official has experienced the wish that the motor truck may be able to relieve his line of the curse of the short haul.

More than 112 independent trucking routes are listed with the bureau, and thirteen regularly operating routes are running out of Oakland which daily look to the bureau for assistance of one kind and another. The thirteen routes are as follows:

- Route No. 5—Oakland to Fresno, via river steamer to Stockton, connecting with truck line to Fresno.
- Route No. 6—Berkeley to San Francisco via Oakland.
- Route No. 7—Fresno to San Francisco via Oakland.
- Route No. 8—Alameda to San Francisco via Oakland.
- Route No. 9—Merced to San Francisco via Oakland.
- Route No. 11—Oakland to San Francisco.
- Route No. 12—Oakland to Martinez.
- Route No. 17—Oakland to Niles.
- Route No. 18—Oakland to Irvington via Niles.
- Route No. 19—Oakland to Point Richmond via Berkeley.
- Route No. 21—Oakland to Hayward.
- Route No. 22—Oakland to Mountain View via San Jose.
- Route No. 31—Oakland to San Jose via Niles.

The general application of the ship-by-truck principle, it is believed, must await a more perfect understanding of the possibilities and capabilities of the motor truck on the part of producer and consumer alike. A campaign of education which the bureau has conducted throughout the country has performed wonders, but it is far from complete. An extension of the program awaits good roads legislation and good roads construction.

New Freak Occurs at Race Meet Tire Disappearing Act Is Staged

In the great speedway races which have been run on the various race courses of the country many thousands of racing enthusiasts have left the thrill that comes from witnessing a freak performance on the track. Cars apparently under perfect control suddenly skid and crash through the fence, or a driver may come out of a turn so fast that his car describes a circle before resuming its forward journey, or a car may suddenly lock its brakes and catapult diagonally across the track into the fence. Such instances are not uncommon. In the early days of racing throwing a tire from a revolving wheel was almost standard practice, and racing men expected it constantly. Now, however, with the wonderful improvement in tires and the methods of holding them to the rims, such occurrences are extremely rare. It is seldom that a tire parts company with its car unless the entire wheel works off the axle.

It remained for Art Klein, however, to introduce a new tire disappearing "stunt" into racing history, in the 230-mile championship race just held on the new Los Angeles speedway. While leading a field of veteran drivers at a speed of 104 miles an hour in the 133rd mile, Klein's right rear wheel collapsed in such a manner that every steel wire spoke was sheared off clean at its junction with the rim. His three-wheeled mount crawled about crazily on the track for an instant while the sheared-off rim with its mounted Good-year tire kept rolling down the race course. When finally captured this tire was intact and still perfectly mounted, although it was subjected to a terrific strain when the rim parted from the spokes. This is the first time within the memory of racing men that a freak performance of this character has happened in automobile racing.

Automobile with a right hand drive are the popular cars in Buenos Aires.

Since January 1, in twelve States there have been 467 motor vehicle bills introduced before the Legislatures.

SOLID TRAIN OF MACHINES COVERS WEST

The man who charters a private car has nothing on the automobile dealers at the present time for many of them are trying to beg, borrow or some other way get a whole train of cars in which to ship cars and trucks from the factories to the Pacific coast.

One of the first trains loaded solid with automobiles and trucks to leave a factory since the railways were returned to private ownership, left the Reo factory this past week bound for California and the shipment will be distributed to the stores of Earle C. Anthony, Inc., and the Reo dealers.

For weeks the traffic manager of the firm has been east looking for freight car equipment in which to move cars west and a few days ago was able to get a train of gondolas at Chicago. They were sent to Lansing at once and loaded for the west coast.

This train has been chartered to make several round trips between the Reo and Dort factories and California points loaded solid each time with automobiles.

Three years ago the Anthony firm had a train of fifty flat cars that made a number of trips before the railways were able to handle the shipments in the regular manner fast enough to serve the firm needs.

On each trip a representative of the firm rides on the train and it is no pleasure trip. He is fireman in the sense of preventing fires rather than maintaining them. Skipping from car to car when the canvas covers, over the machines leaves a strip six inches wide along the side of the cars on which to walk is no snap but that was all the space allowed.

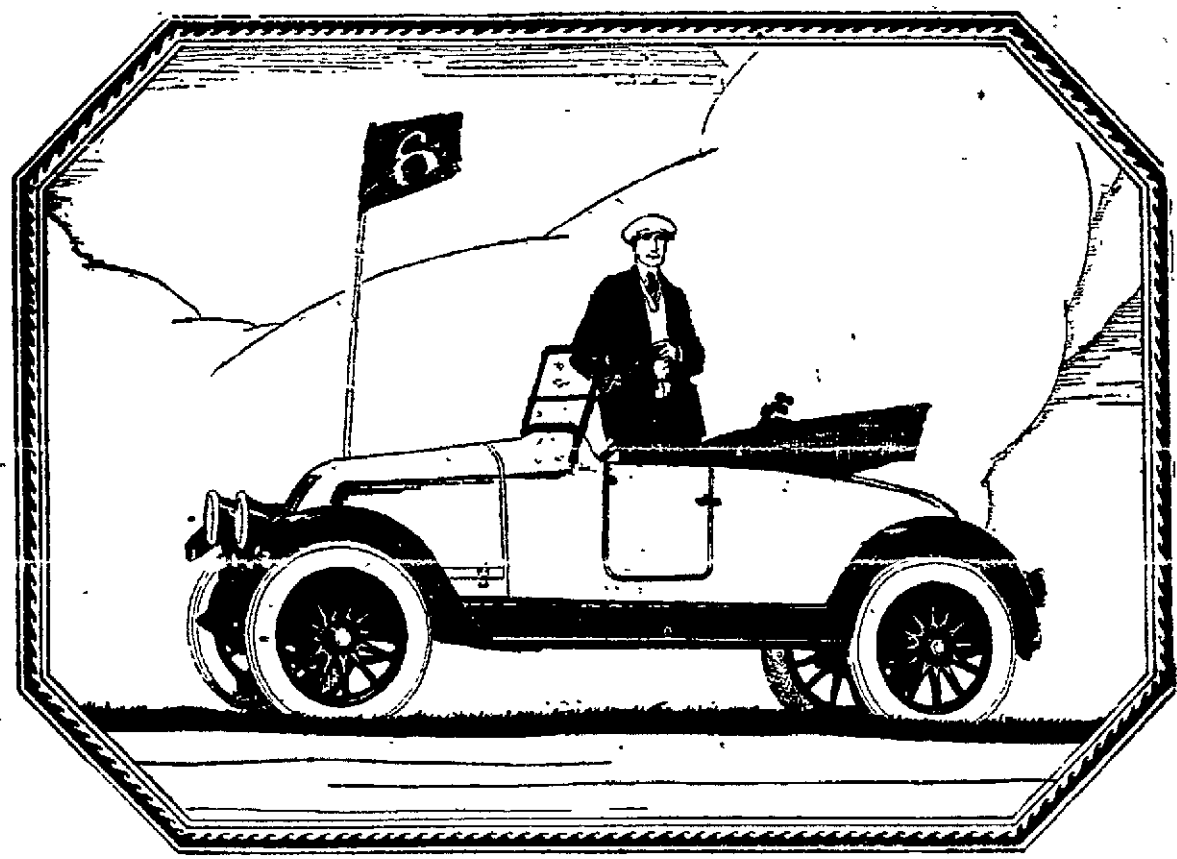

As in other British countries, the left rule of the road and the right-hand drive is the custom in New Zealand.

CONTINUANCE OF HIGHWAY WORK URGED

Vigorous objections to discontinuance of highway construction whether the result of a desire for retrenchment or because of the present depreciation of state highway bonds is voiced in a letter forwarded yesterday by President Perry E. Towne of the California State Automobile Association to Governor William D. Stephens.

Towne's letter to Governor Stephens, which asserts a discontinuance of construction will be a grave mistake, follows:

A morning paper contains an editorial intimating that state highway work is to be shut down either as the result of a desire for retrenchment or because of present depreciation of state highway bonds. REGARDS MY MISTAKE.

I trust you will pardon me when I say that action of this sort would be a great mistake even in the face of abnormal construction cost which comprehends, as one of its elements, current low price of bonds.

Should work be stopped the present splendid state highway organization must either be maintained at an excessive overhead expense, or compared with a small volume of work or derailed with results that would be little short of fatal.

It has taken years to gather the present engineering force of the highways and until only recently the young men of this organization have worked for less compensation than they could have secured in other employments.

Should work be stopped the force for any reason would be to destroy something that it has taken years to establish and would take other years to restore. To continue it in idleness would be calamitous.

SEVENTH DEMANDS WORK. "Our association is in intimate touch with public sentiment in 45 of the 58 counties of California. This sentiment demands a continuance of state highway work. The expectation throughout this section of the state is that work will go ahead and upon that theory the $40,000,000 bond issue of July, 1919 was passed. Should highway work be stopped for any reason other than an absolute impossibility of continuing it, a storm of protest would undoubtedly arise.

"I trust you will pardon my frank statement of opinion. I believe that the stoppage of state highway work would be a grave mistake."

Idle Trucks Are Loss to Investor

The idle truck not only earns no profits, but represents a steady loss. To obtain a maximum return on the investment, a maximum of work must be produced by the truck.

Overhead expense, including depreciation, interest on investment, insurance, garage charges, etc., is constant whether the truck be on the road or in the repair shop. But when the truck is working, this cost is dissipated.

The Union States Postoffice Department first used motor mail wagons in 1896.

BIG HIGHWAY ASSOCIATION TELLS PLANS

By JIM HOULIHAN.
The TRIBUNE wired the Lincoln Highway Association to learn what plans this organization intends to put into operation during the coming spring and summer months, and the reply to it, from A. F. Bennett, president of the association, contains information that is of intense interest to California motorists.

Bennett's wire follows:
"The Lincoln Highway Association, Oakland, California.
Our plans for further promotional work this year are extensive. In addition to the existing contracts with the state of Nevada for improvements which we hope to see completed this year we plan entering into further contracts for further improvements in that state and Utah. Ostermann is now in Salt Lake City endeavoring to arrange for immediate completion of Goodyear Cutoff and connecting sections.

MARKING PROPOSED
We propose also to bring about the permanent marking of the Lincoln highway for eleven hundred miles, Omaha, Neb., to New York City, enamel steel signs like those used at Omaha. This job to cost about twenty thousand dollars.

We have in mind also an ambitious plan to construct on the Lincoln highway at some central point an ideal section of the Lincoln highway designed to embody all those features originally in the minds of the Lincoln Highway Association's founders and to express the highest development of modern American highway construction.

Publicity regarding our plans in this connection will be released in April. Funds adequate to take care of a section of ideal highway at least mile in length have been contributed to the association by the United States Rubber Company and the United States Tire Company. We are working with the A. A. A. to propose to secure the Golden Tour for the Lincoln way without degradation and to make this great motor classic a demonstration of the motor's practicability and facilities.

See booklet entitled "A Picture of Progress on the Lincoln Way," that you March 8 for additional details. Projected improvements in eleven states will approximate twelve million dollars.

A. F. BENNETT,
Vice-president Lincoln Highway Association.

ONE OF THE FIRST CARS OF THE SEASON TO NEGOTIATE THE ROAD ALONG THE South Fork of the Eel river and to Eureka and other points in the extreme northern points of California was a Chandler driven from Oakland to the Humboldt metropolis by A. E. Hermonson of that city. The scene shown herewith was taken along the rocky cliff just north of the Twin Rocks Hotel, overlooking the famous fishing stream.

Closed Cars Grow in Popularity Fifteen Per Cent of This Class

The outstanding feature of the year is the demand for cars with permanent tops (sedans and coupes), for that is the real definition of the closed car now-a-days. In days gone by there was a sentiment against the car with the permanent top, because the motorists of those days considered it a thing to get as cold as possible while riding.

To the person who thinks deeply on such matters this fact reflects the growing demand for automobiles with permanent tops. Analysis of conditions will show that this year more than ever before the enclosed motor car is answering the purposes to which owners put their cars. And there is every evidence that this demand will continue to grow.

Three years ago the enclosed automobile was a rare sight. It was considered then merely a machine for the noddle who was too weak to venture out in the wintry weather. It was relegated—in public opinion—to the idle rich who had money enough to buy a winter and a summer car. In other words, it was considered a fad.

San Francisco bay cities have no severe winters. So, the pessimists declared the enclosed car was doomed to disappear, points out Charles Burman, agent for Oakland Desirable Six cars.

On the contrary, however, these models have increased in numbers. One dealer estimates that today more than 15 per cent of the automobiles sold in the West are enclosed models. Dealers probably Ruppel's Circus will move about the country this year on a complete fleet of motor trucks of 2½ tons each and trailer attachments.

Since the close of the war 120 new motor truck plants have been established in Kansas City, Mo.

BROTHERS BUY TIRE BUSINESS

F. K. Talbott, who was connected with the Firestone sales staff of Oakland for a long time, and his brother, W. G. Talbott, a stationery engineer, have purchased the tire business of Paul Hoots.

They will continue business in the same location Hoots occupied, and will operate a Goodyear Tire service station. In addition they will carry on a general tire repair and vulcanizing department.

The brothers have secured the selling rights for Harwood piston rings in six Eastbay counties, and this accessory will be featured in an aggressive campaign among repair shops and accessory stores.

CALISTOGA AND ST. HELENA ROAD IN POOR SHAPE

The road between St. Helena and Calistoga is in poor condition, due to road work which is being carried on between the two towns. After heavy rains it is almost impassable.

Motorists who intend to tour in the region which includes these towns should bear this fact in mind.

Long Island, N. Y., was one of the first sections of the country to foster the racing of high-speed motor cars.

REAL TEST OF CAR IS MOTOR

The test of a fine automobile is in the workmanship of the motor under the hood. A car may be "dolled up" like a ship on holiday dress, and still have a poor power plant. If this is so, no amount of exterior decoration will make that car a good reliable transportation unit.

As an example the factory has just sent us a detailed description of the methods used in building some of the parts of the engine," claims Ben Hammond, manager of the Franklin Motor Car Company.

Every connecting rod is tested and proved for the following:

1. The distances between the center of the piston pin hole and the center of the crank pin hole must conform with specifications.
2. The bearing surface of each piston pin hole must be absolutely parallel with the bearing surface of the corresponding crank pin hole.
3. The connecting rod must be straight.
4. The weight of each of the

"Gats" Favored for Speed Fiends Ukiah Editor Urges Drastic Steps

Frank Perkins, a local automobile advertising writer, sent a clipping from the March 17 issue of the Ukiah Times-Journal to The TRIBUNE. It is very evident, after reading the story, that the Times-Journal editor is in favor of permitting pedestrians to carry "gats" for immediate suppression of reckless driving.

The article follows:
J. W. Ross of 6331 Floria street, Oakland, who arrived by noon train on Friday, to meet H. C. McAtee of 534 Ohio avenue, Richmond, who had come up by auto, was walking across the street with McAtee at the corner of East Perkins street and State street, when they were both run down by Mrs. W. H. Miller, who was driving her car at breakneck speed around the corner.

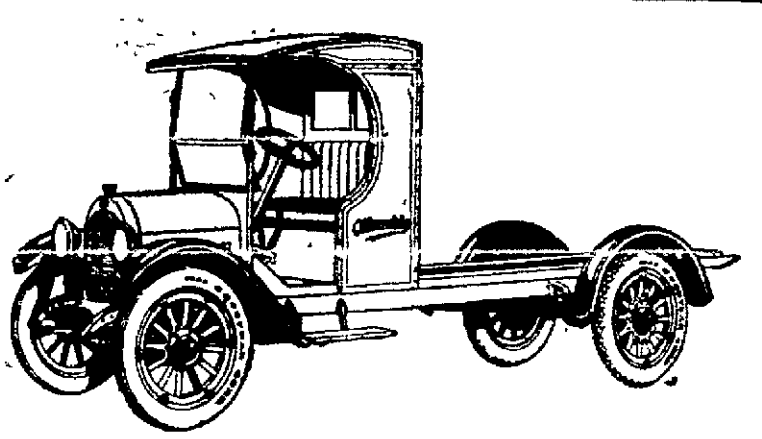

six connecting rods of any one engine must be absolutely alike. A slight fraction of an ounce difference is not allowable. Inspectors hold strictly to these standards.

Ross was quite seriously injured and McAtee not quite so badly.

The lady has been frequently criticised for her reckless driving. Had it been a child in her path on this occasion it would have been killed. Some one should be made an example of for the breaking of the speed law, which is constantly being done in Ukiah, or a tragedy will be the result.

As our officers do not seem to be successful in curbing this criminal carelessness, our pedestrians would be justified by law in pulling a pistol and shooting the party who tries to run them down. It would be self-defense, as one has a right to defend life, under all circumstances, and blessed will be the one who takes the first shot at the offenders. We would set the example if life and limb are threatened by the speed fiends of Ukiah.

The men who met with this "warm reception" came here for the week-end as probable investors

TUBES

The wide business uses for which the Essex Roadster is adapted are instantly apparent. Its utilities are many. But note no evidence of them is revealed when the Roadster is used as a pleasure car. Every line is smart, trim and graceful. It takes but a moment to make the change.

A World Endurance Record Proves Essex Dependability

A large class of its buyers are business men. They choose it for utility and dependable transportation. It becomes, in fact, a part of their business system. It must be on the job, keep all engagements on time, and be as responsible as an engineer's watch.

These same qualities, with its rare good looks, make the Roadster unsurpassed as a smart car for pleasure.

Economy, durability and train-like regularity are the standards set by Essex. These things have been shown in the hands of more than 25,000 owners.

It was more dramatically proved on the Cincinnati speedway, when an Essex stock chassis set the world's long distance endurance record of 3,037 miles in 50 hours. The same car, in three separate tests, traveled 5,870 miles at an average speed above a mile a minute. Another stock Essex set the world's 24-hour road mark of 1,061 miles over snow-covered Iowa roads.

It is specially suited for salesmen, inspectors and others who must cover wide territory, quickly and frequently. Though not large, the Essex is commodious. There is plenty of room for passengers, and special arrangements for carrying sample cases, unseen, and even a trunk if desired.

Come see the Essex Roadster. Ride in it. Try its paces. Whether you want it for business or pleasure, you will appreciate why Essex in its first year set a new world's sales record.

TRUCKS AID RAILROADS GET TRADE

William A. Davis of Teter, Davis, Titus Co., sponsors the claim that no single improvement in the transportation business in the past century has so broadened its scope and bettered its service as has the introduction of the motor truck and also that no transportation movement in recent years has attracted attention equaling the Ship by Truck idea.

"By means of the truck," Davis argues, "areas that have for ages been unproductive on account of their remoteness from rail lines have now been brought into cultivation. Instead of taking business away from the railroads, statistics show that the main lines have been swamped with business due in a large measure to the opening up of territories by use of the motor truck that has hitherto been considered too far from the railroads to be reached by wagon haul.

One of the greatest things the motor truck has done has been the enhancement of farm land values. In appraising farm property, other things being equal its price depends upon its relative position and accessibility to the large cities. Before the introduction of the motor truck the farmer who owned a place six or eight miles from the city was about on the outskirts of the radius that could be easily reached by wagon haul. While now the farmer living thirty miles from the city can take his products to the markets in about the same time.

"It follows then that his land is worth as much per acre thirty miles from the city as the land much closer in was worth when only five miles could be used. It is often said that the highways increase the value of farm property, but it must be borne in mind that the highways are of very little use unless they are used by motor cars and trucks. A horse-drawn vehicle does not make much better time on a highway than on a dirt road."

Lanternlight was used on the stage as early as 1837.

Communications to Be Published Must Be Signed

Unsigned communications addressed to The TRIBUNE will not be recognized by this newspaper. This remark is brought forth because of several inquiries addressed to the Automotive Department in the past week, each one of which directs criticism to traffic conditions in Oakland.

To The TRIBUNE tell specifically of conditions which need correction and they will be reprinted when the authors make known their identity.

THREE TYPES OF TRUCKS THAT ARE WELL KNOWN HERE. THE TOP ONE, AN AUTOCAR, equipped with Goodyear Cords owned by J. T. Monahan. (Center), a two-ton Moreland Truck with two-ton trailer attachment which William Bailey, Moreland manager, is displaying, and (lower), a big Nash Truck and trailer with Goodyear tires which have already run 12,000 miles.

SATISFIED OWNER VALUABLE ASSET

"Satisfied truck owners are firms or individuals that have been given the proper service after purchasing a truck," claims George R. Robbins, local Denby truck distributor. "Service not only means the repairing of a truck but also seeing that a truck owner will be able to get parts when he wants them."

Recently Robbins announced that he would carry a full stock for any emergency case that might arise. Arthur Munk, well known automobile repairman who, in nineteen years has seen the car or truck grow from a carriage to a marvelous piece of mechanical perfection, has been appointed manager of the service department for the Pacific Coast Motor Sales Co., Inc., Denby truck distributors.

Magnets can be made strong enough to carry a load of several tons.

NOTED RACER REJOINS FORCE

Gil Anderson, retired racing pilot, has returned as head of the experimental engineering department of the Stutz Motor Car Company of America, Inc., Indianapolis.

Anderson, who has been a racing pilot and daring have made him a contender in every big motor classic since his debut as a Stutz pilot in the first 600-mile race on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in 1911.

MILL MEN FIND TRUCKS GREAT HELP

While the motor truck has proved a great boon to many industries, there is, perhaps, none in which it has cut production costs more than in the lumber business, according to Max A. Wittenstein, retail sales manager of the Day-Elder truck division of the Weaver-Wells Company.

"Trucks will invariably prove their economy," claims Wittenstein, "on almost any haul, providing the right designed vehicle - properly equipped is used. Of course, loading and unloading conditions must be closely watched so that the trucks are kept on the move and the maximum amount of material is moved in the minimum amount of time."

"The dense lumber districts of the Northwest have provided the transportation engineers with some difficult problems. One haul that illustrates the value of pneumatic tires and that could never have been accomplished with solid tires is a lumber route between Zigzag and Government Camp on Mount Hood, on which two and one-half ton Day-Elder trucks are used. On this haul contracts required that the trucks operate night and day through all sorts of road conditions. Solid tires proved unsatisfactory on account of the snow, but the truck equipped with pneumatics solved the problem efficiently."

"At Coeurville, in the northwest part of Washington, there are two hauls that have proved the superiority of the motor truck over any other kind of transportation, one of them a distance of thirteen miles and the other seventeen miles. The lumber is white pine, which has been lying for one to three weeks. The road, what there is of it, is cut out of the side of a mountain and is nearly all down grade until the highway at the bottom of the grade is reached. On both hauls two and one-half ton trucks with long wheelbase are used. The loads carried run as high as 4800 feet. These are undoubtedly abnormal and ordinarily cannot be recommended, as it means about 200 per cent overload on the truck. Nevertheless they are making the trip on schedule time and handling approximately 50,000 feet of lumber on the two hauls with four trucks every day."

Nearly all the cane sugar produced in the United States is grown in Louisiana.

INDUSTRY OWES BIG PROGRESS TO MOTOR RACING

Motor racing has accomplished many valuable improvements for automotive industry. Among other things that racing has taught the automobile manufacturers are the following:

The advantages of the streamline body; how to make reliable pneumatic tires; how to develop detachable rims and detachable wheels; how to use wire wheels to the best advantage; how to make economical carburetors; the importance of correct distribution of weight; how to build reliable steering gear; that efficient cooling and

Mack Trucks Cut Costs

It's the cost of operation on the ton-mile basis that determines if your truck is economical.

Compute the weight of the loads carried and the mileage covered by MACK trucks and you will soon see how they cut costs.

Then, too, there is the subject of mechanical upkeep. Mechanical dependability and operating efficiency of the highest order are inbuilt features of every MACK truck.

Parts used in the construction of MACK trucks are oversize. This provides the factor of safety so essential should an emergency arise. It is something seldom found in other makes of motor trucks.

POWER ON STEEP GRADE DISPLAYED

In the current issue of "Peacock Feathers," an interesting demonstration made by a Cleveland Six touring car is described.

The story in "Feathers" is further enhanced by the fact that the location of the incident described is one of unusual interest because it embraces the district which will be effected by the Pine Flat dam and irrigation project, a joint undertaking by the counties of Fresno, Madera and Tulare. In part this account reads as follows:

"Carrying four passengers, a Cleveland Six touring car was driven from Fresno to Trimble Springs recently, a distance of thirty-eight miles, negotiating the entire run in high gear, despite the fact that the greater part of the journey lay over steep, narrow and rough mountain grades.

"News of this interesting achievement was brought to San Francisco a few days ago by representatives of the L. S. Cobb & Company, Fresno dealers.

"Trimble Springs at one time was famous for its water, which was hauled in large quantities to Sanger, there bottled and shipped to all parts of the country. The springs are reached by way of Sanger, Centerville and Piedro. From Centerville the road parallels the Kings River and from that point comprises a most scenic drive, although motorists do not use it to any appreciable extent on account of the steepness of the grade, its rough condition and innumerable sharp turns.

"When the Cobb party drove to the springs recently it was for the sole purpose of testing out the Cleveland car in order to satisfy a particularly skeptical prospective owner. Shortly after the Cleveland hit the mountain grades a larger six-cylinder car and a big eight-cylinder machine were overtaken, both of which were using their lower gears to negotiate the climb.

"Fortunately the meeting of the cars was at a point where the Cleveland was able to pass and continue its remarkable high gear demonstration to the end of the journey."

TRUCK REPLACES NEED OF COWBOY

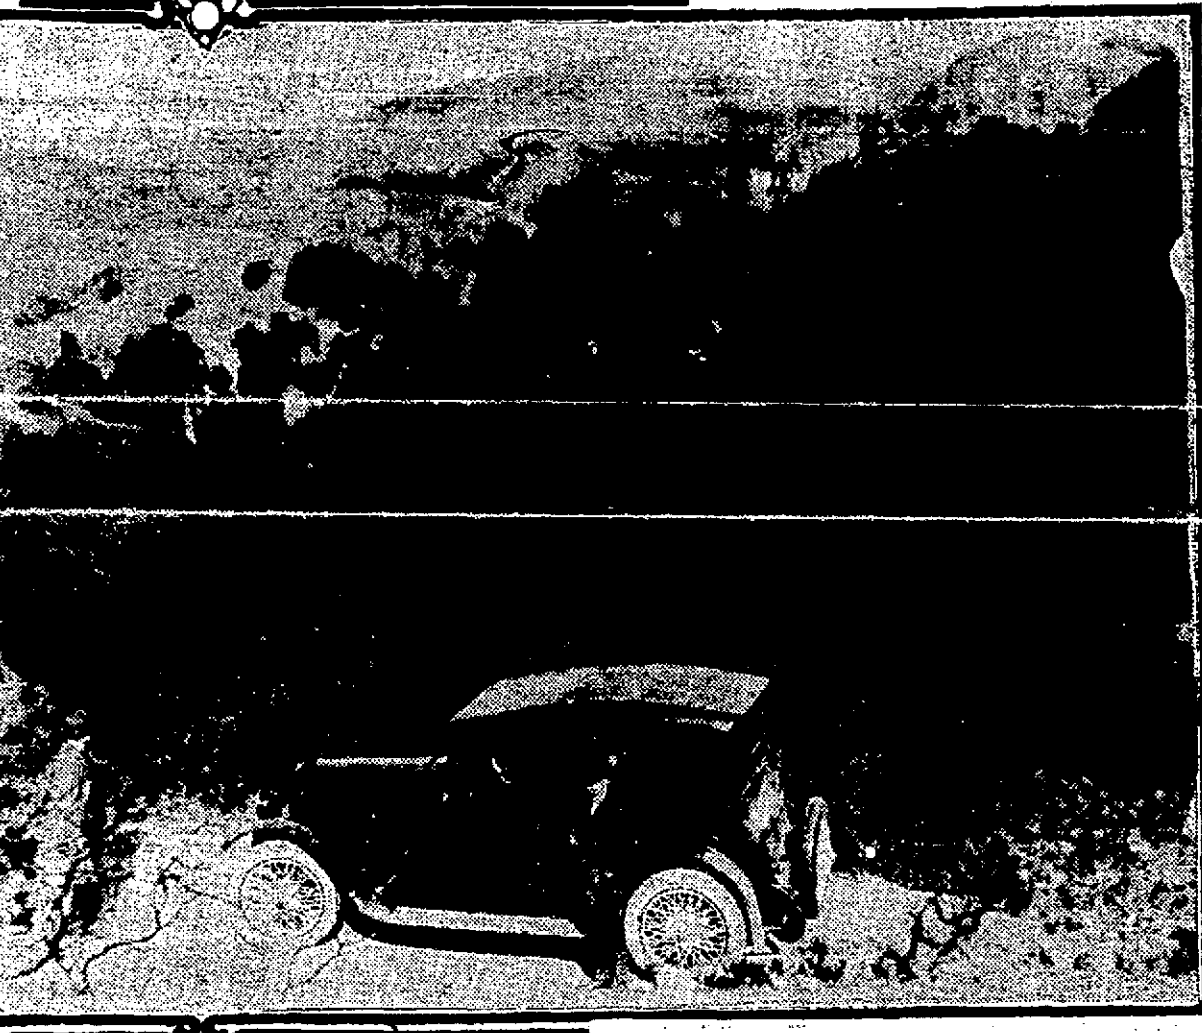

A striking example of the cowboy's sad passing may be seen any day at Hayward, where Wilbur A. Carr, proprietors of the May market, do business on a very extensive scale. They have their own cattle ranch not far from the town and every day several head of cattle are taken to the city, where they are converted into steaks and chops.

The lively butchers recently purchased an Oldsmobile Economy truck from Alarkham. Pursued, which is equipped with a "flat body" especially designed for carrying livestock. Added to this is a trailer which comfortably carries two porkers to their doom.

Since they have been operating the "gasoline cowboy" the butchers of Alarkham & Carr for the average daily load has been twelve head of cattle in the truck and two or three pigs in the trailer. The combined weight of trailer and cattle is a little over two tons, and although the truck is rated as a "one-ton job," they say that its performance has been perfect—which looks bad for movie heroes.

The palm of the Bible is the date palm.

FOR A SHORT SUNDAY JAUNT, REDWOOD CANYON, WITHIN NINE MILES OF THE Tribune building, offers wonderful scenery. Charles Penfield, manager of the Phillip S. Cole Company, harked to the call of spring one afternoon last week, and the photographer snapped him as he was enjoying this inspiring view from a Haynes roadster on the Moraga road.

TO PROVE THE VERSATILITY OF AN INNER TUBE, this pretty mermaid posed with a Lee Tube just to determine how good a life preserver it is.

Pitted Valves Best Repaired by Lathe

When valves are badly pitted the operation of facing is best carried out in a lathe. Chuck the valve stem and clean the center in the valve end and support it by the dead center of the tail stock. If the valves are so hard that facing with a tool is impossible they may be ground with a wheel while in the lathe.

The American forces in Germany, consisting of about 13,000 troops, is completely motorized, including the artillery.

FRIENDS AND BUSINESS

"Unless you have a friend in the automobile business you can't get a new car for love nor money," it is often said in these days when the demand for new cars so far exceeds the supply.

THE PATIENCE OF THREE WAITING PURCHASERS OF AMERICAN BALANCED SIX Roadsters was rewarded last week by Charles Griffiths in the delivery of the three shown here to Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Sanford and Mrs. De Young, eastbay city women.

"Jay-Walking" Cause of Accidents Auto Drivers Entitled to Rights

"Has it ever occurred to you, Mr. Pedestrian, that you can save motorists a lot of scares, just by exercising the first principles of common sense and care?"

"You know that one in every six persons in this state of California owns a motor vehicle, and that this means that practically every one of us rides in a motor car or truck some time during the year.

"The driver of an automobile has some rights on the streets, even if the pedestrian does not think so," points out Lou H. Ross, chairman of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce in Northern California, a man who has driven automobiles for years.

"Watch the average pedestrian saunter across the street, in traffic and you will wonder why more people are not hit by cars rather than why so few are hit.

"He saunters out from the sidewalk, in the middle of the block as well as any place else and goes along without even looking.

CAMPAIGN FOR SAFETY

"These is a movement on now to reduce the number of accidents by a concerted drive on a national scale and members of the traffic squad are instructed to enforce the rules against 'jay walking' in order to cut down the number of accidents.

"Of course there are some men and women who should not be allowed to drive motor cars, but they are few and far between. With half a million automobiles in the state of California, there are a surprising number of expert automobile drivers.

"Think of the number of cars that roam through the mountains of this state in the summer time and then think how few of these cars ever have trouble. There are only a very few who do not get home under their own power, and let it be said

BIG MOVEMENT OF CARS SEEN

R. H. Collins, president and general manager of the Cadillac Motor Car Company, has returned to Detroit after two weeks' stay in California. President Collins came West for a rest. As he departed for the East he expressed the hope that he would be able to return within a short time. According to advice received from the factory, the freight car situation which has held up deliveries to a large extent is being cleared up and during the next three months there should be a heavy Coast.

here and now, that there are usually overhauled or the driver forgets to put oil in the crank case."

Belgium has a Commission of Motorculture.

MANY ENTER TRUCK TOUR IN EAST BAY

The drive for entrants in the East-bay ship-by-truck tour is now being conducted by the committee in charge.

Entry blanks are coming in by mail and in person. It is expected that by the latter part of this week the committee can make advance arrangements in the cities and towns along the course of the route. These arrangements, it is stated, will provide for luncheons at the noon stops and street demonstrations at the night controls. Prominent speakers have offered their services on the tour and their lectures will do much to bring the utility of the motor truck to the attention of the farmers, merchants and manufacturers throughout Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

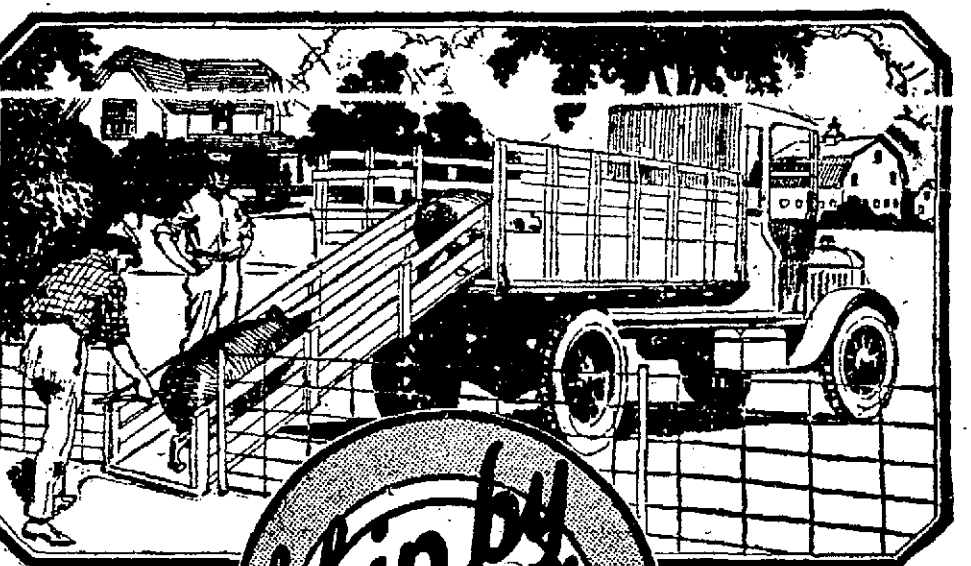

The noon stops will be at Hayward, Walnut Creek, Brentwood and Martinez. The night controls, Pleasanton, Concord, Pittsburg and Richmond.

The big truck tour will be held during the week of May 17 to 22, national Ship-by-Truck week throughout the country. That week will mark the anniversary of the active commencement of the ship-by-truck movement.

How this movement in a year's time grew from the germ of an idea into a vital movement of national importance is a story which has been watched in the making by thousands of transportation experts and leading business men of the country. This story will be told by speakers on the trip, as well as that of all-important good roads movement.

Calcutta, India, has 6587 motor vehicles.

Your Business and Ship by Truck

Here are the facts on ONE line of business

Oakland Shippers—get the Ship by Truck facts on YOUR line

Ship by Truck in one year has grown from a motto of modern transportation to a great national industry.

And there is no field of activity in which its advantages have not been strongly emphasized.

For instance, in the livestock industry: In Indiana over 90% of all hogs raised within 50 miles of Indianapolis were shipped to that market by truck. In 1917 truck shipments of hogs jumped from 21,000 in January to 36,000 in December. In 1918 the peak month was 56,000 hogs. This was thought to be a maximum, but in 1919, starting at this figure, truck shipments climbed to 126,123.

At Cincinnati the situation was much the same. In 1917 truck shipments climbed from 5,250 hogs to 12,500 in the peak month of that year. In 1918 the figure was doubled and in 1919 reached a peak month of 40,500 hogs hauled in by motor truck.

Similar situations exist at Omaha, Sioux City, St. Joseph, Kansas City and Denver. And bear in mind that these figures refer to hogs only—they do not take into consideration the big shipments of cattle, calves and sheep.

These figures show how Ship by Truck is increasing, how farmers are availing themselves of it. If it is profitable for the livestock raiser, may it not prove just as profitable for your business?

Get in Touch With Your Ship by Truck Bureau

There are 64 Firestone Ship by Truck Bureaus in principal cities of the United States. Your Firestone Ship by Truck Bureau has facts and information available for all shippers, farmers, manufacturers, truck transportation companies and individuals.

Three bulletins have already been issued—Bulletin No. 1 on Farmer's Co-operative Trucking, Bulletin No. 2 on Establishing Truck Routes, Bulletin No. 3 on Trucks at the Coal Mine. Send for copy. Bulletins on the marketing of livestock, grain and other products are in course of preparation.

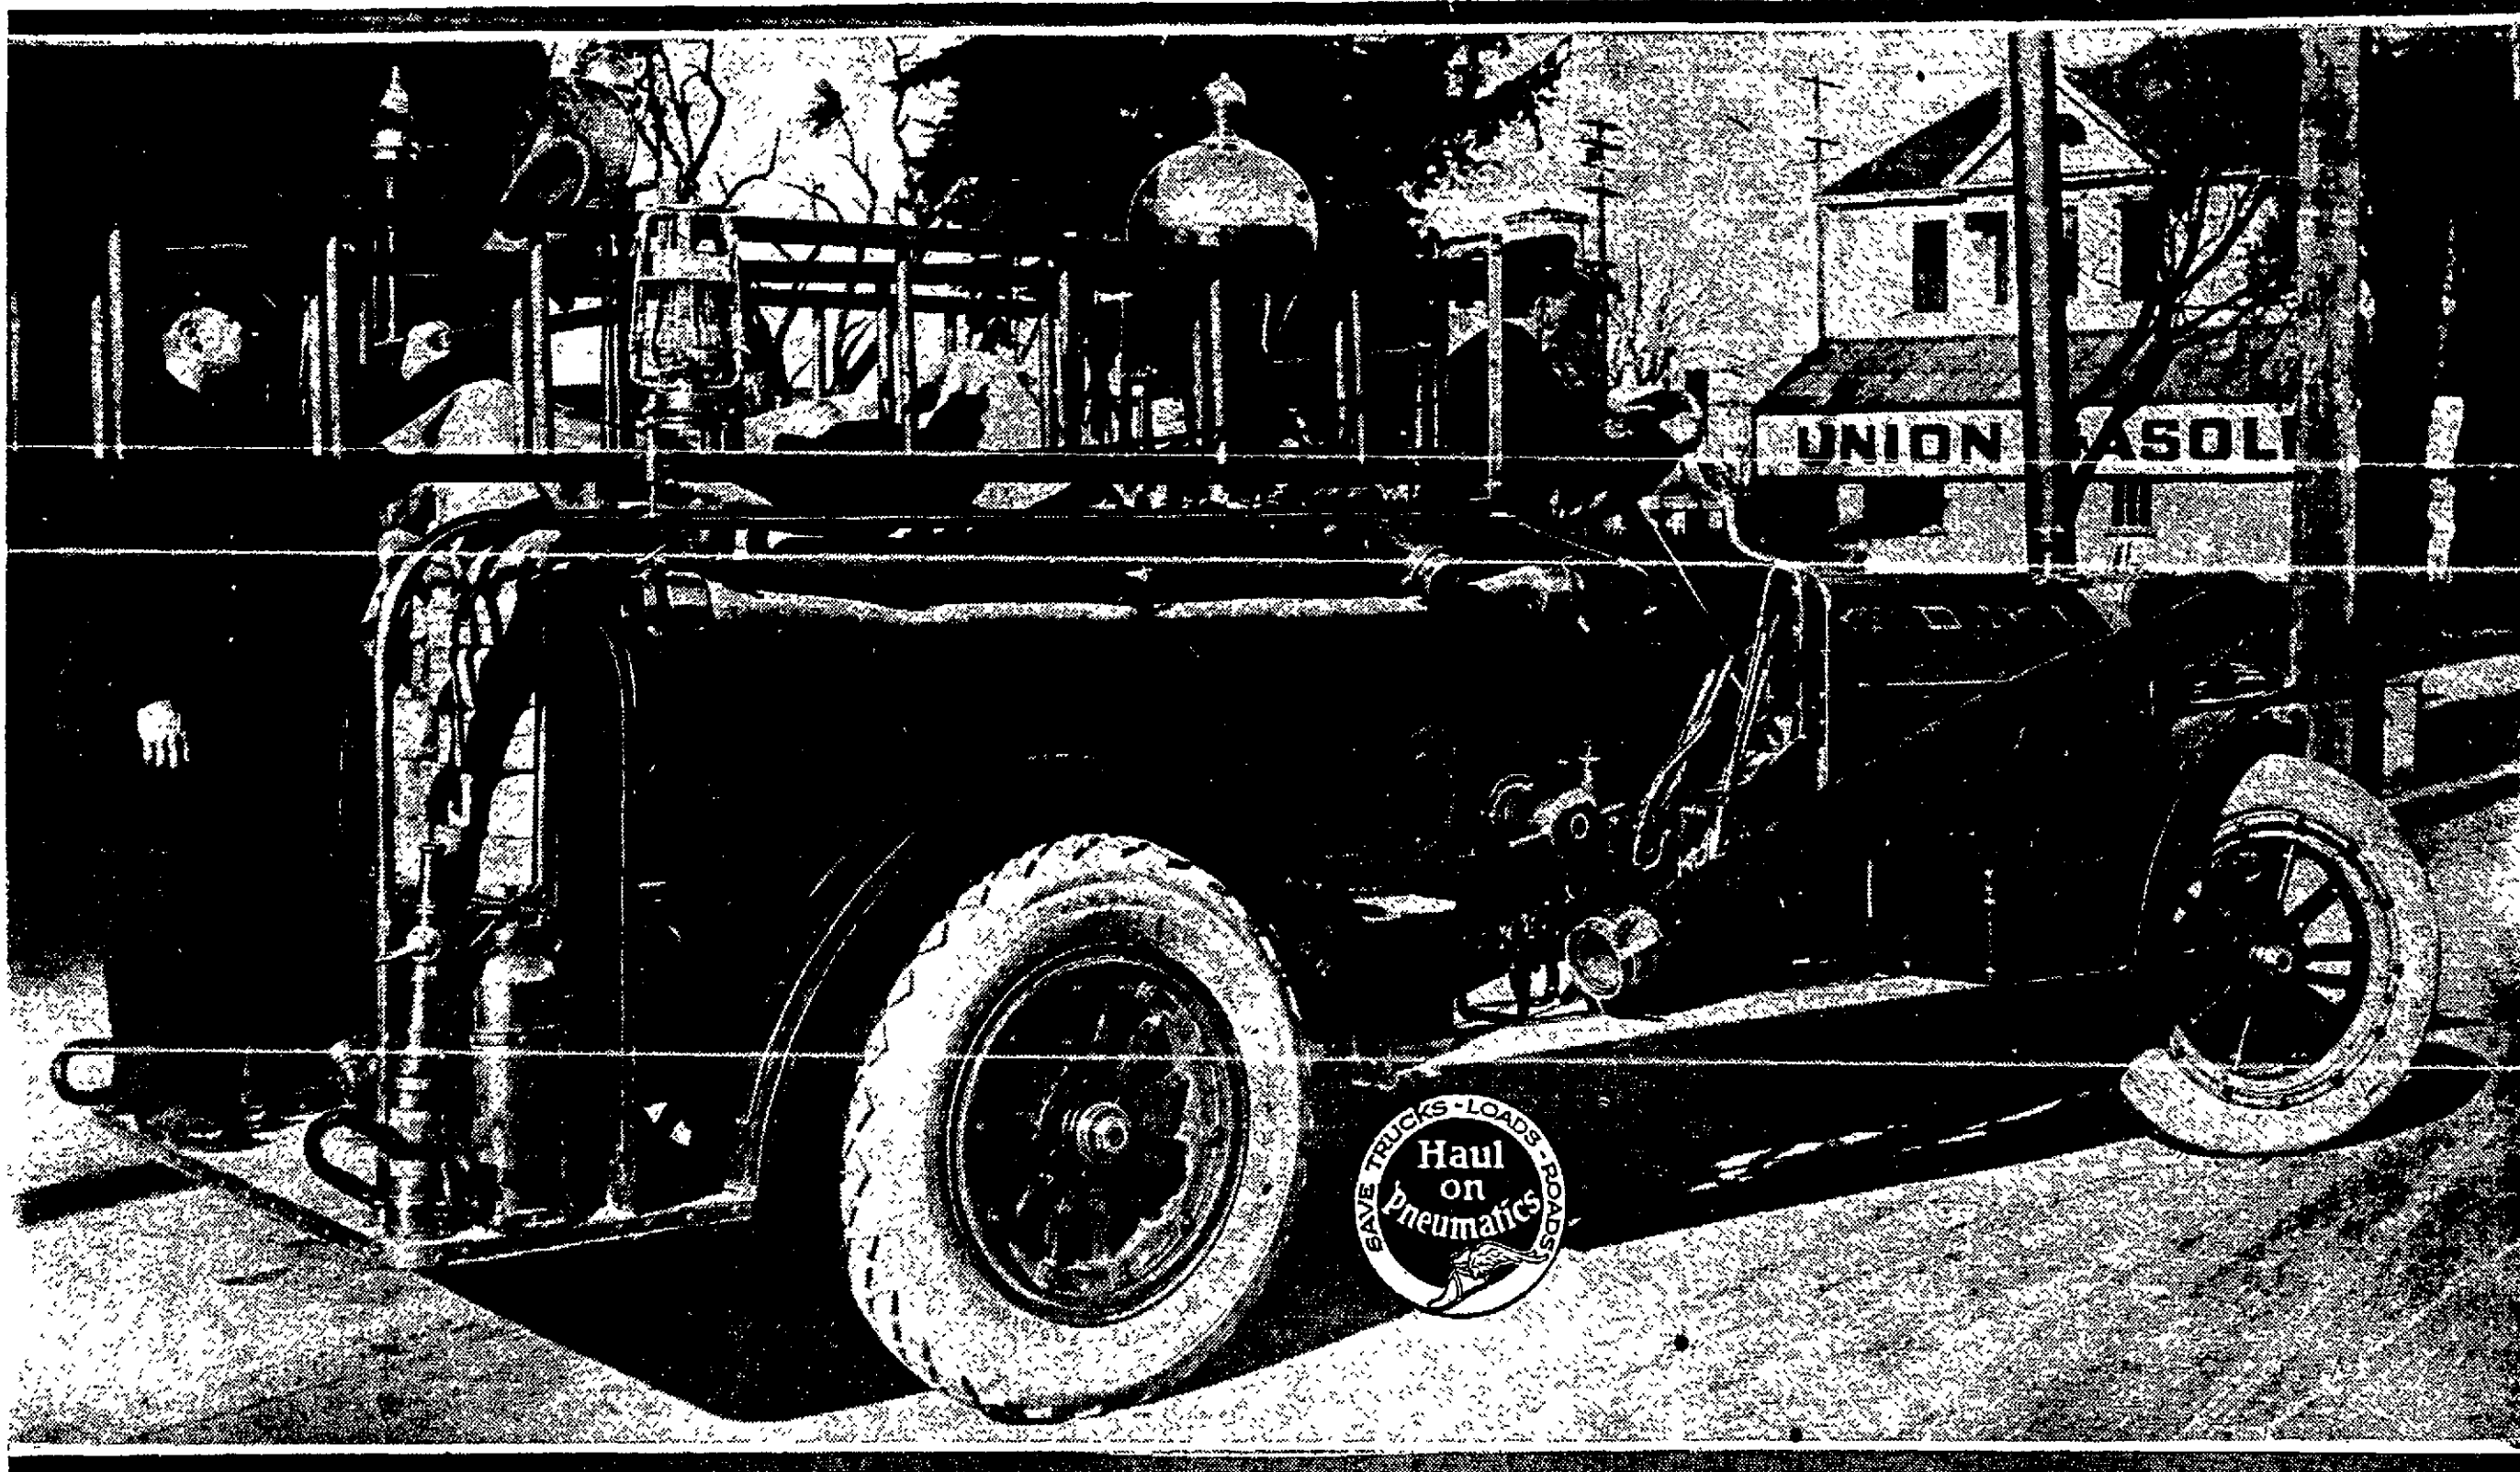

Your Ship by Truck Bureau is here to help you find the way to better and quicker short-haul transportation. Get in touch with it.

Fire Department Operates More Efficiently On Goodyear Cords

"We have been using Goodyear Cord Truck Tires on one of our fire engines for about a year.
 "We find these tires to be very satisfactory so far, and their ability to withstand the weather is excellent. This is the main feature necessary on fire engines.
 "These tires show no signs of cracking, and we expect them to last much longer than any tires we have used in the past.
 "We are very much pleased with Goodyear Cord Truck Tires."

EMERYVILLE FIRE DEPARTMENT.
 C. W. CULVER, Fire Chief.

Chief Culver of the Emeryville Fire Department is very much satisfied with the service received from Goodyear Cord Truck Tires.

He finds these tires withstand the weather and do not deteriorate as rapidly as other tires.

The Emeryville Fire Department has been aware of the added benefits of pneumatic tires for a long time and no doubt appreciate by now just what an asset they are.

One truck in the Emeryville equipment has been in operation for about five years and is still in good condition.

This excellent truck service is greatly due to the cushioning which has been afforded by the pneumatic tires.

As a result of this excellent cushioning, the truck is permitted to run faster without suffering from serious jolts of the road.

The many advantages of pneumatics should be carefully studied by you as a truck owner to make sure that you have the tire that will not only operate economically but one that will cause your truck to run at a lower cost.

The Service Stations below are always glad to explain the advantages to you in detail. Call on us at any time for truck tire assistance.

Many Oak

Trees Beautify
This Acre

If you ever have dreamed of a suburban home, snugly nestled among wide spreading oaks, then you are the one to whom I wish to show this acre.
Sited in that highly desirable district just back of Piedmont, this Acre of Oaks has the same conveniences as city lot, such as macadam street, city water and electricity; only a few minutes' walk to the hull station on the Oakland-Anderson Electric R. R. Just 4 1/2 miles to Ferry Building, San Francisco; 15 minutes to Oakland's business center by automobile. $1200. Small payment down, balance $2500 per month. Investigation will show this acre even more useful than your anticipation.

DON LEE USED CARS

It is the desire of this organization to make everyone who purchases a used car from us a satisfied owner. To do this we believe the two most important things to be considered are—the condition of the car—and its price.

We employ the best men, use the highest grade material, and a comparison of the prices of the following cars with those of others will convince you.

CADILLAC—1919 Suburban Overhauled, repainted, guaranteed like new; extra tire, tube, rim and tire cover, bumper, motorometer.

CADILLAC—1919 Roadster Overhauled, repainted, guaranteed like new; extra tire, tube, rim and tire cover, bumper, motorometer.

GUARANTEED REBUILT CARS

A CHEAP NEW ONE

The reputation of this company is behind the guarantee in this advertisement. When we advertise that the following cars are "Guaranteed Rebuilt Cars," we mean just exactly that, no more and no less. An expert mechanic in our own shops has gone over these cars and they are exactly what we represent them to be.
